Happy Ireland
The Smallest Mouse
Powerful Hamaguchi
Flying in Safety
—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

HAPPY Free State of Ireland. It lacks the blessing of prohibition, but on the other hand it lacks our stupendous crime wave.

Irish military barracks are being changed into dwellings for workers. And Irish prisons are changed to broadcasting stations, and other uses.

WHILE this country multiplies its prisons, containing thousands of prisoners, with occasional frightful rebellion, the Irish Free State reports a total prison population of 700.

IF STRANGE things interest you, you should talk with Frederick G. Carnachan, back from his eighth trip to the interior of Africa. He found a savage tribe, the Gogos, that have practiced birth control for generations. Nobody ever told them that women have no right to regulate the number of children.

MORE interesting, he found a mouse smaller than a bumble bee and a "hyrax" smaller than the rabbit, but closer living relative of the elephant.

ANIMALS are strange, proud man is stranger. Any Gogos couple that have a child, in the first two years of marriage, are despised, socially. Why, is not made clear.

YOU read that the naval conference will depend largely on what Japan wants and agrees to. The powerful face of the Japanese premier, Hamaguchi, who will do the deciding, tells you that Japan will talk plainly.

If Uncle Sam and Britain cannot agree, Mr. Hamaguchi might be useful as a good excuse.

WHY doesn't Uncle Sam decide for himself what he wants in airplanes, cruisers, submarines and everything else? Do we NEED the approval of another country?

The British didn't ask our opinion or consent before building the biggest fleet in the world, when Great Britain could afford it.

NOT many years ago British newspapers were asking, "is flying worth while with all its dreadful fatalities?" Now Great Britain takes flying as a matter of course, and flying is safe.

In the last five years, in all British civilian flying, there have been only 15 deaths. During that period 113,012 passengers have flown 4,458,545 miles.

THE British, concentrating on the building of great Zeppelins, have in mind the fact that airplanes and submarines might make it impossible for surface ships to feed the British Islands in time of war.

Zeppelins could bring food through the air. Soon probably they will be copying on a big scale the all-metal dirigible recently built by the United States.

WALL STREET had a tear in each eye yesterday, because "call money," the kind with which you gamble, cost 10 per cent. The thoughtful gambler says to himself, "If I borrowed that kind of money for 10 years, all my original money would be gone, and interest on the interest would leave me about 50 per cent in debt."

However, the banks must live. The old-fashioned 5 or 6 per cent no longer interests them.

NEGROES in Brooklyn, N. Y., are annoyed because a young Protestant Episcopal clergyman, the Rev. William S. Blackshear, announced "We do not want Negroes in this church."

The young clergyman said later, "My congregation is white, and I intend to keep it so."

COLORED people thus invited outside may find comfort in the fact that there has been no announcement of discrimination in the congregation of Heaven.

Perhaps everybody is white there.

It was said, "All men are my brothers," but that was long ago.

POPE PIUS addressing 300 ecclesiastical monitors of the Catholic Action organization of Italy, complains of "civil discrimination" against young Catholics.

Newspapers representing Mussolini's government attack and deny the Pope's statement and declare that "control of Catholic organizations is the necessary function of any state."

This is of importance only because it indicates a growing lack of harmony between the Vatican and the Mussolini government.

NEWS from Jerusalem that will doubtless cause indignation and mass meetings tells of the arrest of 44 Jews of Haifa, held without bail, accused of premeditated murder of Arabs, during the recent Arab-Jewish riots.

VOTE FRAUD CHARGES GROW

Vote Boxes of 17 Wards Impounded as McGovern Lays Blame on Armstrong

Pittsburgh's bitter, hard-fought primary campaign of 1929 was history today, but its war cry of "fraud" still was resounding.

In its wake was left the probability of innumerable election contests, prosecutions for illegal assessment and registration and a maze of other legal tangles.

The grand jury probing election frauds resumed its work while the candidates were still exulting or lamenting.

WITNESSES ABSENT

George J. Schad, chairman of the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes, who was to have been the first witness, was not present when the grand jury resumed its investigation. Roy D. Schooley, a member of the board, was also absent. Subpenas had been issued for both.

John D. Graham, also of the board, was first to be quizzed.

W. Noble Matthews and Charles J. McBride, other members, were to follow. They were in waiting while Graham testified.

It was planned to question 50 or

Edison Better, Will Go to 'Light' Party

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Sept. 18.—(AP.)—The condition of Thomas A. Edison, who has been ill at his home for more than a month, has improved to such an extent he will be able to attend the celebration to be held in his honor in Dearborn, Mich., on October 21, his son, Charles, announced. On that date Henry Ford has planned a celebration in honor of the "electric wizard" on the golden anniversary of his invention of the incandescent lamp.

FIRE SWEEPS COUNTRY CLUB

St. Clair Buildings Destroyed With Loss of $150,000; Steward Saves Sleepers

Fire, visible for 10 miles through the southern section of the county, today destroyed the St. Clair Country Club buildings on the Washington road, near Clifton.

The loss of the clubhouse, equipment and personal effects of members is estimated at more than $150,000.

An entire wing of the structure was ablaze when the flames were discovered by John Murphy, the club steward.

FIREMEN HELPLESS

The fire departments of Dormont and Mt. Lebanon answered calls for help, but the scant water supply from a standpipe soon was exhausted and firemen were powerless to save the property.

The fire originated in the kitchen on the first floor of the two-story building and made rapid progress. In the employes' dormitory were four locker boys and five porters, who were asleep when Murphy and his wife were aroused by the smoke and the crackle of the flames.

SLEEPERS AWAKENED

The sleepers were awakened, and while Mrs. Murphy telephoned for the fire department, the employes carried out pieces of the more valuable furniture.

The heat soon became so intense that the workers were driven back and the fire communicated to other

Winter, Cain Easy Victors; Three of Mayor's Council Ticket Win Nomination

His plurality was approximately 23,000, with Judge Richard W. Martin and Councilman James F. Malone running a close race for second place.

The sweeping victory of the Kline forces was a crushing blow to Senator Max G. Leslie, who for the first time in his long political career backed a losing mayoralty candidate.

Prior to the announcement of candidacies, Leslie had stated he would be for "any candidate but Kline." He then threw his support and that of his chief lieutenant, Joseph N. Mackrell, behind Malone.

The vote for Mayor in 732 out of 741 precincts was:

Kline	70,651
Martin	47,790

WINTERS, CAIN WIN

Councilman Daniel Winters won the controller fight by nearly a two-to-one vote over Henry Oliver Evans, incumbent.

Out of 741 districts, 675 gave:

Winters	91,227
Evans	45,687

Capt. Robert S. Cain won the sheriff fight in a walk, according to available returns. Returns from 1,222 out of 1,457 districts in the county gave him 103,189 votes, with James McInerney in second place with 37,301 ballots.

SCHOONMAKER STRONG

The race for county court judge was closer than anticipated. Judge Thomas D. Jones, indorsed for renomination by both the Kline and Malone factions, was pressed by M. V. Schoonmaker.

Phillips	38,042
Jones	55,361
Schoonmaker	44,565

The sheriff vote in 703 districts out of 1,457 was:

Cain	53,099
McInerney	21,548
Kane	11,818
Edeburn	7,290
McQuaide	6,135
Storer	2,626
Napierowski	2,239
Lorch	1,952
McMillen	1,604

FORBES FIELD, Sept. 18.—Remy Kremer opposed Eddie Brandt as the Pirates and Braves clashed in the first game of a double-header here this afternoon before a crowd of 2,000.

FIRST INNING

BOSTON—Richbourg bunted safely and went to second on Hemsley's wide throw. James singled to center, scoring Richbourg. Sisler flied to P. Waner. James stole second and went to third on Hemsley's low throw. Bell sent a sacrifice fly to L. Waner, scoring James. Boyle lined to Comorosky. Two runs, two hits, two errors.

Kenny and Barber On Way Back Home

LONDON, Sept. 18.—(INS.)—William J. Kenny, millionaire New York contractor, and his now famous barber, Louis Arico, were en route home today aboard the Leviathan.

They sailed from Southampton late yesterday, Arico bewailing the fact publicity attendant upon his reported summoning to this country by trans-Atlantic phone just to cut Kenny's hair had taken all the fun out of his trip.

COUNCIL STILL MALONE HOPE

James F. Malone, defeated candidate for the Republican mayoralty nomination, may be returned to Council, according to rumors today.

The report is that a move has been started to have him named to that body to succeed Councilman Daniel Winters, elected Controller.

The success of the effort will depend upon the result of the councilmanic fight. Returns at present indicate the re-election of Herron, English, Little and McArdle. The last-named, however, is closely pressed by M. J. Muldowney.

If the present alliances hold and if the votes of Little and McArdle are added to those of Alderdice, Anderson and Garland, holdovers, a majority of five will be able to name Malone to succeed Winters.

However, if Muldowney should nose out McArdle, his vote will be joined with that of Herron, English and Connelley to form a tie against Alderdice, Anderson, Little and Garland.

In that event the mayor will be called upon to cast the deciding ballot to fill the vacancy, the charter giving him a vote in such cases.

'Fatty' Arbuckle Sued for Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, former film comedian, was sued for divorce on grounds of desertion and cruelty, Mrs. Doris Arbuckle alleged her husband left her in May, 1928. A property settlement has been made. They were married in May, 1925, and have no children.

The action supersedes a suit filed last year based on similar charges. Mrs. Arbuckle, whose name before her marriage was Doris Dean, is a motion picture actress.

Shower Stocks Up Young Coolidge's Bridal Larder

PLAINVILLE, Conn., Sept. 18.—(INS.)—A full stock of old-fashioned home-made jelly, pickles, preserves and vegetables was ready today to be moved into the honeymoon apartment of John Coolidge, son of the former President, and Miss Florence Trumbull, daughter of the Governor of Connecticut.

Jean Trumbull, younger sister of Florence, held a "grocery shower" last night for her sister and 24 guests received the grave thanks of John and Florence for their gifts of canned sweets.

SENATORS VOTE TO PUBLISH TAX

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—The Senate Finance Committee voted 10 to 4 today to make public the names of 323 corporations and individual taxpayers about whom Democratic committee members have asked the Treasury for information as to their income tax returns.

The Democrats announced they wished to ascertain data on income tax payments by firms and individuals which would profit by tariff rate increases proposed in the bill.

Chairman Smoot offered the motion to make the names public.

Republican members of the committee have indicated they might compile a list of their own to be considered at the next meeting of the committee, probably tomorrow.

Sun-Telegraph's Poll Proves Accurate

The final outcome of the Republican primary election, as indicated by an almost complete compilation of the 741 districts of the city, shows that Mayor Charles H. Kline leads with a total vote closely approximating that indicated by the mayoralty straw vote poll of Pittsburgh conducted by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

About 170,000 votes have been cast at the election. The total of Mayor Kline will reach about 72,100. The proportion of ballots cast for him in the poll was about 44 per cent of the total of votes cast. This percentage of 170,000 is 74,800, which the poll indicated the Mayor would receive. The percentage of the total vote cast for Mayor Kline is nearly 43 per cent.

The poll indicated that Judge Richard W. Martin would run second and President of Council James F. Malone third. This standing is borne out by the latest returns, with comparatively few districts missing, although the contest is close.

An analysis of the vote by wards at the primary election bears out the results of the poll with remarkable accuracy. Mayor Kline captured the wards indicated for him in the poll, together with several wards in which the result appeared doubtful, with Kline practically tied for the lead.

VOTING HERE MARKED BY VIOLENCE

Sharpsburg Constable Held In Stabbing; Police Seek Roxie Long as Cheater

Three armed men who last night cut electric wires leading into the polling place of the Twenty-first district of the Fourth Ward, Oakland, and stole two ballot boxes, were being sought today by police and deputy sheriffs. The boxes are also being sought.

Two women and three men, including Mike Coyne, judge, were in the place at the time, and were held at bay by one of the bandits while another handed the boxes out of a window to the third, who placed them in an automobile. The theft was committed under the rays of a flashlight held by the man with the revolver.

Polls Had Closed

According to Mrs. Katherine Norton, of 3338 Fifth avenue, an overseer for Judge Richard Martin, who reported the theft to Sheriff Robert Braun a few minutes later, there were 265 ballots in one of the boxes, out of the district's allotment of 365.

The polls had been closed half an hour when the men entered the place and announced they were deputy sheriffs, she said.

"There has been enough cheating here today," one of them declared, backing the workers into a corner at the point of a gun.

As he did so, another went outside and around to a window which the third opened, and handed out the box, together with one which was being used for the police and firemen's ballots on pay increase.

Their work completed, the two ran from the place, were joined at the waiting automobile by the third and sped away.

The ballot box of the First District, Second Ward, Homestead, was stolen from the office of Justice of the Peace John B. Jones, 550 Sixth street, Homestead, early today, he reported to police.

Several other ballot boxes from yesterday's primary election were in the place, Jones said, but only one was taken. Entrance was gained by breaking open the front door.

Sharpsburg Stabbing

Anthony Carracetti, of 910 High street, Sharpsburg, was stabbed in the chest during a political argument at Ninth and Main streets, Sharpsburg, yesterday. He was treated at St. Francis Hospital and removed to his home.

Police arrested Angello Ianuzzi, a constable, in connection with the stabbing, and later released him in $1,000 bail pending the outcome of Carracetti's injuries.

Deputy sheriffs were called out early today by members of the election board of the Twenty-first district of the Third Ward, who feared violence if they attempted to bring in the ballot box to the office of the sheriff. Deputy E. Millard and several assistants were sent and they returned unmolested with the ballot box. The polling place in this district is located in Dinwiddie street, near Fifth avenue.

A similar call was received from members of the Third district board of the same ward. Deputy J. T. Welsh and squad went to the polling place at 73 Roberts street and returned a short time later with the box. More than 120 boxes were brought into the sheriff's office during the night.

Roxie Long Sought

County detectives and constables today were seeking Roxie Long, alias De Pippo, former convict, against whom charges have been made of leading a gang of Negro voters to each of the Third ward polling places to repeat votes.

Long was charged with misdemeanor before Alderman John J. Verona. Long escaped, detectives said, immediately after overseers disclosed the alleged fraud. Constables and detectives who searched the Hill district were unable to find traces of him, they said.

Developments in and outside the court room last night left Harry Willinsky, judge of elections in the Twentieth district of the Third ward, recuperating from a battered head as the result of an argument which started in the City-County building and climaxed with blows at Ross and Grant streets.

Orders Polls Opened

Willinsky and other election officials of that precinct were hailed before the court on charges of impending the progress of an election. Witnesses stated Willinsky ordered the polls closed several hours previous to the legal quitting time. The court ordered the poll reopened. Two deputy sheriffs accompanied the party. At Ross and Grant streets Willinsky argued with another man whose name was not learned, and received the worst of the scuffle, according to police, who brought him back to court. An order was issued to impound the ballot boxes immediately.

FAKE OFFICERS FLOG STRIKE ORGANIZER

Speaker's Stand Dynamited As Violence Against Reds Flares Again in Carolina

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 18. — (AP.) — Cleo Tessner, 24-year-old organizer for the National Textile Workers' Union, was taken from his home in Kings Mountain early today, spirited by three men across the South Carolina line and beaten.

He was brought to Charlotte after reporting to Sheriff Wright, of Gaffney, S. C.

A speaker's stand erected by the union on a vacant lot on Piedmont avenue and from which union leaders addressed mill workers every Saturday night was dynamited a half hour before Tessner was seized.

MEN RECOGNIZED

Tessner said he could identify the men. Tessner's story was that there was a knock at the door of his home and that when his wife went to see who it was, she was informed by the three men that they had a warrant for Tessner's arrest.

They entered and ordered him to get out of bed. When he told them to read the warrant, he was grabbed and pulled from the house, he said, the men choking him when he attempted to scream.

They placed him in an automobile and kept his face so covered that he had no idea where they were taking him. Once they stopped and two of the men conferred while the other watched him. At the end of a long bridge, he said, they again halted and this time forced him to accompany them to some dense woods.

BEATEN WITH CLUBS

There they pulled "clubs" from the trees and flogged him. When they had finished, Tessner said, one of the men looked up to a nearby tree and remarked: "There's a good limb to hang him on." Something was said about getting a rope and another of the men asked if an inner tube wouldn't be long enough. They dealt him a few more blows, one of which was on his chest and which was, he said, responsible for a jagged wound several inches long.

They ordered him to "take to the woods" and as he ran fired a shot.

MR. AND MRS. LLOYD WANER

Lloyd, Pirate, as he married Miss Frances Mae Snyder, Oakland girl, at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. J. W. Reed, 2211 South Braddock avenue, Swissvale, last night.

L. WANER WEDS OAKLAND GIRL

Lloyd James Waner, brilliant centerfielder of the Pirates, has just signed the most serious contract of his young life—and the important document carries no unconditional release clause.

From now on, the picturesque little star from the Middle West will be a man of family responsibilities. He was married last night to Miss Frances Mae Snyder, charming Oakland girl.

The wedding took place at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. J. W. Reed, of 2211 South Braddock avenue, Swissvale. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Homer C. Renton, pastor of the Oakland Methodist Episcopal Church. Paul Waner, Lloyd's brother and star rightfielder of the Pirates, was best man. The bridesmaid was Miss Martha Snyder, sister of the bride.

YOUNGSTERS APPLAUD

The young couple wanted a quiet wedding, with only the immediate relatives present, together with officials of the Pittsburgh club. Several hundred boys and girls, however, saw to it that there was enough racket to remind Lloyd of 10,000 howling fans in the Oakland Orchard.

The mother of the bride, Mrs. Lydia Snyder, of 407 Oakland avenue, was in the wedding group, as was her father, G. W. Porter, of St. Petersburg, Fla.

DREYFUSS THERE

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Dreyfuss and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dreyfuss also were in the family group at the big event.

About one hour after the ceremony, members of the Pittsburgh club came out to partake of the wedding dinner and wish the couple happiness.

The newlyweds will postpone their honeymoon until the end of the baseball season. Until that time Brother Lloyd and his bride will make their home with Mrs. Waner's mother in Oakland avenue. At the end of the baseball race they will motor to Lloyd's home in Oklahoma.

Woman Nominated Ingram Collector

Mrs. Jennie Le Seuer won the 10-sided battle for tax collector of Ingram. Two men and eight women were on the ballot as candidates. Two justices of the peace elected were Thomas H. Fox and James W. Watson. Carl C. Dittmar was elected burgess.

2 Erie Councilmen Win Renomination

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 18.—Theodore Eichhorn and Thomas Mehaffey have received the Republican nominations to succeed themselves as members of City Council, according to returns from 51 of the 58 city districts.

KLINE ELATED, ASKS HARMONY

Elated over the vote given him in the Republican primary, Mayor Charles H. Kline issued the following statement from his headquarters in the Hotel Henry early this morning:

"I am indeed very happy. This victory shows that the people of Pittsburgh believe in the spirit of fair play. It is a vindication of my administration and a ratification of the policies to which I have adhered in an effort to make a greater and grander tomorrow for our city.

"Let us all forget the past and join hands in bringing a Republican victory in November. Then after that let us leave all differences behind us and go to work for the advancement of our community.

"On behalf of Mrs. Kline and myself I desire to thank those who supported and worked for me in this campaign and to tell them that our hearts are overflowing with gratitude."

KLINE WINS BY 23,000; MARTIN LEADING MALONE

VARE CRUSHES PHILADELPHIA 'REVOLT'

Mayor Mackey, Republican League, Badly Beaten in Fight for Control of City

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—United States Senator-elect William S. Vare still had a tight grasp on the leadership of the Philadelphia Republican organization today, despite the efforts of the Republican League to unseat him.

The candidates slated by Vare for nomination for county offices swept to an overwhelming victory in yesterday's primary election, the real fight being for control of the party machinery.

The battle centered around the office of register of wills, for which William F. Campbell, slated by the organization for a third term, was opposed by John F. Dugan, candidate of the Republican League.

HAS BIG LEAD

Campbell had a lead of more than 160,000. Returns from 1,526 of 1,590 divisions gave Campbell 277,842 and Dugan 117,173.

The other Vare-slated candidates, George E. Kemp, for city treasurer; and Fred Schwarz, Jr., for coroner, won by even larger pluralities.

The Republican League, headed by Thomas Raeburn White, for years a leader in independent Republican circles, was supported by Mayor Harry A. Mackey and his friends. Mr. Mackey who managed Vare's senatorial campaign in 1926, broke with the organization when the Senator-elect refused to slate John Dugan, a member of the mayor's cabinet, for register of wills.

DENIES SELFISHNESS

The mayor denied accusation of Vare leaders that he was using the Republican League to further his ambition to be governor of Pennsylvania. He declared that his action was solely in the interest of economy and efficiency in municipal government and clean elections, and to defeat the "fee-grabbing" candidates of the organization.

The result of the primary was hailed by Vare leaders as a personal victory for the Senator-elect.

"The vote in reality," said James M. Hazlett, chairman of the Republican City Committee, "is a mandate of the people that they will not tolerate a Mayor playing politics. I want to emphasize that all of the ward leaders who supported the ticket recognized the leadership of William S. Vare and will acknowledge it in the future."

VARE VICTORY

Harry C. Davis, executive director of the Republican Central Campaign committees, said:

"The overwhelming victory of the candidates of the Republican organization is a triumph of Senator Vare. To him is due the credit of this great victory over men and interests who conspired not only against his political leadership, but sought to take advantage of his illness to drive him to his grave. The victory further solidifies the leadership of Senator Vare of the Republican organization."

Seized Sugar Given To Salvation Army

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody good." This old adage was proved in Federal Court this morning when Judge R. M. Gibson ordered two sacks of corn sugar seized in a liquor raid turned over to the Salvation Army.

The sugar was part of a seizure made July 27 when prohibition agents raided a house in Merchant street, Ambridge. The remainder of the seizure—51 cases of home brew beer—was ordered destroyed.

AVIATRIX' DEATH LEAP BRINGS RUM PROBE

Prosecutor Sifts Drinking Charge in Girl Parachute Jumper's Fatal Plunge

WICHITA, Kas., Sept. 18. (AP.)—County Attorney W. J. Wertz said today that new evidence in his hands may result in issuance of fourth degree manslaughter warrants for one or more of the parachute demonstration crew from whose plane Helen Williams, 18, Thomas, Okla., leaped to her death here Saturday with an unopened parachute.

AT ROADHOUSE

Wertz asserted he had learned Miss Williams and members of the crew spent Friday night and part of Saturday morning at a Wichita roadhouse, and also said liquor charges possibly would be brought against the roadhouse operators.

"If, as my information has it, the evidence shows that one or more of the persons in the plane were intoxicated, there are grounds for prosecution in connection with the girl's death," he said.

FIRST ATTEMPT

White testified at the coroner's inquest that Miss Williams had asked to be allowed to make the jump, her first; had not been paid; had been given adequate preliminary instruction and that the accident was unavoidable. He said the girl's feet became entangled in the shroud lines of the chute when she went into a "flat spin" after jumping from an altitude of 2,400 feet.

Miss Smith said she did not meet Miss Williams Friday night and did not "go with the boys after dinner that evening, as I don't party."

POSTAL OFFICER FOUND DEAD

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 18.—(INS.)—Reiff R. Heileg, 35, formerly of Pittsburgh, and United States postoffice inspector for Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky, was found dead in his office in the Federal Building here today. A revolver, with one bullet discharged, lay on the floor by his side.

Police investigating are loath to say he committed suicide, although all evidence, they stated, pointed to that fact. Heileg was transferred here two years ago.

According to Postal Inspector George V. Craighead, Heileg was a clerk in the railway mail service here. Heileg's wife, Kathryn, and his 5-year-old daughter, Lillian, are now visiting at the home of Mrs. Heileg's parents at 208 Kathleen street, Mt. Washington. Mrs. Heileg said the body would be brought to Pittsburgh tomorrow for burial.

Stranger Attacks Homestead Tailor

As Harry Saltzman, tailor, of 330 East Eighth avenue, Homestead, reached for a tape to measure a stranger for a suit of clothes today, the latter felled him with a blow on the head with a blunt instrument. Saltzman screamed. The stranger fled. A suspect, whose name the police refused to disclose, was arrested shortly afterward. Nothing was missing from Saltzman's shop, he told police.

DAVIS WILLING TO BE GOVERNOR

James J. Davis, secretary of labor in the Hoover cabinet, has not yet declared his formal intention of running for Governor of Pennsylvania, but probably would accept the nomination if it were offered him, he indicated last night.

Interviewed at the Pennsylvania Station, just before he left for Philadelphia, where he has a speaking engagement today, Davis said he had received more than 20,000 letters and post cards from friends and supporters in the state asking him to "throw his hat in the ring."

"This evidence of support is indeed gratifying," Davis said, "and proves that my supporters are many."

Secretary and Mrs. Davis made a flying trip to Pittsburgh yesterday to cast their ballots at the primaries. He assumed a nonpartisan position, he said, and voted "for the men he thought best fitted for the job."

Touching on labor problems Davis said:

"Mergers now being consummated throughout the land are throwing many men out of work, but the whole thing will work out for the best.

"The Department of Labor will soon receive a $200,000 appropriation for a government employment service bureau to aid in securing jobs for men made jobless by the mergers."

ZEP HOME SAFE, CHIEF SALUTED

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—The Graf Zeppelin landed before her home hangar at 7:24 o'clock this morning, returning safely with her 92 passengers from the trip to the mouth of the Elbe to welcome home to Germany from America Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the dirigible on its world cruise.

The Graf circled several times over the liner New York, exchanged wireless greetings and then flew at a lower level while Frau Eckener, one of the passengers on the airship, waved a welcome to her husband aboard the liner. A laurel wreath for Dr. Eckener was dropped on the ship and then the Zep nosed southward toward Friedrichshafen.

VERONA WINNER AS ALDERMAN

Unofficial returns on fights for the Republican nominations for aldermen in six city wards did not indicate any upsets.

The hotest fight, in the Third Ward, brought victory to Alderman John J. Verona over Samuel J. Price by approximately 1,000 votes.

State Assemblyman Luke Sullivan won the nomination for alderman of the Sixth Ward over John L. Librecht. Sullivan's brother, P. J. Sullivan, now a congressman, has held the post.

Alderman John A. Joyce was reported a winner in the Twentieth Ward against a field of six candidates.

Alderman George S. Wilson, of the Eighth Ward, was said to have met defeat, although the result was not regarded as an upset. The winner was John Kenna.

LINDY HOPS OFF FOR TROPICS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—(INS.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived at Bolling Field at 10:15 o'clock today, completing the first leg of his long flight to Central America. He completed the trip from New York in a little more than two hours.

After an hour's stay at Bolling Field he planned to take off again southward, with some point in North Carolina, probably Winston-Salem, as his next stopping place.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Sept. 18.—(INS.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, accompanied by his wife, the former Anne Morrow, took off from this field this morning on the first leg of a 9,000-mile flight through Central and South America.

Piloting a speedy Lockheed-Vega monoplane, the colonel was to fly to Miami from where he will pilot one of the Pan-American mail and passenger planes over a new commercial route established in Central and South America.

Candidates' Wives Hear Returns in Hotel Rooms

By HAVEY J. BOYLE.

Three women, who know little of the devious ways of politics, sat last night in three rooms in downtown Pittsburgh and listened to the mechanical and wearily metallic voices of announcers who called out the toll of votes in the fight for the Republican nomination for mayor of Pittsburgh.

Not one could quite understand why her favorite was not chosen by all, but with a devotion that played clearly about her eyes, each sat in a smoke-filled room in a political headquarters, listening intently to the returns.

To the front in the packed room on the second floor of the Hotel Henry sat a woman whose green hat set her apart. Her name is Mrs. Charles H. Kline, wife of the present mayor, and a candidate for renomination.

LISTEN AMID TURMOIL

In the William Penn Hotel headquarters of James F. Malone, seated just a little away from the crowd that milled about, was another woman, becomingly dressed in dark clothes, who pretended politely to be listening to the many persons who addressed her, but who in reality was hanging on every word that boomed from the brave voice of an announcer calling off district by district, ward by ward. It was Mrs. James F. Malone.

Still a third woman in another place watched and listened. A black hat became too warm in the stuffy place and she removed it. From time to time she whispered to a youngish man, who, puffing on a stogie, leaned closer to hear the whispers of the woman. It was Mrs. Martin speaking to her personal hero, Judge Richard Martin, third candidate for the Republican nomination for the highest office in the gift of the people of Pittsburgh.

Just behind Mrs. Martin was a lad of 15, Bruce, his name. He eyed his father continually as the latter watched a Mr. Frankel, white shirted, sans coat, marking up the returns. Bruce wore a Buster Brown collar. He was trying with his juvenile eyes to penetrate the queer mist that separated his father from a smashing victory.

In front of the Hotel Henry a gray-haired man, in a dark gray suit, a straw hat with a colored band, and puffing on a cigaret, was kept busy with a milling throng surrounding him.

"It's all in, Mayor," said a stalwart of Mayor Kline, speaking to his favorite, the man in the dark gray suit. "We got them licked."

"That's fine," returned the mayor, "but not so fast with the victory stuff. You did great work there, though. That was mighty good."

There were repetitions of such congratulations by enthusiasts. A man in a chauffeur uniform stood near, attentive. To this man the mayor said:

"Will you drive out and get Mrs. Kline and bring her down to headquarters."

Of course, he would.

A well-made man, smooth-faced and with clear blue eyes, authoritatively moved to the center of the group. Easily and deferentially the group made way. The newcomer was Supt. of Police Peter P. Walsh, a Kline stalwart, and constant companion during the campaign.

"We are ready to go to headquarters, Mayor," said Mr. Walsh.

With this as an excuse the Mayor worked his way through the back-clapping crowd and lost himself in headquarters inside the Hotel Henry.

WHISPERS AND SHOUTS

In the Malone headquarters, a tastefully-dressed man, and having about him the air of having just stepped from under a shower, moved and directed. His name, Joseph N. Mackrell. He stooped to hear confidential whispers from fat men and thin men, young men and old, who like soldiers fresh from a battle, were bringing in accounts of the broil.

Not far from Mr. Mackrell moved a bald-headed man, clean-shaven, and bearing a smile. His name, Malone. He was lighting a cigaret.

"Good Joe," he would say now, and "That's fine, Charley," as visitors nudged and elbowed him and whispered.

The young man at an instrument that amplified his voice was Ralph Smith, fiery young orator of the Malone campaign. It is in the headquarters of Malone. "Hey, Ralph," "Say, Ralph," are the calls, and to all he gives attention.

CHAMPIONS STILL

In all three headquarters paid workers and volunteers shuffled and loitered about, anxiously hoping for a chance to see their favorite, but predominating and holding the scene for those with an eye for the dramatic were three women who watched and listened, hoped, and doubtless prayed—the wives of the three candidates.

They had an air about them, that let the verdict of the voters be may what it may, each knew the man whose cause she lovingly espoused was and is and always will be—the choice of one certain woman.

Barnhart in Lead In Cambria Fight

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 18.—Returns from one-half the 172 districts in Cambria County give Frank P. Barnhart, incumbent, 8,821 votes for Common Pleas Court judge against 5,421 for his opponent, District Attorney D. P. Welmer. The same districts give Samuel L. Reed, incumbent, 6,910 votes for Orphans Court judge and 1,673 for Charles C. Greer. For sheriff, O. W. Saylor had 7,689 votes against 7,605 for Homer C. George, present county commissioner.

JOS. H. MOORE, BROKER, DIES

Joseph H. Moore, senior partner of the brokerage house, Moore, Leonard and Lynch, was found dead in bed at his home, 733 Highland avenue, early today. Death was due to heart disease.

Mr. Moore, an outstanding figure in the financial world for many years, was active in business up to the time of his death. He arose about 7 o'clock this morning, according to members of the household, but returned to bed, complaining of not feeling well. He was found dead about 8:30.

FINANCIER

Born in Washington county 70 years ago, Mr. Moore entered the brokerage business with George M. Irwin in 1877, and in 1893 he formed another partnership with J. L. Dawson Spear, operating under the name of Spear and Moore.

During the years that followed Mr. Moore was interested in the financing of a number of industrial concerns and was largely responsible for the financing and promotion of several companies which later became important units in the United States Steel Corporation. Among these were the American Steel Hoop Company and the Sharon Steel Company.

FUNERAL SATURDAY

The firm, Moore, Leonard & Lynch, was formed in 1915, and from an organization of a handful of employes has grown in size and importance that ranks high in financial affairs of this city.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Martha Ramsey McKennan Moore, he leaves a son, William McK. Moore, of Pittsburgh.

Funeral services will be held Saturday in the Trinity Episcopal Church at Washington. He will be buried in Washington.

WINTERS AND CAIN EASY VICTORS

went to Clifford B. Connelley, of the North Side, who ran on the Kline-Armstrong ticket. The councilmanic field was led by W. Y. English, who was followed closely by John S. Herron, both on the Kline slate.

Councilman Harry A. Little, of the North Side, broke through the Kline victory lines by winning the third place. He was supported by the Leslie-Malone combination. Connelley was fourth. P. J. McArdle, also on the Malone slate, nosed out M. J. Muldowney, a Kline entry, for the fifth job.

English	70,142
Herron	69,207
Connelley	60,756
Little	58,915
McArdle	53,050
Muldowney	52,671
Malone	44,346
Fugassi	40,357
Ashford	30,606
Grimes	26,729
Hough	23,816

The lesser lights in the councilmanic race, with 172 precincts reported, received:

Chapman	1,436
McKelvey	2,394
Craig	1,924
Boston	1,259
McGrath	1,792
McClafferty	1,614
Griffen	2,061
Winner	2,718
Robertson	2,828
Booth	2,065
Hightower	2,446
Brenner	903

Jury Commissioner James N. Moore seems to have been re-nominated, although the figures are incomplete to date. Reports from 327 districts gave:

Moore	37,391
Alpern	29,954

Early returns placed Thomas Dougherty ahead of Thomas H. Hester, incumbent, in the battle for Democratic jury commissioner. There were not sufficient returns to definitely establish the winner.

It was the only fight in that party. Thomas A. Dunn, unopposed, won the Democratic mayoralty nomination.

POLICE, FIRE INCREASE

The proposal to increase the pay of police and firemen won by a five to one vote, according to unofficial returns.

The Republican primary, regarded politically as a contest for the leadership of the Republican organization here, was a complete victory for Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong.

LESLIE LOSES OWN WARD

It was probably the worst defeat ever suffered by Senator Leslie.

He lost his own ward—the Ninth—to Kline. His own district—the eighth of that ward—gave Kline 153 and Malone, who was backed by Leslie, only 99.

Armstrong, on the other hand, carried his ward, the Seventeenth. His district gave Kline 339, Malone 15 and Martin 10.

The Kline forces waged an unexpectedly close fight in Malone's home ward, the Fifth. It was carried by Malone by only 800 votes.

Malone carried, according to unofficial returns, the Fifth, Nineteenth and Twenty-ninth wards.

KLINE CLAIMS VINDICATION

Mayor Kline, in a statement, declared his belief that the result is a vindication of his administration. He urged a united party.

"In the face of available returns, it appears that Mayor Kline has been nominated," said Councilman Malone, declining to discuss charges of phantom votes, padded registration and illegal assessments that frequently had been heard during the campaign.

"The face of the returns indicate that Mr. Kline has more votes than I have.

"I wish to thank the thousands of men and women who supported me so loyally and so splendidly. They have something of greater worth than my appreciation of their efforts. They have the knowledge and the satisfaction that they fought a good fight for a cause in which we all have faith. No such effort is ever lost. It may fail for a time and seem defeated. The eternal principle of right will eventually prevail. Representative democracy is in peril if our cities do not preserve the purity of the ballot.

"My campaign has served a useful purpose. It has brought to light the manner in which elections are won in this community. It should arouse our people to the existence of a real peril."

U. S. Court Enjoins Somerset Hotel

A preliminary padlock injunction was granted against the Merchants' Hotel, 701 Main street, Rockwood, Somerset County, by Judge R. M. Gibson, in Federal Court today. J. S. McIntyre is named proprietor of the hotel and J. H. Leighty, owner of the building, in the bill of complaint. Affidavits allege purchase of liquor in June and seizure of liquor in the hotel in July, when it was raided.

A similar injunction was granted against John L. Griffiths and Mary M. Griffiths, owners of a store and restaurant on the Lincoln highway at Stoyestown, also raided in July.

VOTE FRAUD INQUIRY TO BE RESUMED BY GRAND JURY

BALLOT BOXES IN 17 WARDS IMPOUNDED

Three Tax Board Members Subpenaed as Witnesses; Gardner Promises Action

BOXES IMPOUNDED

Having won what they regarded as a great victory in the cause of honest elections—the annulment of the additional assessment system—leaders of ballot-guarding organizations were on the alert to prevent tampering in other forms.

The ballot boxes of 17 wards had been ordered impounded for safekeeping, and they were being piled up in the sheriff's office, 425 of them.

Officers of the Allegheny County Elections Association, with the aid of County Commissioner C. C. McGovern, lost their fight to have the return sheets photostated, so that no forgeries might be placed on them. In this they were opposed by Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, who held that the photostating would violate the letter of the elections law.

ACCUSES ARMSTRONG

Stirred by Armstrong's opposition, McGovern issued a fiery statement in which he laid the responsibility for election frauds wholly to Armstrong. Declaring that a factional split had "let the people in on the secret" of controlling elections through bogus assessments, McGovern branded Armstrong's attitude in the situation as tragi-comic.

"The spectacle here presented would be tragic if it were not comic," he declared. "Commissioner Armstrong in one breath appropriated $10,000 of the people's money to the Bar Association committee to finance the proceedings which they should start to nullify this gigantic fraud, and in the next breath ordered the county solicitor, also paid from the people's money, to oppose the action which the Bar Association should take."

The final outcome of the court battle over additional assessments was still in doubt.

ILLEGAL VOTING SEEN

It was generally conceded that many of the 25,000 persons whose tax receipts were declared illegal by the courts had voted. In many districts it was reported that watchers had feared to challenge on these receipts.

The Elections Fraud Committee of the Bar Association was prepared to ask punishment for any elections judge who had accepted any of the 25,000 tax receipts after a challenge, but no definite action was in sight.

A. M. Imbrie, chairman of the committee, said that body had no definite plan, but would meet the situation as it developed.

While he conceded that in many districts more than the legally registered number of voters—excluding those holding the annulled tax receipts—had voted, he was not certain that such discrepancies would be made the basis of contests.

No photostating of return sheets was accomplished, the machines having been sent back this morning to the firm from whom they were rented.

The reason for their return, according to C. M. Barr, former state senator, was because operators were not available, due, he said, to political pressure on the firm which rented the apparatus.

"When McGovern rented the machine," Ex-Senator Barr said, "the company promised to supply operators. At a late hour last night McGovern was notified by the company that they could not supply operators for fear of losing county business."

McGovern verified Barr's statement.

ASKS FOR STATE TROOPS

Although Armstrong had refused to call a meeting of the commissioners to grant permission for the photostating, McGovern had insisted it would be done.

He wired Maj. Lynn G. Adams, commander of the State Constabulary, for five troopers to guard the county commissioner's office today, to see that the return sheets were handled honestly.

Maj. Adams, over long-distance telephone, said he would not consider such a request unless it came from the sheriff, or was supported by an order from Gov. John S. Fisher.

The photostating was to be paid for out of funds from the campaign chests of Judge Richard W. Martin and James F. Malone. The elections association had volunteered to supervise it.

GRAND JURY RESUMES

The grand jury was to resume its work with additional grist supplied its mill by the complaints which poured into Common Pleas Court yesterday.

Backed by the court decision on the 25,000 additional assessments, the jury was to attempt to fix responsibility for that practice. It was to delve further into alleged "phantom" assessments, which, in a partial presentment, it declared existed in great numbers.

"Now that the primary election is out of the way," said District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner today, "the grand jury will proceed in a systematic way to investigate irregularities in tax assessments.

"We shall trace these assessments to their source and find out how the questionable names got on the books. The assessments declared illegal will be traced to their source. It will be impossible to investigate each of the 25,000—or whatever the number is—but we will run down a good many of them.

"We also intend to investigate the issuance of bogus tax receipts and trace them to their source. Every person we can find who has had a fake tax receipt will be called before the grand jury and asked from whom he got it."

sections of the building. When the firemen arrived they tried to save the locker rooms and professional wing, but when the water supply was exhausted the flames enveloped the entire building and they were driven back.

MEMBERS RUSH TO FIRE

The clubhouse stood on the crest of a hill at an elevation of more than 1,300 feet, and the fire attracted a great number of spectators.

Club members seeing the blaze, or attracted by the screeching of the fire sirens, left breakfast tables and motored to the scene, intent on saving their clubs. This work had been accomplishd by David McCormick, professional at the club. McCormick also saved the club's handicap book, and it was announced that an auction pool tournament, scheduled for next Saturday, would be played.

A. C. Mills, president of the club, announced that plans would be taken up immediately for rebuilding.

TORCH SLAYER'S DEFENSE IS INSANITY

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service.

COURTHOUSE, WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Dorothy Heinzleman Peacox, slain "madcap" bride of 20, drove her young husband, Earle Francis Peacox, insane by her gay conduct in New York while they were separated, Defense Attorney Sidney A. Syne declared in his opening address to the jury today at the trial of Peacox for murder in the first degree.

"She was running around with other men and he simply couldn't stand it," Syme told the "blue ribbon" jury.

Peacox wept as Attorney Syme described how he had "done everything for his wife," but still she persisted in going her own way. The boyish-looking defendant bowed his head in his hands and his shoulders shook. His mother, sitting at his side, regarded him poignantly.

INSANE, CLAIM

Peacox was "legally insane" when he killed his wife on the night of April 21 last, the first anniversary of their marriage, and later burned the body, Syme said; in fact, he would show, the lawyer added, that Peacox was a victim of hereditary insanity."

"Two of Peacox's ancestors on the father's side, an uncle and an aunt, were committed to an asylum at Utica, N. Y.," said Syme. "The aunt was admitted when she was 19. The uncle thought he was the famous character of another generation, the 'Yellow Kid;' he used to tie a tin can on his head whenever he saw pictures of the 'Yellow Kid' in the papers."

DEFENSE ATTACKS WIFE

Dorothy was portrayed as a "man-crazy" flapper who carried on a number of affairs with men while she was separated from her husband.

Peacox and Dorothy were married April 21, 1928, and went to live at her mother's home because the young husband, a radio expert, was not making much money. But, the attorney told the jury, he was forced to leave their home on July 2 last, not because he could not support her, but because she "stayed out all night with other men."

For months they were separated. It was during this interim that Peacox met Miss Frances Newmann, a Broadway dancer and dance hall hostess, with whom he became friendly.

Burgess Kestner Wins in Brentwood

Burgess Spalter Wins in Crafton

John Spalter was renominated for burgess of Crafton, defeating Rex Lindley and John Deisler. The vote, unofficial, was: Lindley, 461; Deisler, 461, and Spalter, 689.

Richardson Chosen Sewickley Burgess

Sewickley's fight for the nomination of burgess was won by O. S. Richardson. Richardson's total was estimated at 1,100, while his opponent, George McDonald, was said to have received 409 votes.

World Disregards Dope Covenants; Drug Evil Continues to Gain

By SENATOR STEFANO CAVAZZONI,

Member of the Italian delegation to the League of Nations. Member of the League's Advisory Committee on Drugs and leader in the fight sponsored by Premier Mussolini for effective international action against the drug evil. (Second article.)

GENEVA, Sept. 17.—The first manifestations of public opinion in favor of the international movement against the illicit opium traffic appeared in 1906.

Following these manifestations, the first conference on the opium evil took place at Shanghai on the first of February, 1909. This conference met at the invitation of the United States to assist China to solve the opium problem and the late Bishop Brent presided.

In 1913 and 1914 the second and third conferences were held at The Hague. During these deliberations, a protocol was created that would enforce the recommendations adopted at the conference of 1912.

PEACE TREATY CLAUSE

At the Paris conference in 1919, it was decided to insert in the peace treaty a special clause relative to the action at The Hague conference. The signatory powers pledged to consider the ratification of the peace treaty were pledged ipso facto to the ratification of the protocol relating to the 1914 Hague conference.

Analogous articles were contained in the treaties of St. Germain, Neuilly and Trianon. Before the war, no country had signed The Hague protocol. Between 1914 and 1918 five nations signed. In 1924 the number of signatures had reached 40.

The manufacture of morphine, cocaine and their respective salts was only limited at The Hague convention. Since the production of drugs is concentrated in a few industrial and highly-civilized countries, an understanding should have been reached without effort.

The steps suggested at The Hague conference might have been enforced and drug evil could have been eliminated. Then we might read this:

"The contracting powers will create pharmaceutical laws and regulations limiting the manufacture, sale and use of morphine, cocaine and their respective salts to uses solely medicinal and legitimate unless the existing laws and regulations deal already with the matter. The powers will cooperate to prevent the usage of these drugs for any other purpose."

OBLIGATION DISREGARDED

A limitation placed on the production of manufactured drugs would have caused the use of raw opium to diminish. The cultivation of the cocoa plant would have decreased. But the obligation contained in the article was not respected.

The manufacture of and illicit trade in drugs continues to increase. The problem is to enforce the pledge quoted in the preceding paragraphs.

Under Article 23, the League supervises the general condition relative to the opium traffic. Since 1920, permanent work in the narcotic problem has been carried on by an advisory committee appointed to help the League Council on all matters pertaining to the drug evil.

Still that evil grows, despite numerous meetings and numerous resolutions; grows to such an extent that it was decided to convene a new conference which met in November, 1924, and February, 1925, and created a new agreement—called the Geneva agreement.

As even more important than the Geneva conference I would like to emphasize the series of meetings of the special committee instructed to prepare a project capable of solving with drastic force the narcotic problem.

On this occasion very interesting data has been submitted by several governments. Many useful and practical suggestions have been made. But unhappily, for many reasons too confused to enumerate, this work brought no results. The disagreement shown at the conference on fundamental points compelled the American delegation to abandon its sittings.

SUFFERED CONSTANT TORTURE

"Finally my doctor suggested that I try a pair of Ground Gripper shoes. Now my foot troubles are over. Fallen arches were the cause of my misery."

Flat foot

How foolish it is to permit poorly designed shoes to cripple our feet and limit our activities!

Foot troubles are so needless; shoes combining the three correct principles eliminate them.

Ground Gripper shoes bring comfort to tender, aching feet...quickly and unfailingly. For they relieve all pressure and strain and allow the foot muscles to function with natural freedom.

FLAG TOURISTS BERLIN GUESTS

(By FLOYD E. WILLIAMSON,)

Escort of the American Flag Champions Touring the World as Guests of the Hearst Newspapers).

BERLIN, Sept. 18. — The four young winners in the United States Flag Association contest were received today by Jacob Gould Schurman, American ambassador to Germany.

Ambassador Schurman took them on an instructive tour of the former Imperial Palace, now the National Museum. There the four champions saw many relics of the great war as well as many valuable art objects.

The four are Robert L. Sullivan, Anna E. Groves, Mary S. Mogonigal and Merle M. Clarke.

They were on an interesting excursion to Potsdam yesterday, sailing along the river dotted with splendid pleasure craft of every description. The journey gave them an excellent opportunity to watch the German nation at play, while tonight they were given a glimpse of another phase by seeing night life in the famous Vaterland Cafe.

This came after an intimate, informal dinner at the home of Otto Tolischus, International News correspondent at Berlin, who gave the boys and girls a vivid word picture of economic and social conditions in Germany's post-war period.

Tomorrow the flag party goes to Amsterdam, where, according to telegraphic advices from the American consul general, a surprise entertainment awaits them amid tulips and windmills.

Havana Court Gives Barlow Week's Stay

HAVANA, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Joseph E. Barlow, American resident of Havana, who has made a $9,000,000 claim against the Cuban government for alleged confiscation of properties, today was granted an extension of one week in which to appear in the Court of Instruction here on criminal charges. The charge, brought by Senora Vicenta Gomez on alleged fraudulent sale of land, is the same that caused Mr. Barlow's arrest and imprisonment here two weeks ago.

Air Joy Riders Fly at Own Risk

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Folks riding in airplanes for pleasure have no redress in the District Court of Judge Frank F. Neutze if they get hurt. Two men injured in a crash sought $500 damages each. The judge ruled that the rider assumes all risk; that an airplane is not like a trolley car.

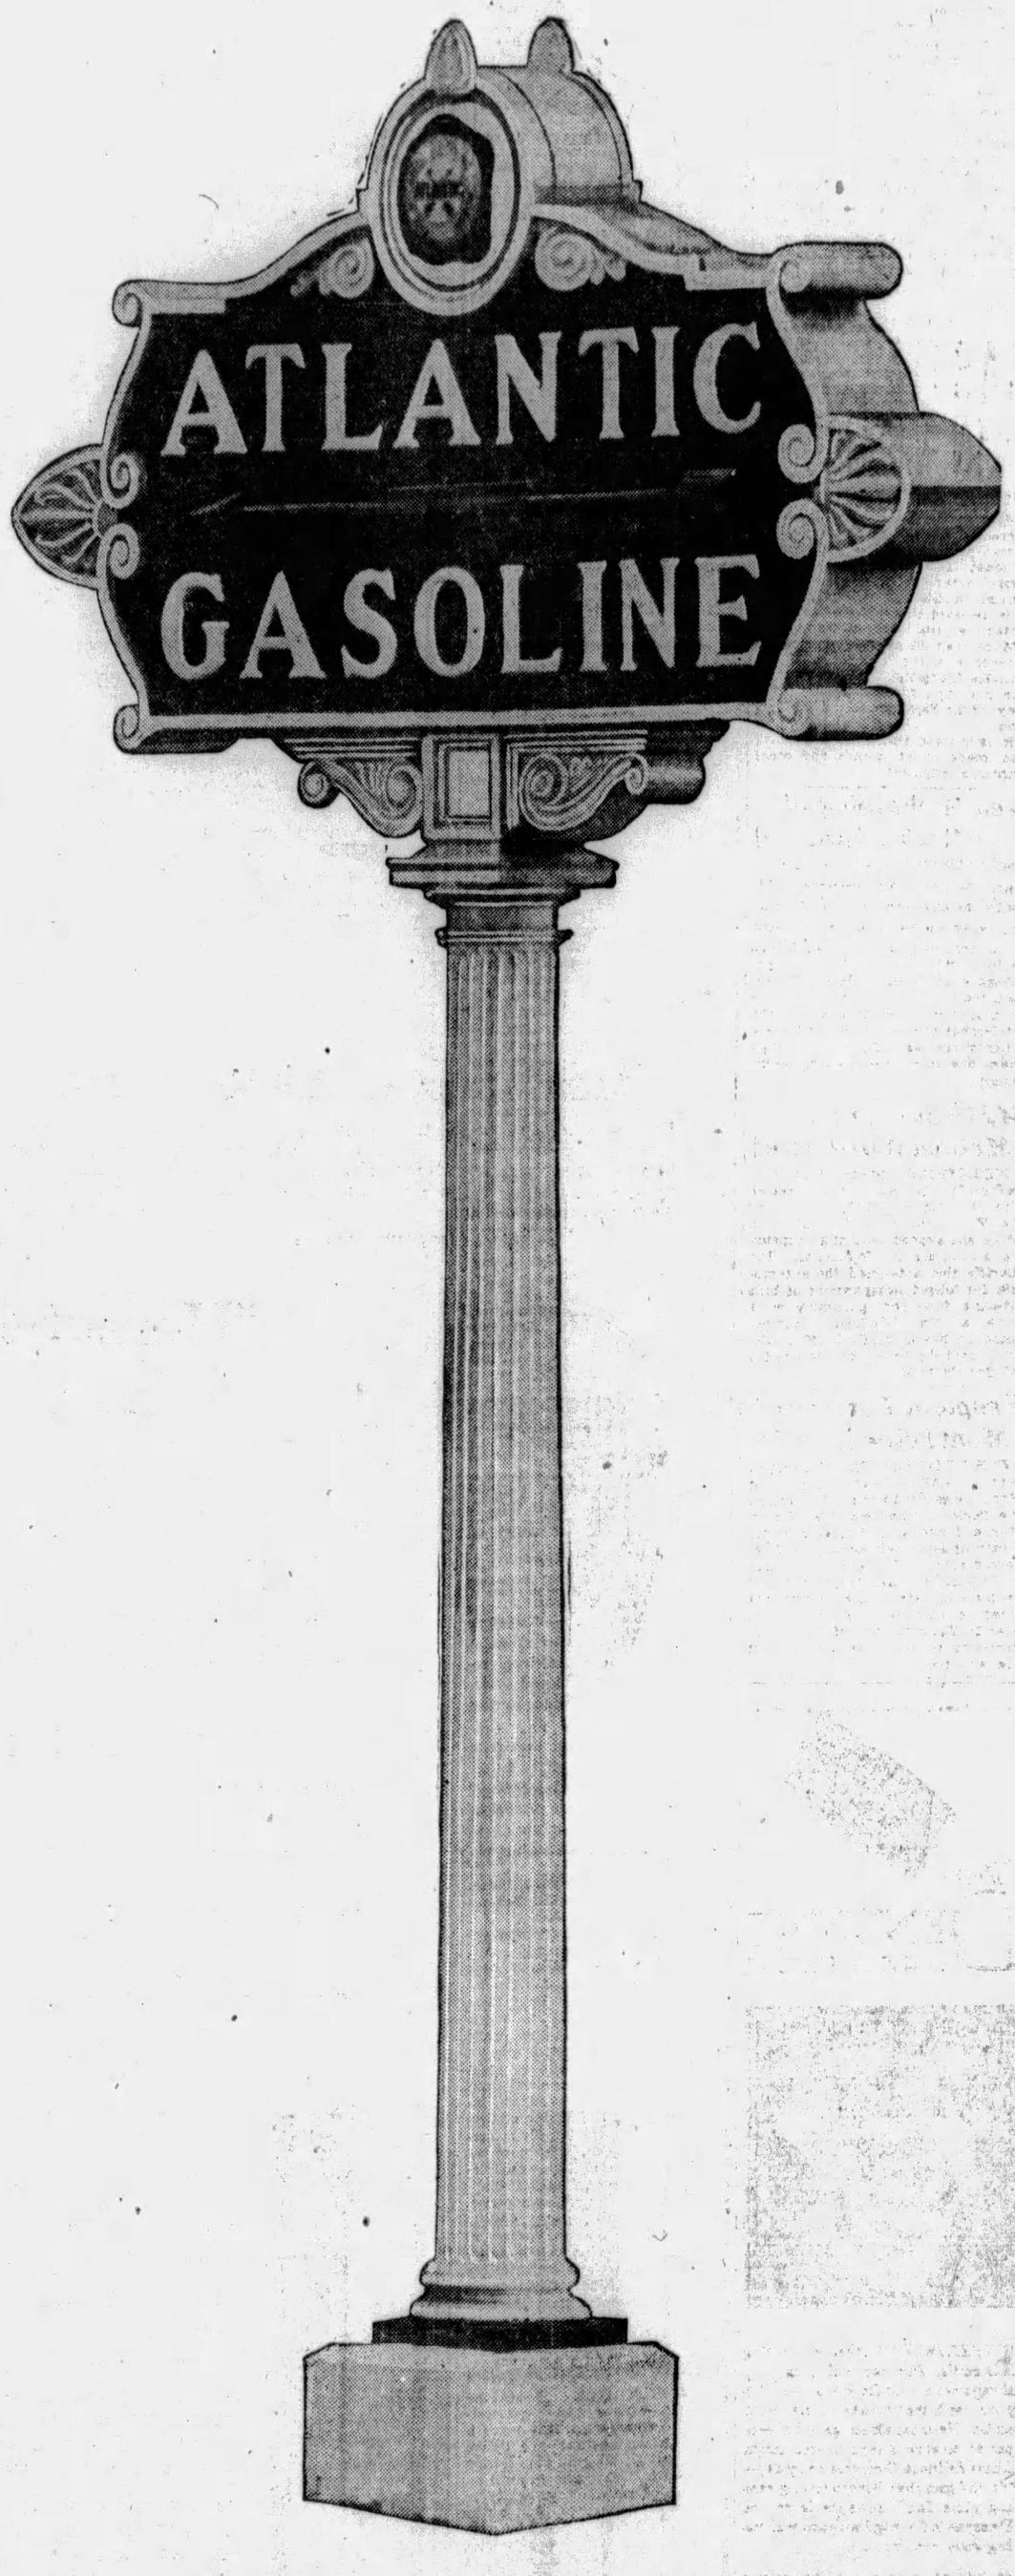
MORE than extra-powered



NEW-TYPE Atlantic is a distinctly extra-powered gasoline—without extra cost. It is "knockless"—without extra cost. It combines brawn and smoothness to the highest degree ever attained in an all-petroleum motor fuel.

But Atlantic superiority doesn't end there. In this day's scramble for "more power," motor fuels easily become poorly balanced. Conspicuous in some one feature, they are often deficient in other qualities which are equally important for meeting the widely varying conditions under which a motor fuel must operate.

With extra power, Atlantic gives you amazingly easy starting and quick pick-up. With smooth, accurately-timed combustion, it is so thoroughly clean- and complete-burning that motor-slowing carbon, impaired valve action and oil dilution are definitely out of the picture.

All Atlantic pumps and service stations have this extra-powered motor fuel. "Atlantic Gasoline" is the only password you need.

ATLANTIC Paraffine Base MOTOR OIL will not only demonstrate its first-cost economy by giving you the most miles per dollar, but it will prove itself the surest protection against motor wear of any oil you can find.

BANKER'S MIND HELD UNSOUND

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 18.—(AP.)—S. D. Crump, of Denver, attorney for C. D. Waggoner, president of the Bank of Telluride, Colo., under arrest on a charge of defrauding six New York banks of $500,000, said in a statement today that his client, obsessed with but one idea—to protect his friends and neighbors—had become "a confirmed paranoiac" as the result of worry over the condition of his bank.

The attorney who gave his version of Waggoner's condition after questioning him for many hours, said the banker still believes he did the right thing.

Waggoner sought to raise funds for his bank by insuring his life for $300,000, the attorney said, and by using that insurance as security for loans without success. And "he thought if he could ride the crest a few more months he could protect everybody and his thought then was if he could keep the bank open until the suicide clause in the policy had expired, there would be one last resort to save his friends and neighbors."

MARTIAL LAW IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 18.—(INS.)—Martial law was proclaimed at Torreon today following the killing of two persons and the wounding of at least 12 others after an unsuccessful attempt to assassinate presidential candidate Jose Wasconcelos. It is believed others were wounded.

Many arrests were made.

More than 100 shots were fired at Wasconcelos, the candidate of the Anti-Re-Electionist party, while he was making a speech from the balcony of La Espanola Hotel, at Torreon.

It is claimed the attacking party was made up of police and other municipal employes.

New Archbishop of Mexico Installed

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Mgr. Pascual Diaz yesterday officially became archbishop of Mexico, when the palium was imposed in a ceremony at the Guadalupe shrine. Mgr. Ruiz y. Flores, papal delegate, officiated. Both had represented the Roman Catholic Church in negotiations leading up to the settlement of the church and state controversy last June, and Mgr. Diaz had since been acting archbishop.

$4,800 Bill Unpaid, McLean Auto Seized

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Two deputy sheriffs greeted Mrs. Edward B. McLean, wife of the Washington (D. C.) publisher, when she stepped out of an expensive automobile in Worcester. The sheriffs then attached the automobile for alleged nonpayment of bills totaling $4,800 for gardening work done at Mrs. McLean's summer home in Newport, R. I. Mrs. McLean said she never had received a bill for the work.

People in Terror as Mont Pelee Rumbles

FORT-DE-FRANCE, Martinique, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Fear of eruption of Mont Pelee continued today among the fleeing population of St. Pierre, Morne Rouge and Precheur where a rain of ashes has accompanied renewed activity of the volcano which in 1902 caused the deaths of 40,000 people and destroyed St. Pierre, the chief commercial center of the island. The governor of Martinique hastened to St. Pierre to inspect the situation.

HOMER SMITH ASKS DIVORCE

GALLIPOLIS, O., Sept. 18.—Capt. Homer Smith, former general manager of the excursion steamer Homer Smith, has entered suit for divorce in the Circuit Court here against Gertrude A. M. Smith, said to be living at 404 Bailey avenue, Pittsburgh. For several years Capt. Smith operated the excursion steamer out of Pittsburgh. He is now making his home at Point Pleasant, W. Va.

While operating his boat on the local rivers, Capt. Smith met his wife, who was a former divorcee. Before entering the excursion business at Pittsburgh, Capt. Smith was proprietor of the Spencer Hotel at Point Pleasant.

Johnstown Hunts For Acid Thrower

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 18.—City police are making a rigid search for an "acid thrower," who has terrorized the Second and Sixth wards here the past few days. Throwing sulphuric acid on the clothing of women, which has resulted in several cases of acid burns, is the act of the supposed maniac.

Sunstroke Fatal To Johnstown Man

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 18.—As a result of a sunstroke suffered some time ago, Jere D. Hershberger, 79, gardener for the late State Senator George M. Wertz, died here Monday.

While You May Add Years To Your Life Span—

I WANT to talk to you about something that cannot be bought with money. Diamonds and gold have no face value. You never thought there was anything more valuable than gold. Poverty is a good thing in most cases—it wrings the heart but expands the soul, creating a conscience of love for truth, which has its own reward. In fact, truth is the only thing that can exist without material force correcting all false dogmas. Those who seek it can always find it. You can neither buy nor sell Life's Span. So we all get a square deal in this world. To begin with, we behold one-third of the human race dying with High Blood Pressure. No one tries to stop or remove the cause. One germ causes 70% of all operations and still no effort is made to arrest it. All diseases of faulty Metabolism can be prevented, hence Life's Span can be lengthened by no other process.

If this law is infallible, educate the mind to rule the body so your Heritage will not be stolen. Twenty years of effort with thousands of grateful patients who found a better way than drugging the stomach to get relief in 20 years of trial. NO SUBSTITUTE can be offered for BLOOD CELL SERUMS. There are none. Listen to me, if all our organs receive a normal blood supply, how can we be sick?

The Object of This Laboratory:

To create and maintain a welfare clinic where the suffering can obtain relief whether they have money or not.

Patients Pay for Serums Only; No Doctor Charges.

We are successfully treating High Blood Pressure, Rheumatism, Asthma, Diabetes, Anemia, Neuritis, Nervous or Stomach Troubles, Debility, Kidney Trouble, Heart Trouble, Blood and Skin Diseases, and other ailments affecting the blood stream. Also all Catarrhal Diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat.

Watch Your Blood Pressure. Your Blood Cells Control It.

STEEL SHAPES IN DEMAND

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 18.—All fabricating interests in the Youngstown district, which are substantial consumers of steel products, have shown steady business this year, with sales ahead of last year. Warehouse sales of Truscon Steel Co. are 19 per cent higher than in 1928, despite some let down in the building industry. Youngstown Pressed Steel Co. has likewise enjoyed a satisfactory year at its Warren plant. General Fireproofing sales are 15 to 20 per cent higher than in 1928.

From present indications there will be little or no resistance to fourth quarter prices in rolled steel. Slabs and billets will likely move to $34, against a nominal $35 market.

Some easing in the market on basic materials may effect rolled steel before the quarter is over, but this appears unlikely at present.

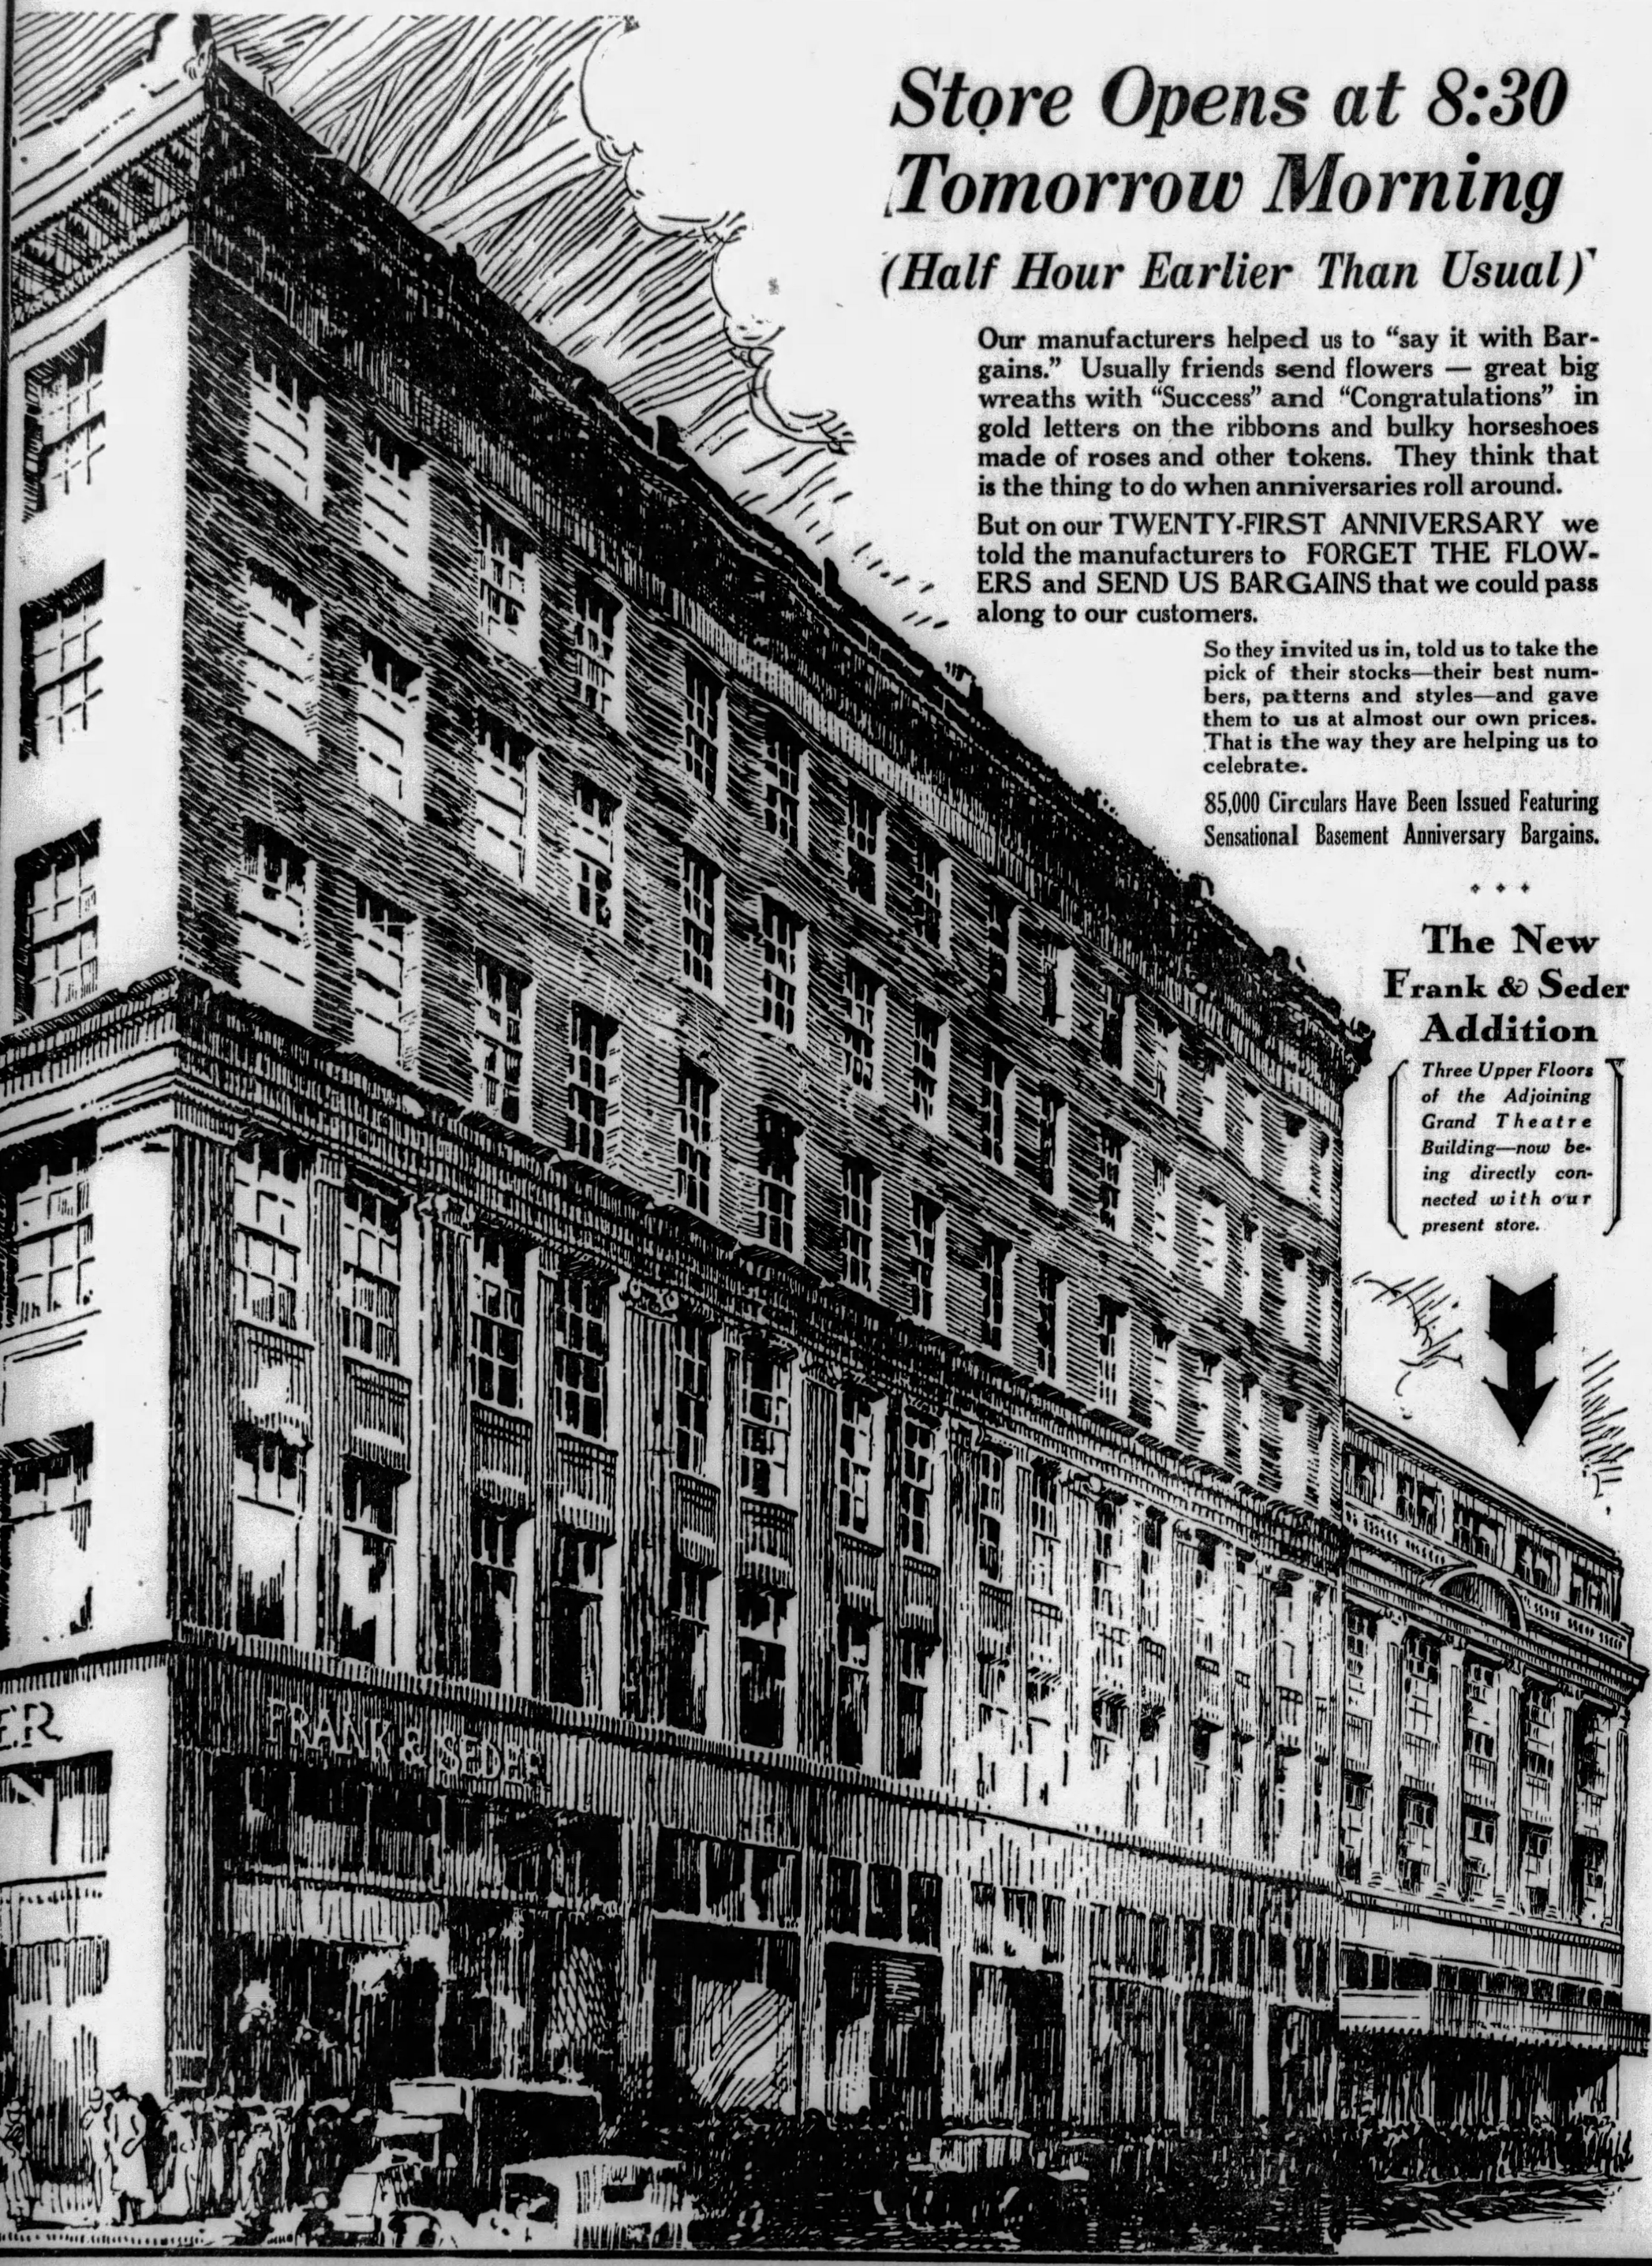
Thousands of Anniversary Bargain



Store Opens at 8:30 Tomorrow Morning

(Half Hour Earlier Than Usual)

Our manufacturers helped us to "say it with Bargains." Usually friends send flowers — great big wreaths with "Success" and "Congratulations" in gold letters on the ribbons and bulky horseshoes made of roses and other tokens. They think that is the thing to do when anniversaries roll around.

But on our TWENTY-FIRST ANNIVERSARY we told the manufacturers to FORGET THE FLOWERS and SEND US BARGAINS that we could pass along to our customers.

So they invited us in, told us to take the pick of their stocks—their best numbers, patterns and styles—and gave them to us at almost our own prices. That is the way they are helping us to celebrate.

RADIO MAY END FLIGHT HAZARD

By KENNETH CLARK.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Radio, the modern miracle, may eventually conquer weather hazards which plague air transportation.

The science of aerology has been so perfected that reliable weather information over large areas can be gathered to enable a pilot to avoid a disturbance and prevent disaster to passengers and plane; but inventive genius, although always performing the seemingly impossible, has yet to triumph over the elements, storms and fogs, which beset aviation.

Scientists all over the world are working on the problem, and at last a ray of light has appeared which may indicate success. Experiments being conducted by J. H. Dellinger and H. Diamond, of the Bureau of Standards, reveal that radio offers tremendous possibilities as an aid to flight.

TESTS SUCCESSFUL

The research work indicates that by means of the radio, weather and landing conditions can be communicated to pilots while in flight, and navigation flying and landing can be done satisfactorily regardless of fog. This may be accomplished through perfection of a new radio directive beacon which can guide a plane to a safe landing on a flying field even though a pilot, because of bad weather, cannot distinguish landmarks.

Successful tests have already been conducted at College Park, Md., and Dellinger and Diamond are planning further extensive trials.

The possibilities of radio as an aid to aviation are strikingly portrayed in a report by Dellinger and Diamond:

"By the use of radio aids being installed on the U. S. airways, it will become entirely feasible to fly between any two points along a given airway and to arrive within a few thousand feet of the desired destination, regardless of weather conditions. The problem of effecting a safe landing during fog and extremely low visibility is not yet, however, an assured accomplishment.

"Recent tests indicate that fog penetrating lights are not yet available.

"The most feasible method of attack at the present time appears to be in the application of radio. When attacked from this angle, the problem of fog landing resolves itself into two separate problems, namely, field localizing (through the radio directive beacon), and the development of a suitable altimeter."

With the directive beacon to guide a plane over the runway of an air field and the sensitive altimeter to give the exact distance above ground, the experts are convinced a pilot can land successfully, even though the weather completely obscures his vision.

MRS. DIXIE MARTIN

Mrs. Martin, adopted daughter expected to be called as a defense witness in the trial of Mrs. Alexander Pantages, wife of the theater magnate, for the death of a Japanese in an automobile accident in Los Angeles.

FAMED ACTRESS HELD AS THIEF

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Truly Shattuck, who danced, sang and was beautiful on the American and European stage 25 years ago, has been arrested as a thief.

There was a pretty green dress in a department store. Truly Shattuck, who in her day had owned jewels and costly furs, took it.

"A woman must dress if she wants to work," the 54-year-old actress said, "and I did need work so badly. But oh, the shame of it! What a position for one who has shaken hands with a king."

RENT OVERDUE

Miss Shattuck said she was broke. The rent on her lodging house room was past due. The one-time star of first magnitude had lost its light behind the clouds of marching years.

The vaudeville skit drew its last half-hearted, scattered applause on the kerosene circuit several months ago. Then she worked as a waitress, a seamstress. She lost these jobs, no one seemed to want to employ the woman who had entertained two continents and who had smiled down from the cinema screen vis-a-vis with Fairbanks, MacLean, Valentino and Sydney Chaplin.

FAILS IN VAUDEVILLE

"I don't know why I did it," she cried at detective headquarters. "I've had no work for three months. They told me by vaudeville skit wouldn't go over any more. I've tramped the streets looking for work. I've read the want ads. The green dress looked so pretty, and it was only $16.50—but I didn't have the $16.50."

In her poverty she was too proud to appeal to friends; but a friend, a restaurant owner, heard of her arrest early today and posted bond for her.

Later the department store withdrew the charge against her and she was freed.

NAVAL PARLEY BIDS HELD UP

By ROBERT W. THOMPSON.
International News Service.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—A surprise was sprung here this afternoon, when, after an apparent authentic announcement that France, Italy and Japan were being formally invited to a five-power naval limitation conference, it was learned from an official source that the final, formal invitations would not be handed to the three governments until after the meeting of President Hoover and Premier MacDonald in Washington.

News from all sources early in the day indicated that the British ambassadors to Rome, Paris and Tokio had been instructed to acquaint Italy, France and Japan with the progress of the disarmament negotiations between the United States and England, and extend official invitations for them to participate.

International News Service learned that official invitations will be deferred as a matter of routine and not because any decisive developments are expected to alter the plans already made.

French, Italian and Japanese governments will be informed of the discussions held by President Hoover and Premier MacDonald at Washington so that all may enter the parley with full knowledge of existing situation and without any fear of an understanding between Washington and London.

PANTAGES CASE DEFENSE OPENS

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 18.—(INS)—Back to that question of whether it was an automobile crash or an operation that killed Juro Rokumoto went the murder trial of Mrs. Alexander Pantages today.

That the operation was unnecessary and that Rokumoto was asphyxiated by the anesthetic administered him was the charge made by Max Steurr, defense lawyer. On this the defense will pin its hopes in the trial of the millionaire theater owner's wife.

A three-hour argument late yesterday concerning admissibility of testimony by Mrs. Mabel Fraser, the nurse who attended Rokumoto at the Sylvan Lodge Hospital before his death, brought forth Steuer's outline of the expected defense.

STATE PROTESTS

It will be by her testimony, according to the attorney, that the defense will attempt to prove that Rokumoto was afraid of the surgeons and feared the operation they planned to perform on him following his smashup with the Pantages automobile.

Admission of this testimony was protested by Deputy District Attorney James Costello and his aides, A. H. Van Cott and Harold Jones.

"We are ready to prove the following points," Steuer said:

1.—That the operation performed on Rokumoto following the accident was uncalled for.

2.—That Rokumoto did not want to be operated on.

3.—That the Japanese was not suffering from any shock as a result of the accident at the time he was operated on, but that on the contrary he suffered from shock because of the anaesthetic.

ASPHYXIATED, HE SAYS

4.—That Rokumoto did not die from the shock or injuries suffered in the collision with Mrs. Pantages' car, but that he was asphyxiated by the anesthetic which preceded the operation.

5.—That the operation itself was unnecessary; for, although he had a dislocated hip, it could have been set at any other time.

6—That no anaesthetic should have been given.

Judge Hardy stated he would give his decision today on whether he will accept the testimony.

Los Angeles Woman Donor of $1,000,000

BAD NAUHEIM, Germany, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—It was announced today that the donor of 4,500,000 marks ($1,080,000) to this spa for research of heart diseases is Mrs. Louise E. Kerckhoff, of Los Angeles, widow of William D. Kerckhoff. The gift was announced Monday as from a "grateful American woman patient" whose identity would not be revealed until she left Nauheim.

Real Estate

G. E. Toole, district manager of Sears, Roebuck & Company, yesterday told members of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board that the company's business in their new retail store on North Highland avenue, East Liberty, has far exceeded expectations. He said he believed that other business along North Highland avenue would be benefited by the trade attracted to the district by his organization. The talk followed the luncheon of the board at the William Penn Hotel.

Mt. Lebanon to Get Underground Cables

Additions to the underground cable system in the Mt. Lebanon district are to be made by the Bell Telephone Company in anticipation of future growth of the community, according to V. R. Caldwell, manager of the company's southern district. More than $25,000,000 will be spent in making the additions and the work is to be started in January.

Car Falls Onto Railway, Driver Badly Hurt

Injured when his car rolled down a 10-foot embankment, near Corliss Tunnel, to the P. & L. E. Railroad tracks below, Philip Decort, 50, of 103 South Twenty-second street, is still confined to his bed at home in serious condition.

According to police, his coupe collided with a roadster driven by Miss Florence McCaslin, of 1135 West Market street, Steubenville, O., and after the drop was practically demolished. Mr. Decort suffered two broken ribs, a fractured right knee-cap, contusions of the head, and numerous bruises and lacerations of the limbs and body.

Miss McCaslin, driving her father's machine at the time of the accident, was arrested, but released later under bond.

BUTLER IN NEW WAR ON RUM

QUANTICO, Va., Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, commander of the Quantico Marine base, has put up to the citizens and officials of this new small town the question of getting rid of bootleggers or losing about 90 per cent of their retail trade.

The town, incorporated about two years ago and practically surrounded and supported by the Marine base, has been deprived of its most profitable customers since Saturday. The general, whose opinion that prohibition can be enforced became well known while he was serving as police commissioner of Philadelphia, issued an order on that day prohibiting his enlisted men from coming here. Since then, the stores and amusement places have been virtually deserted.

Mayor A. E. McInteer and members of the Town Council called on the general, and returned to tell a meeting of the aroused business men that he had assured them the ban would be lifted after bootlegging and lawlessness had been stamped out. He offered to cooperate, they said, when they agreed to put forth the effort he demanded, and is understood to have given them the names of several persons whose presence in the town he considered undesirable, and to have suggested that, if other methods failed, he might be able to aid in the "clean up" by cutting off the water supply in certain places.

In conformity with his theory about the enforcement of prohibition, he is said to have demanded that all residents of the town cooperate with the officials by refusing to deal with bootleggers and by furnishing such information as they may have about the selling of liquor. The town has a population of about 300, including the families of some of the Marines stationed at the base.

Shaw, 73, Turns Air Minded; May Pilot

LONDON, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—The ever-youthful Bernard Shaw is air-minded, and, although he is 73 years old, London is interested in reports that he is learning to pilot an airplane.

Questioned by the Daily Mail about reports that he is having lessons at the Stag Lane Airdrome, north of London, Shaw wouldn't deny the reports, but said laughingly that he hadn't fully decided to become a qualified pilot just yet.

He added, more seriously: "Of course I have done a bit of flying."

Geneva Freshman Week Voted Success

For the first time, in the eighty-ninth year of her history, Geneva College, located at Beaver Falls, Pa., yesterday ended a freshman week celebration. The college authorities pronounce it a "marked success." It consisted chiefly of informational addresses by the college professors and administrators, uniquely planned programs of entertainment given by upper classmen, various receptions tendered by the college faculty and student organizations, athletic sports, an English test and also the Edison test (adapted).

SOVIETS REJECT OFFER OF PEACE

MOSCOW, Sept. 18.—(INS.)—The Soviet government has informed China, through the German ambassador, that Nanking's offer of September 13, recommending immediate arbitration of the disputes between the two nations, is unsatisfactory.

The offer was rejected because it fails to comply with the "minimum Soviet demands." Principally, the one regarding immediate reinstatement of a Soviet manager and assistant manager of the Chinese Eastern Railway.

Doukhobor Children, Fugitives, Captured

VANCOUVER, British Columbia, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—An attempt by eight Doukhobor children, lodged in the Children's Aid Home here, to rejoin their parents at Okalla jail was frustrated when police located the children and returned them to the institution.

The children were brought to the home last week when more than 100 Doukhobors were brought to the jail here to serve six-months sentences for taking part in a nude parade at Slocan, British Columbia.

U. S. Not to Reduce Air Mail Service

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—(INS.)—Postoffice officials have no idea of curtailing the present air mail service, even though operating expenses for the fiscal year may run about $2,000,000 over the appropriation, Assistant Postmaster General Glover said. The cost of the service for the present fiscal year will be about $15,000,000, while only $13,500,000 was appropriated.

Amusement Notes and Announcements Coupled With Review of Hollywood

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 18.

LON CHANEY sneaked into town from a bathing resort and went to a hospital to have his tonsils removed. The little hospital birds, which fly in and out open windows to tell secrets, say he had a tough timebutis now doing splendidly. Lon didn't want the world to know anything about it. He hates sympathy. No flowers; no telephone calls; no condolences are his orders. He expects to be out of the home of fumigation in five days and back at the studio in a couple o' weeks. His next will probably be "Two Officers," a tale of India where he will use his own face instead of one of the 999 others. Here's wishing him a speeded get-up and get-out and a swell picture.

Lon Chaney

I've been traipsing around the Metro lot most of the day. Tried to get away from the Lawrence Tibbett set but just kept being magnetized back there. He was singin'. The extras were sneaking over from other sets to hear him. Ten dollars in New York, nothing in Hollywood if you're a favorite with the gateman. What a hand they gave him, and they seldom give hands in this city. I tell you that set has crept up to second place in popularity. Next to Marion Davies'.

In between songs they were tellin' stories 'bout him. For instance:

He met Mike Newman, the showman who gave him his first public chance to warble at Grauman's old million dollar theatre.

"Hello, Mike. You owe me some money."

"How's that?"

"You've been telling everybody you meet you paid me fifteen dollars for every time I sang for you. It was only ten. Hand over the balance."

Nils Asther, who has the dressing room next to the singer, can't get over the way a guy can drown out the sound of a shower bath by singin' Pagliacci.

Edmund Lowe Gets Pay Raise

I GETTA kick keeping track of thim—there thousand-dollar salaries which make Hollywood famous. I told you how Betty Compson raised hers by pounds lost and Olive Borden by sticking to her opinions. Now comes the case of Edmund Lowe. His contract was up. He wanted more dough like most of us humans. Fox wasn't so optimistic. So Eddie went off with his make-up box under his arm and posted a sign on his door, "I'm free lancing."

Edmund Lowe

Gosh, he had to hire a friend of his wife's (Lilyan Tashman), to answer the calls for him. He signed with Pathe for one picture at $5,000 per and another for —

Then Fox called him back. They'd heard about that telephone business.

"Much water has flowed under my bridge since I last talked with you, gentlemen."

"We'll make it flow faster," or similar words.

So when he's through with the pictures he'd already contracted he'll put his box under his arm and go back to papa at more than he originally demanded!

They tell this one on Willard Mack, who produces and writes and supervises and does all the high-brown things a fellow can do for Metro.

He came home late one night. Very late.

"Where have you been?" demanded the missus.

"Out celebrating one of my wedding anniversaries," Mack answered.

They don't tell which one, however. Perhaps it was Maude Leone, number one; or Marjorie Rambeau, number two; or Pauline Fredericks, number three. It couldn't have been Beatrice Banyard, the present incumbent, we take it.

Ramon Novarro Sings at Lunch

SCREENALITIES: Ramon Novarro sitting in the M. G. M. lunch room, singing in low tones while he waited for service. Bessie Love, Joan Crawford, Leila Hyams and all the other celebs resting their forks to listen. Nick Stuart is leaving tomorrow for an Arizona location trip for "The Lone Ranger." No, he doesn't play in it. But Sue Carol does. Can you blame him for going along when the leading man is George O'Brien? Billie Dove sat behind me today at the Montmartre. She ate chick a la king, a big salad and a desert with too many calories to mention. One gal who doesn't believe in the 18-day diet. Cecil De Mille, however, has lost 25 pounds by eating nothing but vegetables. No meat, no sweets, but a chef who can cook vegetables like nobody's business. Constance Bennett has taken a house in Beverly so her three cats and two dogs can have all the comforts to which they are accustomed in her three houses in Europe. She tried Hollywood's best apartments, the Chateau Elysee, the Beverly Wilshire, etc., but the pets couldn't stand so many people. At least that's the way her friends tell it. Lupe Velez has gone to Florida on location. She took her maid and her secretary. Last time it was just the secretary. Lupe's had a raise in salary. No, Gary Cooper didn't pull a Nick Stuart. He's still in the city. And—that's all.

TWO MINERS DIE FROM INJURIES

Two coal miners working in different sections of the county were fatally injured while at work yesterday, according to reports made to the coroner.

Daniel Caldorella, 55, of Yukon, died last night in the Mercy Hospital several hours after he had been struck by a coal car while at work in the Yukon mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company.

Caught beneath a fall of slate in Mine No. 8 of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, Thomas Hamilton, 46, of Coverdale was killed. He suffered a broken neck and a fractured skull. No. 8 mine is located at Coverdale.

Four Farrell Police Claim Bomb Reward

MERCER, Pa., Sept. 18.—Four Farrell police have entered claim to the $1,000 reward offered for the capture of Frank Capano, of Farrell, who was found guilty of bombing the home of Fred Fish, former Farrell burgess. Judge J. A. McLaughry has heard evidence in the case and will give a decision at an early date.

Night Club

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.

RED hot orchestra, flaming sax,
Chorus girls with naked backs.
Crowded room and smoke and noise,
Wooden clackers, frills and toys.

Flappers with their jazz and paints,
Talking ritz with occasional "ain'ts."
Youngsters acting so annoyed
Discussing sex and quoting Freud.

Business men and shady ladies
Trying their best to get to Hades.
Night club queen with diamonds grifted
And a face and neck that's lifted.

"Money to burn? Then watch our smoke—
But don't come, brother, if you're broke!"
—Helen Kaminsky.

THE RETORT SWELL

TO hear Allen Semel tell it, Beatrice Lillie is one cinema star who can crush a tormentor who invites a cruel comeback. One of the more officious assistant directors in Hollywood yowled at her the other day but Miss Lillie pretended she didn't hear him.

"Say!" he thundered, "didn't you hear what was told you by me—me! ! ! ! !"

"You?" queried Beatrice, as she lifted one eyebrow, "and who might you be?"

"Well, I like that," growled the pain-in-the-neck, "you mean to say you didn't read about me in this morning's newspapers?"

"Sorreh, very sorreh, rilly," meowed Lillie, "but I never read the death notices."

JUST FOR THE RECORDS

The very odd McIntyre carelessly reports: "Mugging is a flippant term in theatrical argot. When an actor 'mugs'—and what one doesn't?—he is taking advantage of a friendly audience to remain on the stage. Benefits are a paradise for 'muggers.' It is a variant of 'stealing a bow.'"

"Mugging" doesn't mean that at all. "Mugging" means to "to mug" or screw the face up in knots, to exact laughs by the use of facial stunts, to cross the eyes, for instance. Marie Dressler, Florence Moore, Charles Murray, "Jazzlips" Richardson and Will Mahoney are among the "muggers."

IN HOLLYWOOD

A MOVIE mag interviewer avers that film folk are not the gluttons for publicity you think. One newcomer to the coast studios stammered and stuttered during the questioning until she drooped. "Well," said the interviewer, "since you have nothing interesting to tell me about yourself, can't you tell me something about your parents that might be amusing?"

"You bet," was the eager reply, "they are still living together."

DUMB, BUT BEAUTIFUL

It happened at Sidney Solomon's snooty Central Park Casino. A lass who elevated herself from a Ziegfeld chorus to a star role, snubbed one of her former undressingroommates. "So," said the snubbed one's companion, "she ritzed you again, eh?"

"Oh," was the indifferent reply, "I wouldn't exactly say she was high-hatting me. I've probably grown so much more beautiful she doesn't recognize me."

HISSSSSSS!!!

THE charitable Eddie Cantor, who is sponsoring a benefit performance of "Whoopee" for Palestine sufferers at the New Amsterdam this Sunday, arranged with his cast, chorus, musicians, dressers et al, to contribute their services gratis. Many actors have purchased seats for the benefit, too, and Cantor was happy until he was informed by the stage hand officials that they would not work the show unless they were paid.

The pain was all the more acute for Cantor, because he had just argued for hours with his N. V. A. Club lieutenants (he is president of the N. V. A. Club) that their Saranac Consumptive Camp should also be open free to stage hands—and he won the argument! Later that day the officers of Theatrical Protective Union No. 1 proved poor sportsmen by refusing to help Cantor help other unfortunates.

We hope Cantor pays them and doesn't place himself under any obligations. Actors the country over will groan, considering that they must buy tickets, and even appear without remuneration at all stage hand benefits—or risk having a sandbag dropped on their heads.

ORIGIN

A ciggie advert entertainly unfolds this fact: The Astor Mansion at 34th St. and 5th Ave., famous in the 80's, would accommodate no more than 400 guests. For the Astor ball, Ward McAllister worked for five weeks to cut down the list of invitations.

Finally, exactly 400 were invited, thus the magic phrase, "The 400" became a byword for American society.

"These are the 400, if I may use the term," said McAllister when turning over his completed list, of which, however, but 82 of the originals survive in wheel chairs, or club windows.

SOTTO VOCE

W. Cullen (Yonkers): Fine.
Margaret O'Connor (Frisco): Thanques.

NOVELETTE

HE had prestige as a Greenwich Village poet about five years ago and then he petered out. His intimates couldn't say why, he just went bleh. But the "inside" story goes something like this. It was one of his boasts that the woman he married would first have to be a great typist "to do my manuscripts" and she must be a grand cook. Two years later, however, along came the woman who gave him the tremors, and so they were sealed.

You've probably enjoyed her recent novels, which are among the best sellers. And that's why his stuff has decayed. For he loves her so, and being a good cook, he prepares the meals, and polishes up this chapter or that one for her, while he types them.

OOP!

One of Manhattan's better columnists dwelled next door to a prosperous speakeasy, and the noises therefrom so distracted him he frequently slugged the place in his department in the newspaper. The owner of the laughing soup parlor was vexed no end over the walloping paragraphs, but he vowed that some day matters would be evened—and they recently were.

The speakeasy proprietor, learning that the building in which the columnist was a dweller could be purchased, acquired it for a fancy sum, and immediately ordered it demolished to make room for his army of customers. Thus the annoying columnist was forced out and still is searching New York for an apartment.

1904 McCreery & Co. 1929
WOOD STREET AT SIXTH AVENUE

RE-SETTING THE STAGE OF FASHION
of Twenty-Five Years Ago

Tomorrow Night . . . Thursday . . . at 7:45 p. m.

The curtains of McCreery's windows will be raised on the most pretentious and authentic collection of 1904 American and Paris Fashions ever presented by any store.

Opening Window No. 1

Opening Window No. 5
MISS PAULINE MCLEAN
Leading lady, George Sharp Players, at the Pitt Theatre

Ten Prominent Men and Women will officiate at the Opening

It represents the successful climax of six months planning and research . . . of seeking for authentic and original antiques and heirlooms of the 1904 period. It brings before the Pittsburgh public an exhibit that is historical as well as educational . . . a striking contrast between the mode of dressing and living in 1904 and today.

Of especial interest in the collection are the gowns and dresses from the wardrobes of Mrs. Ogden Goelet, Mrs. Vanderbilt and other acknowledged fashion leaders of their day. Many of the pieces are highly valuable, the nine hats shown in the millinery window are valued at more than $1,000.

Original French models, rare old corsets, men's shirt fronts and ascots, men's suits and overcoats, women's striped hosiery, fans, umbrellas and gold furniture. Supplemented with a side cranking, one-cylinder touring car and a tamden bicycle "built for two", and many other unusually interesting things of that period.

The fashion pages of the seven Pittsburgh newspapers published in September 1904, as well as the Trade and Fashion magazines of the day, were consulted and photographed for authenticity in preparing this display.

This exhibit was arranged with the view of emphasizing McCreery's policy of "First in Fashion" since the opening of the store in 1904. Many of the fashions shown in the windows were duplicated in McCreery's stocks at that time.

BEAUTIFUL TEETH DUE TO PEBECO

When you see such beautiful teeth, you may well say, "She hasn't 'acid-mouth'." For "acid-mouth" and strong teeth are strangers. Unchecked, mouth acids eat into the enamel, let decay strike into the soft interiors of the teeth. Pebeco checks it scientifically by neutralizing the acids caused by food fermentation in the mouth. You certainly should try Pebeco.

FRENCH TROOPS POLICE RHINE

BERLIN, Sept. 18.—Only a small and comparatively meager force of the French military will replace the British occupation troops at Wiesbaden, it was stated by French officials last night.

This force will be maintained in connection with the Inter-Allied Commission which will have its headquarters at Wiesbaden.

These statements have done much to offset the apprehension voiced openly in Germany that the French government intended to replace the evacuating British troops at Wiesbaden with forces of similar strength.

The process of the evacuation of the Rhineland is proceeding rapidly and a much more optimistic outlook is reflected throughout the country.

Old Servant Leaves Busch Part Savings

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—His former servant left to August A. Busch, multi-millionaire president of the Anheuser-Busch, Inc., more than half his savings of $35,000. The servant, Jacob Sonnen, 71-year-old masseuer, shot and killed himself a week ago at the home of his sister. She said he had been despondent over ill health. He had been employed by the Busch family as a masseur and caretaker for more than 40 years.

UNSCRAMBLE THESE ANAGRAMBLES

DAILY ANAGRAM PUZZLES

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

AGED ELOPERS IN EXILE

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 18.—(AP.)—By exiling themselves from Kansas, David DeLair, 82, a wealthy Oketo (Kan.) farmer, and his 69-year-old bride from Summerfield, Kan., who eloped to Council Bluffs, Ia., Monday, expect to defeat the plans of relatives of the blind bridegroom to have the marriage annulled.

The aged couple said they adopted the exile plan on the advice of their Omaha attorney, J. R. Lones.

The attorney contends that an order of the Kansas court, declaring DeLair incompetent and placing his affairs in charge of a guardian, does not affect the marriage performed in Iowa. The marriage is valid, excepting in Kansas, he said.

C. M. DeLair, nephew and guardian of the bridegroom, and Russell DeLair, a son, who came here yesterday to have the marriage annulled, have returned to Oketo to start court action.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Paul L. Hoefler, of Denver, and Harold Austin, of Hollywood, Cal., are back from Africa with photographs of the rare white rhinoceros. They crossed the continent at the equator by motor truck. In a swamp eight white rhinos charged at them and were scared off by a rifle shot into the air.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Nancy Paull To Wed on Oct. 15

NEVER have there been so many interesting autumnal weddings I do believe. For every gay yellow leaf that forsakes its family's tree to go rollicking with the gallant fall breezes there's a bride who leaves her paternal roof to go honeymooning with a gay young Lochinvar.

The calendar of October weddings is growing rapidly in length. A new addition is October 15 when Nancy Lea Paull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Paull, of Stanton avenue, will become the bride of Robert Baldwin Nation, son of the William H. Nations, of Muncie, Ind.

But the wedding will not take place in Pittsburgh, I've just learned. The Little Church Around the Corner in New York will be the scene of the ceremony.

* * *

THERE'S one more horseshow this fall as far as Pittsburgh folks are concerned, the Westmoreland Hunt show on Friday and Saturday at the polo grounds, Greensburg.

I happen to know that Miss Margaret Coulter, of Greensburg, a member of the committee in charge of the event, will entertain the exhibitors, out-of-town guests and judges at a luncheon Saturday in a specially erected tent on the grounds.

Torrence Miller is chairman of the show, aided by Miss Coulter, Col. Henry W. Coulter, George R. McNary, Arthur C. Martin, H. F. Bovard, Joseph D. Wentling, Richard King Mellon and James M. Bovard.

On Friday night, following the first day's showing, the committee will entertain the judges, exhibitors, and out-of-town guests at a dinner in the Greensburg Country Club. On Saturday night there'll be a number of small dinners in the Westmoreland Polo Club and the Greensburg Country Club, given by members of the Westmoreland Hunt.

By the way, the H. F. Bovards will have as guests for the show the Niles Trammells, of Chicago; the John Cunningham Stewarts, of Keswick, Va., formerly of Sewickley, and the Murray Cobbs, of Philadelphia.

* * *

WE can really say, now, that the debutante season has started. The first of the parties was given last night in the Allegheny Country Club, where the Christian Ihmsen Shannons, of Sewickley, gave a dinner dance. Their guest of honor was Mary Franklin Robinson, debutante daughter of the William C. Robinsons, and among the 150 there were, of course, the other buds of the season. Fall flowers in yellow and orange were used in the decorations.

Mrs. Shannon received her guests in a gown of green and silver brocade, and Mary appeared in salmon pink taffeta made with a tight bodice and a full skirt made long in back. Mrs. Robinson was gowned in Nile green crepe.

* * *

A DEBUTANTE party added to the list for the holidays is a luncheon which Mrs. Frank Ward Severance, of Sewickley, is planning for December 28 in honor of Mary Robinson and Peggy Milligan. The affair will be held in the Allegheny Club, too.

* * *

QUITE a few out-of-town people are here for the wedding of Sara Louise Gwinner, daughter of the Edward William Gwinners, of Fifth avenue, and Frederick Eaton Crispin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gearhart Crispin, of New York, which is set for today at 5:30 o'clock in the Shadyside Presbyterian Church. Mr. Crispin's parents are here, of course, and so are Mrs. Frederick H. Eaton, his grandmother; Mr. and Mrs. M. Jackson Crispin, all of New York; Mrs. Richard Gilbert, also Mr. Crispin's grandmother; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Carse and Mr. and Mrs. Alpheus Collins, all of Berwick, Pa.

THE marriage of Miss Marie Cooney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Cooney, of Idlewild street, and Francis Wymard, of Huntington, W. Va., son of William J. Wymard, of Mt. Vernon street, was solemnized last Wednesday morning in Holy Rosary Catholic Church. A breakfast for the families followed the ceremony in the Rittenhouse. Mr. and Mrs. Wymard will be at home in Huntington after a southern trip.

MR. AND MRS. HARRY JAMES M'GOWAN, of Prospect avenue, Ben Avon, have made known the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Elizabeth McGowan, to Charles Ross Luker, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ross Luker, of Home avenue, Bellevue. The wedding will take place on November 11.

* * *

MISS MARY LOUISE MURPHY, of Teece avenue, Bellevue, entertained at tea in her home Saturday to announce the engagement of Miss Eleanor Van Scoten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Van Scoten, of Avalon, to Edward Irving Bates, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bates, of Meadville. Receiving with the hostess were Mrs. Van Scoten and Mrs. Bates, while Mrs. Wylie Logan Jones and Mrs. William H. Sample poured. An early spring wedding is planned.

* * *

MRS. CLYDE L. FLOHR, of Munhall, announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Betty Flohr, to Charles H. Muldowney, of Homestead, which was solemnized yesterday morning at 8 o'clock in St. Mary Magdalene's Catholic Church, Homestead. Mr. and Mrs. Muldowney are taking a Canadian trip and after October 1 will be at home in the Buchanan Apartments, Mt. Lebanon.

* * *

MISS LEAH WOLFENDEN SHREINER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Henry Shreiner, of Cedar boulevard, Mt. Lebanon, whose marriage to Winthrop Moorhead Leeds, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Leeds, of Philadelphia, will be solemnized Saturday, will entertain her bridesmaids at luncheon Friday in the Keystone Athletic Club. The rehearsal dinner will be given that evening in the Shreiner home. Miss Clara Colteryahn, of Carrick, gave a bridge last Friday night in honor of Miss Shreiner.

* * *

THE marriage of Miss Martha Hanlon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew A. Hanlon, of Thomas boulevard, and James M. Daschbach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Daschbach, of Thornburg, was solemnized yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock in Holy Rosary Catholic Church by the Rev. James O'D. Hanlon, brother of the bride. The bride wore white satin made with a full skirt and her tulle veil was arranged in cap effect with duchess lace and orange blossoms. She carried a shower of orchids and lillies of the valley. Her sister, Miss Rosemary Hanlon, as maid of honor, appeared in beige crepe and lace with a hat of chartreuse felt, and she carried a Dresden bouquet. Joseph Daschbach was his brother's best man and the ushers included Bertrand Daschbach, another brother; Albert Daschbach, a cousin; Frank McCaffrey, cousin of the bride, and Hubert Holland. A reception in the Hanlon home followed the ceremony. After a trip, Mr. and Mrs. Daschbach will make their home in Chicago.

* * *

ANNOUNCEMENT has been received here of the marriage of Miss Mary Phelan, daughter of Mrs. William Daly Phelan, of Washington, D. C., formerly of Pittsburgh, and Willard Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Arthur Carlson, of Austin, Minn., which was solemnized Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Phelan home with only the immediate families and a few friends in attendance. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, William Daly Phelan, Jr., wore white tulle fashioned on colonial lines, and her veil was of tulle and rose point lace. She carried white roses. Her maid of honor, Miss Janet Hall, appeared in peach taffeta touched with green and carried butterfly roses. Charles B. McInnis was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Carlson have left for a motor trip through New England and upon their return will be at home in New York.

* * *

AT a luncheon given Saturday by Mrs. Thomas N. Donaldson, of the North Side, announcement was made of the engagement of her sister, Miss Clara Eichelman, of Chautauqua street, to John J. Haggerty, of Philadelphia, formerly of Pittsburgh.

Hazelwood Club's Year Books Issued

A VARIED program is ahead of the Hazelwood Woman's Club, the new year books of which have just gone out. October 10 is the opening date and November 14 is set for the president's reception. The annual trip to the international art exhibit will be made November 19. Miss Marion Price, Hazelwood branch librarian, will address the meeting in December and on the twenty-sixth of the month the women will have their Christmas party. A series of historical papers will occupy their attention at the new year meetings, "The Whiskey Insurrection," "Rivers of Allegheny County," "Industries of Allegheny County," "General Washington in Allegheny County" and "Old Allegheny," being the subjects selected. There will be the usual valentine party in February and in April Miss Louise Blessing will address the organization. The annual pilgrimage will be made to St. Barnabas' Home in May, the annual outing in June bringing the season to an end.

* * *

A PRESIDENT'S day, education day, co-operation day, a patriotic day, legislative and civic day, nature study day, health day and rythmic day are the titles which the Ingram Woman's Club has given to its monthly sessions for the season. The first will be observed Monday in the Firemen's Association Building in honor of Mrs. Donald Miller. The educational committee, under Mrs. C. W. Biggs, will have charge of the meeting and co-operation day will be distinguished by a sale for the blind. The juniors will give the Christmas program and on public welfare day there will be an address by Dr. E. M. Clopper. Miss Grace L. Stoakes, Miss Grace A. Courtney and Mrs. D. N. Buford are other speakers listed for the year, which will be brought to a close June 9 when Mrs. L. E. Aber will present the club history.

* * *

MRS. CLARA SULLIVAN, Miss Elizabeth DeCoursey and Mrs. Loretta Rousseau are taking reservations for the trip which Court Bellevue No. 655, Catholic Daughters of America, will make to Chicago October 12 to 14. The party will leave Pittsburgh at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, reaching Chicago at 7 Sunday morning and returning to Pittsburgh early Monday.

* * *

TOMORROW evening's session of the tenth annual convention of the Pittsburgh Council of Catholic Women will consist of an informal reception, musicale and speakers' program at the Council House, with the Queen's Daughters as hostesses, Miss Millie Kunzler, chairman. The musical program will be presented by Charles Curran, Mrs. Mary Catanzaro, Miss Anna Mary Entrees, Thomas McCaffrey, D. J. McCarthy, Miss Rose Williamson, James P. Gallogly, Sr., and James Galloghly, Jr. The speakers will be Miss Margaret Reardon, Miss Ada K. Gannon, Miss Bertha C. McEntee and the Rev. John R. McKavney.

* * *

A MEETING of Alpha Xi Delta Alumnae Association will be held Saturday in the Congress of Clubs. Following the business session will be an initiation ceremony and shower in honor of Mrs. Helen B. Heidiger. Miss Ruth Douthitt is in charge of the program.

* * *

MRS. DULCE FISKE-FAIRMAN, president of the Keystone Association for Historical Research and member of several other organizations, will present a series of five current events lectures in the Woman's City Club on successive Monday evenings, beginning October 7. The first lecture will be devoted to Spanish life, customs, art and literature and will be illustrated by Mrs. Caroline Himmelblau, who will sing in costume. French, Italy, Russia and the Orient and the United States and England will be taken up at the subsequent lectures.

* * *

DORMONT NEW CENTURY CLUB has sent out invitations for its president's day reception, honoring Mrs. J. W. Young, Jr., on Friday afternoon, October 4, in Masonic Temple, Dormont. Mrs. E. J. Clark, of Mattern avenue, is taking responses.

* * *

THE Pittsburgh Alumnae Chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta will hold its first meeting of the year at the Kappa Alpha Theta House, Neville street, on Saturday. Miss Dorothy Sattley, president of the chapter, announces a short business meeting followed by bridge.

* * *

RUTH BOWERS GIBSON, violin; Estelle Healy Close, reader and vocalist, and Grace Blenko Martin, accompanist, will give the program for the Town Club's tea Tuesday afternoon. The affair, which will be in honor of the president, Mrs. E. M. Garwood, will be held in the home of Mrs. Samuel E. Diescher, South Negley avenue.

* * *

THE Regent Square Woman's Club began its season yesterday with a luncheon of 35 covers in the Alcoma Club. Mrs. E. E. Whysall, the new president, took the chair and Mrs. W. M. Alrich, in charge for the day, introduced Mrs. E. M. Gerst, who told the women of the work done by the Children's Home Society.

DRESSMAKER TOUCH REACHES THE TOP RUNGS OF FASHION

Sketched in Paris

Much Interest Focussed on Little Frock

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Sept. 17.—The "little" frock is very big here, just now. In a season remarkable for magnificence and lavish sartorial display, it is truly remarkable to find such intense interest focussed on the simple little dressmaker frock, that, although considered an indispensable item of the wardrobe, was seldom worn. But the couturiers have learned that many of their best clients are women whose days are taken up with business and charitable activities, rather than with an unceasing round of social duties and bridge games. And so the designers have concentrated their genius on clothes that are comfortable and trim looking, and find that their efforts are amply rewarded by the increasing number of orders placed for such dresses.

* * *

HIGH, low, or in the middle! The great waist controversy wages merrily, with each house sponsoring its own particular version of what is sometimes like the equator, an imaginary line. For we have watched very large ladies, as well as painfully thin ones, take violent issue with their couturier, as to the position of the waistline of their gowns, but who remain blissfully unconcerned as to their natural symmetry.

* * *

JEAN PATOU is one of the designers favoring the natural waistline, and he has also rendered yeoman service to the cause of the little frock, and so has done much to popularize it. We show you today one of his most successful interpretations of it. It is in dark brown tweed with flecks of beige. The silhouette gives prominence to the normal waistline. A delightful detail is the zig-zag fastening with small bone buttons, at cuffs, neck and hips. The skirt has a snug yoke and two large patch pockets, and there is a slight circular movement at the front.

* * *

MARCEL ROCHAS has been so very successful with tweed creations this season that we have selected for illustration one of the latest models from this house. It is in gray tweed with a knotted design in black and a black kid belt. Softening details are the pleated flounce on the skirt, and the tiny pleated jabot at the neckline. The silhouette is very much of the prevailing mode with its snug close line down to the knees and a flaring movement below. Black accessories accentuate the smartness of this costume.

New WJAS Studio Open For Inspection Tonight

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

YEARS ago curious people walking along Penn avenue were attracted to a strange window scene. Inside a gentleman was speaking over an odd-looking instrument known as "the radio." After every few words he would plunk away at a ukelele.

Not one in ten who passed by the window knew what happened by this strange procedure, and they regarded themselves sufficiently informed to know that they were witnessing "the radio."

OPEN FOR INSPECTION

Tonight this station will open its doors to the public for an inspection of its beautiful new studios in the Law and Finance Building. Beginning at 7 p. m. and continuing until 3 a. m. or later tomorrow morning, a stellar array of artists will parade before the microphone in tribute to one of the finest studio and office arrangements in the nation.

Furniture and fixtures are modernistic. The lights and shades tilt at angles. The makeup is different from that we have seen in any other studio.

Hospitality will leap forth to greet visitors from an attendant's desk inside the door. Even the red and black rugs convey a warmth of feeling. There is a real "homeiness" about the arrangement.

WELCOME COMMITTEE

H. J. Brennan, general manager of the station, assisted by Howard E. Clark, Frances C. Owen, Jim Hughes, Robert M. Thompson, Frank Smith, Marcella Deverson and others, will form the committee of welcome.

Representatives of other Pittsburgh stations have been invited to attend the inspection and to speak over the WJAS "mike," as well as the winner of the mayoralty contest and radio writers of Pittsburgh newspapers.

WJAS has reached a milestone in its development of which it may be proud.

We Now Present

A great many operators about Pittsburgh stations received their training on boats at sea. Among them is a very likeable chap, Arthur Brown, at WCAE, who is one of the most versatile gentlemen in local radio.

"Brownie" has traveled around the world. He speaks Dutch fluently. He bakes wonderful pumpkin pies and recently treated the staff to three samples of his culinary art. He can tear down a radio set, allow the baby to play blocks with it and have it assembled again in five to 10 minutes.

He knows what SOS means better than we think we do. As quartermaster for the United Fruit Company he frequented the radio shack on trips to New Orleans and Honduras and replied often to calls for help from other seacraft.

"Brownie" is very human. He finds time when not working at the WCAE studio or scattering parts about his home in Wilkinsburg, to philosophize a little on life. That he has had much experience with human beings is discernible after a short conversation. He makes pleasant company.

At present this gentleman is busy constructing a short wave receiver for Neal Mowry at his home in Beaver Falls. Neal, very handsome, sings on the WCAE Gospel Song Hour.

Sh! h-h—KDKA will have a grand opening soon, we judge from the smell of turpentine about the William Penn studios. Brown will be the color scheme.

LIKE SEEING YOUR ENTERTAINERS WHILE YOU LISTEN

FACE TO FACE REALISM

TO DESCRIBE FACE-TO-FACE REALISM is like trying to put into words the "something" so thrilling in the art of the master musician. It is in FEELING . . . not in sound alone. So vividly does every light and shadow of personality come to you over the air that you seem to feel the actual presence of your entertainers. To experience the real marvel of this amazing new quality in radio reception you must sit before a Sparton instrument yourself. Sparton dealers cordially invite you to call even if only to listen.

How To Lose Two Dozen Pounds of Fat

At the Same Time Gain in Physical Vigor and Youthfulness and Swiftly Possess a Clear Skin and Vivacious Eyes That Sparkle With Glorious Health.

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast. Be sure and do this every morning for "It's the little daily dose that takes off the fat." Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are tuned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts are carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

If you want to lose fat with speed get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts from any live druggist anywhere in America with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back. For sale at all May's & Liggett's Drug Stores all over Greater Pittsburgh.

Crowds— But No Crowding!

Kaufmann's, busiest of Pittsburgh stores, is also one of the busiest in America. We needed quicker transit—congestion was an urgent problem. We've solved it . . . in characteristic Kaufmann fashion—by making a world record in the number of our new escalator installations. Henceforth, crowds; but no crowding.

New Adoria Shoes

There isn't a whim of Fashion too subtle to be caught in the making of Adoria shoes. Colors that are a bit darker—styles that are a bit more graceful—trimmings a bit more in evidence . . . they appear immediately in the new Adorias. $10.

The New Flares in Dress Coats

To the Slim, They're Gracious
To the Stout, They're Slenderizing
To the Short, They Give Height

The most striking note about the new coat fashions this year is that they're easy to wear. You hardly believe that flares can be so flattering until you see what they can do for one. There are so many ways of using them. Perhaps the back is flared downward ever so little or very much. Perhaps a slight ripple at the sides relieves an otherwise straight line. Often there's a hint of the princess line with the flare starting just below the hips.

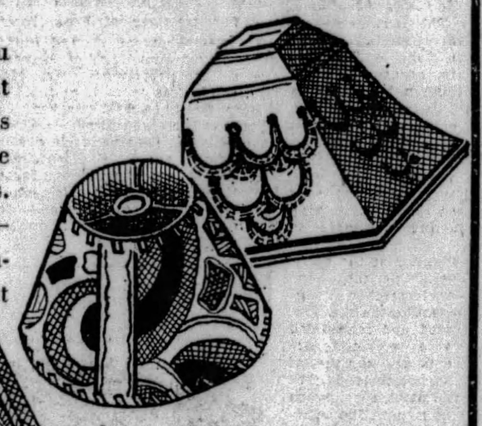
Fall Opening of Art Crafts Studio

Do you like to fashion lovely things? Do you enjoy working with silks, gay yarns and paint brush? You'll be enthusiastic about Kaufmann's Art Studio opening! We have been making the most extensive preparations for the Fall classes. Our representative has searched new markets—consulted many authorities, engaged expert instructors to obtain the materials and objects that will appeal to the modern home-maker.



Teachers who are anxious to help—now in the Studio. (Incidentally, you will be quick to appreciate the advantage of working in this large daylight room). Besides the regular staff of three instructors, we have engaged an Art Crafts consultant who is little short of genius in the art of fashioning these things for the home. She will help you make selection and give you complete instructions when you start your project.

BOROUGHS, TOWNSHIPS 'REGULAR'

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

Havey J. Boyle

THE men who make up the Pittsburgh radio programs have a difficult time pleasing a clientele they don't know and never see. One batch of letters will protest against too much jazz music, another batch will say there is too little jazz, and a third will demand more classical music. The program makers attempt to strike a medium and offer a variety.

* * *

It is the guess here that much of the classical music on the air is wasted. Most people who are ardent classical music fans, if they don't actually frown upon the radio as a musical instrument, merely tolerate it. Whereas the fellow who is uneducated and uncultivated musically is the fellow who is unashamed of his radio and boasts about it as he boasts of the mileage he gets out of a gallon of gas. He is the fellow who likes popular songs of the present and the past and music of the kind composed by Herbert, Kern, Frimal and others who have written light opera and musical comedies. The average radio fan has a suspicion that classical music is good, and hence it bothers him to hear it and find himself saying it isn't to his liking.

* * *

THERE is, too, a wide division between city people and country people in what they like to hear on the air. The folks on the farm are suspicious of a hot tune, while the sidewalks people don't get enjoyment out of a mouth organ rendition of "Turkey in the Straw."

In Pittsburgh each station seems to have a certain personality. I always take off my hat, for instance, when I dial in on KDKA. When I move to WCAE

I move the hat back on my head far enough to show the part, and light a cigaret. When I get WJAS I pull the hat down over one eye. Every station, I imagine, has its clientele in its mind's eye. The program boys must decide whether their people wear shawls and bonnets, or short skirts and rolled stockings, whether they smoke a pipe and wear slippers, or smoke cigarets and hum: "Voo-do-doo-do," when they tune in.

* * *

When George Jenks, a former Pittsburgher died, oldtimers remembered how he wrote nickel and dime thrillers in the days when young boys, instead of attending the movies, got their thrills from reading about Dick Slater in Liberty Boys, Frank and Dick Merriwell in Tip Top Weekly, and Young Wild West in novels of that title.

* * *

"CRACK!" The sound of a pistol caused a solitary horseman on the King's highway cautiously to dismount. That was the way a lot of them started, the authors getting a punch or a shot into the first line. Young Wild West was invariably arriving in the nick of time to save Arietta, a girl friend, from the evil intentions of a brute who meant no good.

SAFETY MEN'S PAY RAISE APPROVED

Referendum to Grant Police, Firemen Increase Carries By Enormous Majority

The proposal to increase the pay of Pittsburgh police and firemen was approved at the election yesterday by a 5-to-1 vote, according to partial returns.

Yes	96,685
No	18,964

The referendum urges that Council increase the wages in the two bureaus. It is not mandatory.

Under the referendum, the pay of first year men remains at $1,800, second year men at $1,900 and third year men at $2,040.

The proposal increases the pay of men with more than three years service at the rate of $120 for each subsequent year until a maximum of $2,520 is reached.

The referendum also increases the salaries of all officers in both police and fire bureaus.

WILT VICTOR AT WEST VIEW

A spirited battle for school director in West View featured the primary election in that borough. Complete unofficial returns show Howard H. Wilt, secretary of the West View Board of Trade, the winner over G. N. Mereness, present secretary of the school board, by a vote of 993 to 554.

The votes for justice of the peace, two to elect, follow: Jacque A. La Belle, 919; William J. Frenz, 441; Thomas B. McCallum, incumbent, 434; Thomas F. Emminger, incumbent, 291; Earl M. Buchanan, 195; George H. Wolff, 106. Burgess D. A. Atkinson, Councilmen G. A. H. Hendler, Walter F. Hunt, Elmer J. Thompson and John E. Reed, and Taxe Collector V. H. Walter, were renominated without opposition.

VOTING CLOSE AT EMSWORTH

W. C. Anderson was nominated for burgess of Emsworth at yesterday's primary, receiving 437 votes to 209 for his opponent, Clyde E. Bald. John R. Metz won the fight for tax collector.

The vote was Metz, 300; C. C. Ickes, incumbent, 221; Harry R. Ferguson, 169.

For justice of the peace, Arthur A. Davis was renominated with 371 votes, against 306 for Robert C. Graham. Grace H. Richardson for school director and R. D. Cooper, Charles H. Cook, Charles J. Horst and W. P. Jones for council had no opposition.

Wyke Wins Justice Race in Bridgeville

Chester A. Wyke won the nomination for justice of the peace of Bridgeville and George Baumarringe was nominated for tax collector. Burgess S. P. McCaffrey and four councilmen were unopposed.

Franklin Township Favors Montgomery

MRS. J. F. CRICHTON — MRS. IRENE HAZEN

In a Colonial kitchen—only the kitchen's part of the Home Makers' Exposition, arranged on the South Side by the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women. Mrs. Crichton, Mrs. Hazen and Mrs. James Ruffner constructed the kitchen, an outstanding feature.

WOMEN OPEN EXPOSITION

The home department of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women opened their "Home Makers' Exposition" this morning in the South Side market house. Mrs. John F. Sipple, national president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, opened the affair with an address of greeting to the women of Western Pennsylvania.

The exhibit, featuring the modern method of housekeeping as contrasted to that of earlier periods, contains interest for every home maker. Pittsburgh club women have, with much laborious detail, constructed booths in the market house to illustrate the varied phases of the home. The committee in charge of the exposition, under the direction of Mrs. John M. Phillips, strives for greater beauty and efficiency in the modern home. It is with this object in mind that the committee has arranged a series of afternoon programs to be given in the auditorium of South High School, Tenth and Carson streets. Well known lecturers on home economics have been scheduled to give short discussions and instruction at the meetings.

There is on exhibition at the show two typical homes. One, the home of a poor laborer, located on Bingham street, adjacent to the market, has been renovated and remodeled by the women at a very moderate cost. The home is an example of what marked improvements can be made with a little paint, some work and practically no money. The other house, donated by E. V. Babcock, is built on the second floor of the market house and is ultra-modern throughout.

The exposition will close Friday evening.

Steel Company Man Wins at Clairton

John R. McVey, of the Clairton Works, Carnegie Steel Company, decisively defeated three opponents for mayor in the Tuesday primary at Clairton. B. B. Samuels was second; Joseph McConnell, third, and W. A. Terrill, fourth. A hot fight for Council brought victory to Joseph Kirmeyer and John C. Baker. David Johnston was nominated for controller.

Waldschmidt, Sebolt Winners in Glenfield

Glenfield Republicans nominated Daniel Waldschmidt for burgess, and the Democrats chose the incumbent, George Sebolt. For tax collector, Ella M. Sebolt was the winner and Harry McCoombs was nominated for auditor.

Elizabeth Burgess Wins Renomination

Burgess W. P. Caldwell was renominated, defeating S. M. Painter, in Elizabeth. Herbert Dewar was nominated for school director. The four councilmen nominated were Harry L. Stollar, J. C. Marks, S. H. Craighead and E. P. Van Kirk.

Martin Is Nominated In Kilbuck Township

For the justice of the peace nomination of Kilbuck township Harry J. Martin was nominated over Albert Stringert. Charles Nock was nominated for tax collector and W. T. Heinig won the fight for auditor.

Election All Quiet In McKees Rocks; No Contests

The borough of McKees Rocks, center of many political battles, enjoyed the quietest election in its history.

None of the Republican candidates was opposed. The nominations were:

ROSS TOWNSHIP NAMES WRIGHT

Oliver M. Wright won a hectic race for treasurer of Ross Township, official returns showed today. He received a majority of 98 votes over all other opponents. Mrs. May W. Beatty was second, and J. W. Holmes third in a field of seven.

For township commissioner Elmer Anderson and Ferdinand Hein were renominated and C. W. Forbes won over W. J. Keist, incumbent. James S. McKain was nominated for school director and George G. Antill for justice of the peace without opposition.

PFISCHNER WINS IN MILLVALE

Burgess E. B. W. Pfischner, who smashed the Democratic control in Millvale, won his fight for renomination in the Republican primaries against Guy Mason, by a vote of 853 to 390. The fight for tax collector between Candidates Kinsey and Kraus was close and in doubt.

One of the surprises of the election was the close race in the Sharpsburg Democratic primaries between Thomas H. Hester, the Democratic candidate for re-nomination for jury commissioner and Thomas J. Dougherty, backed by former County Commissioner James Houlahen who resides in Millvale. Hester is trailing Dougherty by a couple of hundred votes.

Sharpsburg Burgess Loses Bitter Fight

Walter Berner, Democratic Burgess of Sharpsburg, and leader of the Democrats in that borough, went down to defeat at the hands of Dennis Casper, his opponent. The Democrats in Sharpsburg have been torn by dissension for some time and the Casper forces were aided by Justice of the Peace Anthony Ferrera.

COULDN'T FIND GUIDES

LIEUT. FRANK HOFFMAN — CLIFF S. BETTINGER

Flying directly towards Pittsburgh, these two men were overtaken by dusk and failed to find the city. Instruments indicated they were near, they said, but seeing no lights they turned towards far-off Columbus and were forced down in a cornfield near Yorkville, O. Neither was injured but they agreed that if Pittsburgh had been better marked for pilots the accident would have been averted.

BOLT ON KLINE DISCUSSED

Political observers pondered this question today. Some guessed that County Commissioner C. C. McGovern, arch independent, would enter the field as a candidate against the Mayor.

Others suggested that Judge Martin, despite his promise to abide by the result of the primary might try again, hoping to corral the Malone vote.

This suggestion carried the possibility that Senator Max G. Leslie, regarded as bitterly opposed to Mayor Kline, might throw his strength to any independent candidate.

Donaldson Ahead In Turtle Creek

Unofficial returns in Turtle Creek indicated that G. J. Donaldson had defeated George H. Phipps by a slight margin for burgess. Philip Jones was nominated for justice of the peace, and J. J. Crawford for tax collector. The unofficial winners for places on the school board were A. L. Marsh, J. M. Harper, J. T. Trevakis, A. R. Fulton and Warren Miller.

Dravosburg Favors Watkin for Burgess

Burgess B. Watkin, of Dravosburg, defeated John Classic and Adam Hickman. Harry C. Niss won a hot fight for tax collector.

HADDOCK LOSES IN DORMONT

Burgess W. S. Haddock, of Dormont, prominent in Amateur Athletic Union affairs, was defeated for renomination for burgess by Charles Chamberlain by a majority of 29 votes.

Haddock was leading Chamberlain until the last district, the eleventh, was reached, when Chamberlain forged ahead to victory.

A fight almost as sensational as that waged between Haddock and Chamberlain was the contest for the Republican nomination for tax collector. The incumbent, Robert S. Golden, defeated George E. Meyers, real estate broker and close associate of Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell, by 730 votes.

For tax collector: Golden, 1,974; Meyers, 1,254.

The Haddock forces and the Regular Republican Organization led by Golden split the Republican councilmanic nominations. Virginia Sheffler, backed by the Women's Republican Club of South Hills, made a sensational race, losing one of the councilmanic nominations by a margin of 66 votes. Earl Lewellyn and Dan B. Dougherty, backed by the Best-Golden faction, and J. Elmer Evans and Albert C. Staley, Haddock candidates, won the Republican councilmanic nominations. The vote follows:

Earl Lewellyn	1,863
Dan B. Dougherty	1,737
J. Elmer Evans	1,561
Albert C. Staley	1,517
Virginia Sheffler	1,451
George C. Seska	1,439
Paul R. Shueneman	1,330
Eva Holliday	1,246

Airplane Mishap Placed To Air-Mark Lack

By MAX HENRICI

Another case in which an aviator had to land in a cornfield because he could find no signs pointing to an airport came to light today. The incident shows that notwithstanding the progress that has been made in marking the Pittsburgh district for the guidance of fliers, there is need of more signs. Illuminated markers are specially needed.

Cliff S. Bettinger, sales promotion director for the Temple Radio Corporation, and Lieut. Frank Hoffman made a late start from Columbus on an airplane trip to Pittsburgh. Dusk set in about the time they supposed they were in this vicinity and were looking for a landing place.

FIND NO SIGN

They could find no signs, nothing to let them know where they could alight in safety. They started back to Columbus, but had to make a forced landing near Yorkville, O.

Had the Pittsburgh district been better marked for aviators, the accident would not have occurred, Lieut. Hoffman declared. Lieut. Hoffman praised the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph for its campaign to get all the local airways thoroughly marked.

Commendation also comes from the Aero Club of Pittsburgh. Louis T. Barry, the secretary, writes as follows:

CLUB EXTENDS THANKS

"The Aero Club og Pittsburgh wishes to take this opportunity to congratulate your paper on the campaign it is conducting to have all the cities and towns in this vicinity properly air-marked.

"The importance of being able to identify cities from the air cannot be over-emphasized, and it is very gratifying to see the success which your campaign is having. I am sure that I am voicing the opinion of all pilots and others in extending to the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph the greatest appreciation for the work being done and the best wishes for the success of your efforts."

FEW UPSETS IN COUNTY BALLOTS

Verosky Sweeps Braddock; Cavanaugh at Homestead; Wilkinsburg Has Upset

Few upsets marked the Republican primary election in the boroughs and townships of Allegheny County.

WILKINSBURG

The Wilkinsburg election brought defeat to one incumbent, Jess Langley, burgess, beaten by William L. Turner. Incomplete returns indicated a 3 to 2 victory for Turner, who was beaten by Langley, an independent candidate, four years ago.

In the Wilkinsburg fight for tax collector, Bill McKechnie, former manager of the Pirates, now boss of the St. Louis Cardinals, was decisively defeated for tax collector by Walter K. Elder, the incumbent.

HOMESTEAD

WEST HOMESTEAD

Burgess Robert Morrow, leading the Regular Republican organization, carried his slate of candidates to victory in West Homestead. Morrow, a candidate for re-election in the Republican primaries, defeated his opponent, H. G. Mowry, by a vote of 168 to 138. Walter Terrill, backed by Morrow, won his fight for re-nomination for tax collector against James McGuckin, by a vote of 180 to 136. Incomplete returns indicated the election of the Morrow councilmanic ticket.

M'KEESPORT

Charles Weissert was defeated by Mayor Lysle, candidate for re-election.

J. D. Weiss and Albert Johnson were renominated for council.

NORTH BRADDOCK

In North Braddock G. B. Mitchell won the nomination for burgess over George McGill and P. N. McDonald was renominated for tax collector, defeating P. J. McLeigh.

NORTH VERSAILLES TWP.

J. M. Miller was returned the nominee for treasurer of North Versailles Township; Edward Trautman, auditor; Frank McEvoy and K. J. Daily, school directors.

DRAVOSBURG

In Dravosburg E. Watkin was re-elected burgess, defeating John Classic and Adam Hickman by a 4 to 1 margin.

SEWICKLEY TOWNSHIP

RICHLAND TOWNSHIP

LIBERTY BOROUGH

Castle Shannon Picks Woman as Justice

After two of the most closely contested races in the history of Castle Shannon, Mrs. Beatrice K. Popp and John Mahony received the Republican nominations for justice of the peace and burgess, respectively. Mrs. Popp won by 12 votes over Joseph Amidick, while Mahony defeated his competitor, Henry Mueschke, by a plurality of 25. The Democratic nominee for burgess, Thomas P. Delaney, had no opposition. New council members chosen are Charles Wilsman, Edward Augustine, John Seible and Ezra Morrell.

Degelman Wins Ben Avon Battle

Justice of the Peace J. L. Degelman defeated David Hastings at Ben Avon. Daniel Carruthers, for burgess, and Hattie Spencer, for tax collector, were unopposed.

Will Rogers Says

WICHITA, Kan., Sept. 18.

Breakfast at Beverly Hills and dinner last night at Wichita. Plane full of passengers and fine trip. This morning will just hop down to Claremore.

They was opening my first talking picture last night in Los Angeles and charging those poor people five dollars, and I just couldn't stand by and be a party to such brigandage.

First night audiences pay their moneys to look at each other, so if they get stuck tonight, they can't blame me. It will be because they don't look good to each other.

Yours,
WILL.

BELLEVUE AND AVALON BURGESSES VICTORS IN PRIMARY

LONGMORE WINS BY MAJORITY OF 40 VOTES

Bower Beaten by Kirkland In Tax Collector Contest; Landslide for Ritchie

Burgess W. J. Longmore, of Bellevue, was renominated by a majority of 40 votes over John Nixon, according to unofficial returns. A. D. Kirkland won the nomination for tax collector over J. O. Bower, incumbent, and Elmer T. Greiner, incumbent, was nominated for justice of the peace.

R. D. Jenkinson, S. Frank McKee and Mrs. Belle M. Johnston were nominated for the three places on the school board. Harry B. Paker and Samuel B. Rheam were nominated for council from the First Ward. Other council candidates were unopposed.

POLICE FINANCE FAMILY'S TRIP

Oakland police, although busy keeping peace during the hectic election yesterday, took time off to contribute to a fund a brother officer started in behalf of a destitute family which the police were caring for since an automobile accident Sunday night. Fifty-six dollars was raised by the officers and the sum enabled the stranded family to start on their journey home to New York.

Saturday night, Charles Pauzat-French artist, his wife and two children were motoring to New York when they met with an accident in Oakland. Taken to the police station Pauzat found himself without funds to pay for repairing his car or for placing a forfeit with the police. The family was cared for at the station until yesterday when police raised sufficient funds to start them to New York.

'Bereaved Mother' Role Faked For Reward

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—For $25, which she never received, Mrs. Jennie Colburn wept over the grave of a 12-year-old boy she said was her son, but who, she admitted today, was not.

The lad, run down by a locomotive, wore a Boy Scout button and Boy Scouts interested themselves in establishing his identity. No one claimed the body for nearly a month. Mrs. Colburn appeared at the morgue shortly after the funeral and said the body was that of her son who disappeared six months before.

She told police she had been prompted by her husband to make the identification so they might get a $25 reward offered. She said she never got the money. She was held for a coroner's investigation today.

FIRE IMPERILS RUSSELTON

Fire fighting companies of Brackenridge, New Kensington and Springdale were summoned early today to quell flames, believed incendiary, which threatened to destroy the entire business district of Russelton, a little community near Tarentum.

The fire is said to have originated in a butcher shop owned by Stanley Czablicki. His daughter, Gertrude, 14, was awakened by smoke and aroused the family.

Three dwellings and several business places were damaged. Czablicki said he had received a Black Hand letter demanding that he leave town.

Mother, in Coma 50 Hours, Dies

Mrs. Catherine McGuckin, 34, of 317 Eighth avenue, West Homestead, died yesterday in Mercy Hospital following a 50-hour period of unconsciousness. She became a mother Friday and appeared to be recovering until the following day when she lapsed into a coma.

She was the wife of Joseph McGuckin, a candidate for tax collector in West Homestead.

HUGHES LEADS WASHINGTON TICKET

Has Substantial Majority In County Judicial Contest Over Opponents

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 18.—(AP.)—The incumben judges of Washington County held substantial leads over David M. McCloskey, Charleroi attorney, today, on the basis of unofficial returns in yesterday's primary race for the Republican nomination to the two places on the county bench.

In the race for controller, Guy Woodward, of Washington, was leading T. J. Underwood, of Washington, for 16 years controller. From 82 out of 184 districts, Woodward polled 7,689, and Underwood 5,842.

J. A. Seaman, of Washington, for seven years chief deputy sheriff, was leading William Greenlee, of Bentleyville, former coroner, and Bert Laird, of Claysville, former county detective, for sheriff. His election seemed assured.

Mrs. William Lane, of Washington, and Matthew Wilson, of North Strabane, were nominated for directors of the poor.

Lasting Softness

is another feature of this deodorizing sanitary protection

There are so many reasons why smart women prefer Kotex . . . here are some of them.

BECAUSE it stays soft . . . stays cool and light, women find Kotex better. There's no deceptive merely-surface softness about it. The air-cooled layers of filler keep Kotex comfortable longer.

And it deodorizes

Then there are other things you get only in Kotex. The clever shaping of the pad, for inconspicuous protection under the filmiest frocks. The way you can adjust layers of filler. The fact that it disposes so easily.

Why hospitals use it

Did you know that Kotex filler (Cellucotton absorbent wadding) is used in 85% of our leading hospitals? Surgeons prefer it for all absorptive purposes—including the most important surgical work. They use it because it is so wonderfully absorbent (5 times more, by test, than the finest cotton); so hygienically safe.

Use it once—and you'll be in no doubt as to its superiorities.

Kotex is Soft . . .

It's Extra Good "A"

LIBERTY "A" MILK

Have you tried it? We wish you would. We're pretty proud of this particular milk because it's ours. It comes from farms in the fragrant pine woods country of western Pennsylvania near Brookville—

A one hundred per cent "Liberty product from Liberty cows to Liberty customers."

You ought to see those cows! Pure bred aristocrats of the dairy world, every one of them. Tuberculin tested. Watched and tended as carefully as a family of children. And the farm buildings—immaculate! No less! You couldn't keep your own kitchen cleaner than we keep those milk houses and barns.

Judged by any standard, Liberty "A" Milk is exceptional milk. Exceptionally rich—exceptionally clean—exceptionally good. We don't have to take anybody's word for that because, you see, we produce it ourselves for your home. Yet, notwithstanding the exceptional care that is back of Liberty "A" Milk the price is only a few pennies more.

Available on regular daily service. driver or phone GRant 6900.

Real milk "quality" starts where the milk starts—with the dairy cow. The kind of milk any dealer sells in the city depends entirely on the kind of milk he gets from the country. Advertising claims and high pressure "sales talks" have nothing to do with that. Child nourishment can't be expressed in terms of self-confessed superiority. You can't feed kiddies on adjectives.

FAGIN DECLARED COUNTERFEIT EXPERT

Police Assert Haas, Facing Street Car Pass Fraud, Served Term for 'Queer'

That the arrest several days ago of Joseph Haas, "modern Fagin," charged with the manufacture of fake street car passes, has again brought into the hands of the law one of the outstanding counterfeiters of the country, was claimed yesterday by Inspector of Detectives Frank Boyd.

Haas, according to police and government records, knows more about the making of Federal currency than experts connected with the treasury department, Boyd said.

It was while serving a Federal sentence in Leavenworth Prison that Haas received pardon from President Taft, on condition that he reveal to government agents secret methods of chemistry used in counterfeiting, Boyd said Federal records reveal. Following the pardon he returned to his home in Pittsburgh, where he has lived in seclusion until his recent arrest.

Haas at one time, Boyd continued, achieved fame as the discoverer of bichloride of gold for the treatment of alcoholism, but this later was said to have resulted in charges that he stole the formula from Dr. William L. Barclay, now dead, with whom he frequently conferred on chemistry problems.

Girl Will Marry Youth Sentenced To Prison

Thus did Miss Marie Gerdis, 20, signify that she intended to marry Lester Pilet, 21, who, today, leaves for the Federal Penitentiary in Atlanta.

Pilet, an alleged drug addict, was convicted on charges of possession and sale of narcotics and sentenced to a year and a day.

"Les will make a comeback," Miss Gerdis declared. "He loves me and I'll marry him and then he'll know he has some one waiting and fighting for him."

ENGINEER HERE WINS HONOR

William C. Cushing, Engineer of Standards of the Pennsylvania Railroad, has just been notified that he has been awarded on honorary membership in the American Railway Engineering Association. This honor, which has previously been conferred upon only five other men, comes, "in recognition of outstanding contributions to the science of Railway Engineering, and for invaluable services rendered in the capacity of Committee Member, Committee Chairman, Director, Vice-president, President, and Past-president, and for acknowledged preeminence in railway engineering and management."

Mr. Cushing has been affiliated with the Pennsylvania Railroad since 1887, and has held many responsible positions with the organization in the Maintenance of Way and Engineering Divisions.

SPOT RAIDERS IN PENN AVE. BARROOM

Dry Officials, Recognized, Arrest Three; Auto Load Of Liquor Is Confiscated

Three men were arrested when prohibition agents raided an alleged barroom on the second floor of a building at 5130 Penn avenue late yesterday, reports at prohibition headquarters stated.

The raiding agents were in the barroom and had purchased liquor and then were recognized, the reports state. The prisoners said they were Roy G. Long, John Walters and John Brady, all of the Penn avenue address. A quantity of beer and gin were confiscated, the raiders reported.

Trailed from a house in the East Liberty district which prohibition agents say they had been watching, an automobile load of moonshine whisky was confiscated and the alleged driver arrested late yesterday. The automobile, containing 45 gallons of moonshine, was seized in Morewood avenue at Baum boulevard. Harry Rosen, 32, of 5541 Avondale street, the alleged driver, was arrested.

Resolution Rapping Cannon Not Recent

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 18.—(AP.)—The Associated Press yesterday carried a story under a Reidsville, N. C., dateline stating that the quarterly conference of the Yanceyville circuit of the Western North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, had on Monday adopted a resolution condemning alleged stock market dealings of Bishop James Cannon, Jr. This story was in error.

The quarterly conference at which the resolution was presented was held several months ago, the Rev. John C. Wooten, of Durham, presiding elder of the Durham district, said yesterday. The presiding elder, who presided at the quarterly conference, said that there were approximately 30 persons present and entitled to vote and that approximately six votes were cast on the Cannon resolution.

The Associated Press is glad to make this correction.

A clear skin is irresistible

...in fact, popularity depends upon it

THAT priceless treasure—a clear, flawless, lovely skin—charms, with admiration, the hearts of men.

First impressions cannot be good without a clear skin—first impressions are quickly made and are not soon forgotten. Old friends may excuse pimples and secretly sympathize but new acquaintances may not be so charitable. Skin blemishes are not inviting. Neither can they be covered up. They embarrass. Hold people back. Steal away joy and happiness.

A lovely—clear skin—is within the reach of all. To those who have lost it, hope is offered. You, too, may have a beautiful skin, rose-petal in texture, pretty as a picture and without a single pimple.

Many thousands have regained their strength and charm by taking S.S.S. It is Nature's own blood tonic for raising the body's power of resistance to disease, improving the appetite, building firm flesh, and clearing the skin. S.S.S. promotes constructive metabolism (healthy body building). It increases the number of red-blood cells.

The way to the skin is through the blood. Strong, healthy blood nourishes the body and fights against infection and disease.

All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

S.S.S. is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it.

LITTLE CAESAR By W. R. Burnett

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

In the hold-up of the Casa Alvarado, Chicago night club, Detective Capt. Jim Courtney is shot and killed by Rico, Sam Vettori's gangster lieutenant. Sam is furious, fearing the consequences, but Rico, unafraid, calls Sam a coward and assumes his leadership. The gang gives Rico a banquet to celebrate his rise to power. When Tony Passa losing his nerve, attempts to squeal about the hold-up, he is shot dead by Rico. The latter, broadening his field, forces "Little Arnie" to give up a share of his gambling house profits. He also takes his woman, Blondy Belle. She tells him Arnie is cheating on the split. Rico, pleased with his power, resents the absence of one of his gangsters, Joe Massara, the dude. He finds him performing at a high-class night club with his girl, Olga Stassoff. Joe, fearing Tony's fate, is forced to fall in with Rico's underworld plans. Flaherty, a detective, arrives to interrupt the conference. Rico meets Blondy and hears more of Little Arnie's duplicity. She warns him to kill Arnie or get it himself. Alone, on the street, he is fired on from a car. He drops and receives only a flesh wound. His gang gathers and an underworld doctor arrives. With his gang, Rico, seeking revenge, forces his way into Little Arnie's place, trapping him and his hired gunmen. Little Arnie and his followers are run out of town by Rico, whose power now makes him famous in Little Italy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXIII.

NO one regretted the passing of Little Arnie. He had never been straight with anybody. No one could depend on him and he had none of the qualities that go to make up a good gang chief. The wonder is that he lasted as long as he did.

Arnie's fall was the signal for a series of minor troubles. Jew Mike, whose joint Bat Carillo and his gang had demolished, fled to the South Side, where he opened a couple of vice joints. Kid Burg moved to Cicero, and Squint Maschke, after a short exile, offered his services to Rico, who gave him 24 hours to make a second disappearance. With the fall of Arnie's three lieutenants, the last vestiges of his rule vanished.

"You better lay down, Rico, and get some rest," said Otero; "you ain't looking so good."

"I'm O. K.," said Rico.

But this was bravado. He had slept only four hours in the last two days; his face was pale and drawn and he suffered from an intermittent fever. His wound, though a slight one, was not healing properly, and The Doc had warned him that he had better take it easy. Inactivity at any time was abhorrent to Rico; now it was impossible. His big chance had come. Nothing could stop him now but a hunk of lead in the right spot.

Rico, a little unsteady on his legs, stood staring at Otero.

"You're sure making yourself at home," he said.

"Well," said Otero, "I think I stay."

Rico laughed.

"Listen, I don't need no nurse. Beat it."

"No," said Otero, tossing away his cigaret and starting to roll another one, "I think I stay."

Rico walked over to the bed and stood staring at it. If he had been alone he would have flopped down and been asleep in an instant.

"Think I'll catch a little sleep," he said; "you beat it, Otero."

Otero didn't say anything. He finished rolling his cigaret, lit it, and tipped his hat down over his eyes.

"Damn it," cried Rico, "beat it! I'm sick of you trailing me like a Chicago Avenue bull. I ain't gonna drop in my tracks."

"All right," said Otero, "you lay down. I finish my cigaret."

Rico threw himself on the bed fully dressed except for his coat. He put his hands under his head and tried to keep awake by staring at the ceiling. But in a moment he was asleep.

Otero sat looking at his chief. All along he'd known. Rico was a great man like Pancho Villa. Even in Toledo when he and Rico were sticking up filling-stations, he knew. A little, skinny young fellow with a little mustache, sure, that's what everybody saw. But everybody didn't have the eyes of Otero.

Otero flung his second cigaret on the floor and rolled another one. Rico turned from side to side in his sleep and mumbled. His face was white and drawn. Otero got to his feet and went over to look at him. No, Rico was not well. Otero put his hand on Rico's forehead. Fever! He stood looking down at his chief, shaking his head.

"Like hell!" cried Rico; "you can't hand Rico none of that bunk. No Irish cop'll ever put cuffs on Rico."

Otero went back to his chair and sat dozing under his big hat, while Rico tossed from side to side and talked.

Someone knocked at the door. Otero was slow in opening his eyes, but Rico sat up, stared for a moment, then jumped out of bed and got his automatic.

"Go see who it is," he said to Otero; "don't open the door. Ask them."

Otero went over to the door and called:

"Who's there?"

There was a short silence, then a voice with a marked Italian accent said:

"A couple of right guys. We want to see Rico."

Otero turned and looked at Rico, who came over to the door.

"Listen, you right guys," said Rico, "I'll give you a one-two-three to get out of that hall and then I'm gonna start pumping lead. Got it?"

There was a pause.

"Rico," and another voice, a deeper voice with no trace of an accent, "you don't know me, but I'm Pete Montana and I want to talk turkey."

Otero and Rico exchanged a stupefied look.

"Pete," said Rico, "do you know the Big Boy?"

"Sure,'

"James Michael ODoul."

Pete Montana, followed by Ritz Colonna, his lieutenant, came in. Montana, in private life Pietro Fontano, was a big, solemn, respectable-looking Italian. He was dressed very quietly, wore no jewelry, and carried a cane. Colonna, once a ham prize-fighter, was a small, bull-necked man with a battered, dark face. His clothes were shabby and he wore an old cap on the side of his head.

Montana and Rico stood measuring each other. Rico looked small and frail beside the robust Montana, but Rico wasn't impressed, for Montana looked fat and puffy, like Sam Vettori. Otero barred the door.

PETTING PATTY — Cupid's Hour — By Machamer

EASY By Beatrice BURTON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Ann Marie Macy is the "easy" type of girl who is continually imposed upon. Young and pretty, she dreams of a future as an artist, saving from her earnings by painting cards and working in her father's bookstore, but, as her selfish, flapper sisters, Alice and Jeanie, borrow her dresses for their own ends, so her brother, Howard, borrows her savings. The art course plan is shelved when Ann Marie uses the money in extricating Howard from an entangling alliance with Leota Ingram, the town's bad girl. Even her mother's pendant is pawned to pay Howard's fare to the West when he loses his bank job. Neal Forsythe, dashing Don Juan, visiting the wealthy Lawlers, wins Ann Marie's heart. Mrs. Lawler forbids her son to further accompany the Macy girls, calling them "night-time friends." Alice evens accounts by getting herself engaged to John Lawler. To celebrate, Johnny, Alice, Ann Marie, Neal, Jeanie and Brookie have a party at a roadhouse. Neal proposes to Ann Marie. Ann Marie goes on a Dutch-treat party with Neal, who forgets to return her change. Instead he steals a coffee pot for her from the roadhouse. He returns to New York and Ann Marie begins to save to join him there. Late at night she is aroused by a noise outside her door. It is Howard, her brother, who has returned with a wife. Ann Marie tells her father about her engagement to Neal. Mr. Macy sends Neal a letter, reprimanding him for wanting to keep the engagement secret. Ann Marie follows Neal to New York. She is downhearted when she learns Leota Ingram has been working for Neal as a model. The prospect of getting work with a publishing house excites Ann Marie.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXIX.

THE upshot of the argument was that Neal finally went across the street to the drug store and telephoned to Jim Goodwin.

"He's coming. I knew he would," he told Ann Marie when he got back to the flat. "He'll be here at seven."

Early in the afternoon Ann Marie began to get ready for him.

While Neal took a Sunday afternoon nap on the narrow bed in his dressing closet, she dusted the big studio and set the small table before the fireplace for three.

Then she went out to shop for things for a cold supper. Rye bread and thin slices of boiled ham, Roquefort cheese and olive oil and a big head of lettuce for salad. Six rolls and a half-pint of cream for coffee.

Ann Marie had to break another $5 bill to pay for the things. She stood beside the counter in the little delicatessen, counting the money that was left in her handbag. . . She had spent almost $20 for food in three days!

She had known that Neal was "broke," and so she had said nothing about splitting their expense 50-50, but had bought all the food they had eaten and paid for it herself.

"But I won't be able to do it much longer," she thought dismally, "unless Jim Goodwin does find some work for me to do."

Back in her own little apartment she opened her trunk and took all of her drawings from the bottom of it. She frowned as she looked them over. Once she had thought they were very good, but now they struck her as being ordinary and flat-looking.

But she took them with her when she went into Neal's flat at 6 o'clock and began to get the supper.

He had gone out and had bought the Sunday papers in her absence. They were strewn all about him on the floor now, and he was smoking a cigaret, dropping the ashes on the rug.

"Neal, you ought to get dressed. It's almost time for Jim to get here," Ann Marie said to him at 10 minutes to seven. "And I must pick up those papers, too, if you don't mind."

He raised his eyes and smiled at her.

"Gosh, you look pretty in that little apron," he said. "You look like somebody's cute little wife."

But he didn't get out of his chair to dress.

At five minutes to seven Ann Marie spoke to him again.

"Neal, I hate to have Jim Goodwin see this place looking so untidy," she said, pleadingly. "Please do go and put on your coat and a clean collar, and let me clean things up."

A blank expression came into his face.

"Gosh, I don't own a clean collar," he said. "I forgot to go to the Chinaman's for my laundry yesterday. His shop's over on Charles street. I suppose, if you went to the back door, he'd give you my clean collars, wouldn't he?"

Three minutes later Ann Marie was out in the windwashed street, racing along towards the Chinaman's shop. She found it, went down a narrow little alley, and knocked on the back door.

After a minute or two a fat, sleepy-looking Chinaman opened the door, and Ann Marie told him what she wanted.

She waited in the darkness while he hunted through dozens and dozens of marked bundles of laundry. At last he found Neal's and brought it to her.

It was a big one with shirts and undersuits and handkerchiefs in it, along with the collars. Ann Marie gave the Chinaman a $2 bill and started back to Susquehanna Hall.

As she opened the door of the dimly-lighted vestibule a big shining car came swinging into the street — Jim Goodwin's car.

Ann Marie saw it, and flew up the stairs as fast as she could fly. She didn't want Jim to see her, carrying this big bundle of washing into the building.

"Hurry up and dress! Jim's here!" she said breathlessly to Neal when she reached the flat on the top floor, and thrust the bundle into his arms.

She had her coat and hat off, and her apron on, by the time Jim's knock came on the door. Her run in the cold wind had whipped bright color into her cheeks and there were stars in the depths of her eyes.

She didn't know what a picture she made when she opened the door and stood there against the candlelight of the room behind her.

And a smile was in Jim Goodwin's steady brown eyes as he took the hands she held out to him.

"It's fine to see you again," he said.

It was fine to see him again, Ann Marie told herself. She had forgotten how nice his voice was and how easy it was to talk to him. He struck her now as being a very comfortable sort of person to be with.

She had been half afraid to see him again, and Neal had said he was in love with her—"hay-wire" over her, as Neal had put it.

But now that she was with him, she wasn't the least bit afraid of him. She simply felt friendly and happy and contented, somehow.

"I'm getting supper," she said to him, vanishing for a moment behind the screen. "That is, I'm making coffee. I bought everything else at a store down the street."

As soon as she had said that she was sorry. . . . She had not meant to tell Jim or anybody else that she was paying for the food that was set out on Neal's table these days.

But Jim didn't seem to notice it.

"I'm sure it will be very good coffee," he answered cheerfully. "Do you mind if I smoke my pipe?"

Ann Marie came out from behind the screen.

"No. I love to see a man smoke a pipe," she said, filling the water goblets on the table. "It looks so—oh, I don't know—anyway, I like to see a man smoking one."

She watched him light his and settle down in a big chair near the fireplace.

"Neal will be here in a second," she said. "He's putting on his coat."

She could feel his eyes on her as she turned away from the table and began to stack the folded Sunday papers at one end of the long table in the middle of the room.

"Where do you live? In this building?" he asked, after a long silence, and she nodded.

"Next door."

Another silence.

"Neal says you want to get some work," he said next. He thought you might be able to do some pictures for a child's book, or something like that."

"Oh, I couldn't! I'm not good enough—not yet!" And Ann Marie's face flamed. "You see, I thought if I could go to a school where they taught drawing and painting for a while—"

She broke off in the middle of a sentence. Then, after a moment, she went on:

"I know I can paint pretty well—but not well enough. So I thought if I could get some work and pay my way through a good art school of some kind, perhaps I would be able to make money painting later on."

Jim nodded. But before he had time to answer her the door of the dressing closet opened and Neal came out into the room. He had on a clean collar and shirt.

"Here, I'm the butler in this outfit," he said, and brought the pot to the table.

He held her chair while she sat down.

Neal never had done that for her, she couldn't help thinking as she began to pour the coffee.

Neal never did anything for her, as a matter of fact. He was one of those careless men who never open a door for a woman or help her into an automobile, or hold a chair for her at the table. . . . But then most men were like that, thought Ann Marie, who really knew very little of men. . . . Most men were thoughtless and careless creatures. Just big, grownup boys, that's what they were.

She smiled into Neal's face as she handed him his cup, and all her love for him was in her smile.

* * *

"I think Ann Marie would like to read a book for my uncle," Jim said when the little meal was over and the dishes cleared away.

"Read a book?" asked Ann Marie, puzzled.

Neal laughed. "She doesn't know what you mean, Jim," he said. "For a girl whose father owns a book store she knows less about books than anybody I ever knew before."

And then he explained what "reading a book" meant.

"Jim's uncle owns a big publishing house, as I told you," he said, while Ann Marie listened intently. "And they hire a lot of people to read books to see if they are the kind of books they want to publish. . . . And Jim thinks perhaps you'd like to read one for his uncle's company."

Ann Marie shot a quick glance at Jim from her corner of the sofa. He was smiling at her in his friendly, kind way.

"You say, yourself, that you aren't ready to try your hand at real pictures yet," he said to her, "and you do want to make some money. So if you want to read and shorten up a book for us, I'll be glad to fix it up for you. It would be a child's book in all probability."

Ann Marie sighed doubtfully. She wasn't sure that she could do that sort of work. And yet she needed money.

"Then there's another thing. You could do advertising drawings for a company I happen to know about," Jim added. "Black-and-white sketches of girls in fashionable dresses—"

"Oh, yes, I could do that! I know I could!" sang out Ann Marie, all self-confidence suddenly. "That's the sort of thing I really can do! Wait I'll show you my drawings."

As she started across the big shadowy studio there came a loud pounding on the door that led into the hall. There was a sound of voices out on the landing. High, shrill voices and a sudden shriek of laughter.

"Visitors," said Ann Marie, stopping in her tracks. "Oh, isn't that too bad! We were having such a nice time, weren't we?"

Neal stood up and walked to the door.

"It's a lot of people who live in this neck of the woods," he said. "They're not bad."

He opened the door.

How to Keep Well

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D.

Golden Rule and Aid to Public Health

THROUGH the public health service of the government, the Rockefeller Foundation, and the many other health agencies, North America has made remarkable progress in public health. This may well be said to be the healthiest section of the world.

DR. COPELAND

Other countries follow our lead in endeavoring to improve the national health. Recently Mexico sent a representative, Dr. Villaneuva, to the United States to see what that country can do to establish an effective health organization.

With all its many troubles and domestic discord, Mexico realizes that the strength of the country depends on the health of its people. Its children must be protected. At present the death rate is entirely too high.

In an interview, Dr. Villaneuva said: "Yellow fever and typhus fever have now disappeared altogether and acute outbreaks of malaria do not occur any longer. There are no more epidemics." This is, of course, the result of public health education. Such favorable conditions could not prevail without it.

Now Mexico is trying to improve conditions so that infant welfare will benefit and to wipe out tuberculosis. This is indeed a fertile field and worthy of every effort.

Each one of us can do something to improve the public health. Children in the schools are taught this. The press and the radio carry messages to the housewife about improving the living conditions in the home. All these things are reflected in the health of the community.

Proper disposal of garbage keeps the flies away and hastens the destruction of the rats.

Hospitals and free clinics offer to the families in moderate circumstances the best of advice and care. It is understood now that our sick ones should not be cared for at home unless facilities are sufficient to guarantee rapid and proper recovery.

The Golden Rule should not be lost sight of in the matter of illness. What we do to guard the health of each of our dear ones is really a community service. Every person kept well and out of the hospital leaves that one place for somebody who is sicker and perhaps poorer.

The Peace Offering -:- By Madge Geyer

LOVE spats! Were there ever two in the world who didn't have them? And about the silliest things imaginable. She pouts at some fancied slight and he gets stubborn and then before they know it they're quarreling. And she cries all night and he nurses his injured vanity until morning and then with the new day comes a flood of remorse. She writes a penitent little note and calls a messenger and rushes it to him. And he goes to the florist and sends a huge box of flowers with "all his love" and the telephone wires hum and sing with self reproaches and accusations—and everything's lovely again—until the next time!

Oh dear, why must lovers be so foolish? If they could but realize that each little spat leaves a scar that doesn't entirely heal and each peace offering is less sincere, they'd never quarrel. Think first, then speak, and you'll never need bother with peace offerings, for they are the first step on the road to lost love.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

The Engaged Couple

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

When a couple has been engaged for some time, and neither her parents nor his parents have visited or met, is it not up to the young lady to invite the young man's parents to her home, or does it not matter who does the inviting first? BOB.

YES, it does matter very much, sir. The parents of the young man should, within twenty-four hours after he has told them of his engagement, go to call on the young lady, and tell her how delighted they are to welcome her into the family. After this important call has been made, either may invite the other to a party.

The Engagement Dinner

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

A young man and a young lady have been "keeping company" for about six months, and they consider themselves practically engaged. A question arose as to whose parents should invite the other's parents to dinner. Will you please answer as to whose parents the inviting falls upon? READER.

IF the couple really are engaged, and the young man tells his parents the news, it is their social duty to go at once to call on the fiancee of their son and to welcome her into their family. After this important visit, either parents may invite the others to dine.

Conforming to An Unusual Request.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: Recently, upon moving to another city, I asked a young lady with whom I had been quite friendly, for the privilege of writing to her. She gave me permission and about six letters have been exchanged between us. The other day I received a letter from her requesting me to discontinue all correspondence between us and to break up our friendship; giving the reason that she had met another young man and preferred to accept his attentions rather than mine. She also asked me to send her a written acknowledgment of her letter. Will you please give me some idea as to what I should say in the acknowledgment of her letter? A PERPLEXED BOY.

I CAN easily understand that you are a "perplexed boy," but let's make up our mind to summon our good sportsmanship and write the young lady a dignified note. Perhaps something like this:

Dear Lorelei:

Thank you for your note and for your directness and honesty. I shall, of course, respect your wishes, as you set them forth in your letter, and shall not write to you.

Best wishes to you,

Sincerely yours.

LOVE'S AWAKENING

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Prince Georges Is Placed in Katherine's Care

THAT Katie also had heard the Underwood car coming into the farmyard, I knew by the quick furtive glance she sent through the window nearest to her, which commands the driveway.

"Qveek!" she exclaimed. "I tink dey need sometings. Dey got—"

The rest of her sentence did not reach my ears if, indeed, it was ever uttered. For my little maid was fairly skimming over the hall floor to the door opening upon the side veranda in front of which the Underwood car had drawn up. I hurried after her, catching Lillian's voice in quick interrogation.

"Where is Mrs. Graham? Please tell her——ah! Madge!"—as I followed Katie out on the steps—"what room can we give this young man?"

Her head moved ever so slightly to the figure of Prince Georges, who with bandaged head and pallid face was leaning back against her supporting arms and those of Noel Veritzen on the other side of him. His eyes were closed, but he opened them as Lillian spoke, and smiled weekly at me.

"Please forgive me—" he began, but Harry Underwood turned from the wheel of the car and silenced him imperatively.

"Not another word," he said with kindly gruffness. "Mrs. Graham understands everything, and you need all your strength to get upstairs."

I already had turned to Katie with a query.

"Is Mr. Graham's room in readiness for him?"

"Yah! I change all sheets, eferyting dees morning, sveep, doost, eferyting. She all feex."

"Then run up and turn down the sheets, and lay out some pajamas of Mr. Graham's. As you go, ask Mrs. Bickett to come down at once, but—" I turned to Katie and lowered my voice to a murmur—"don't let anybody else—anybody in that room especially—hear you tell her."

Purposely I had avoided speaking Mary's name, for fear Prince Georges might hear it. But Katie caught my meaning, and her eyes lighted with the thrill of intrigue, which no matter how trivial, is fod and drink to her.

"I g tcha," she said with the odd combination of American slang and foreign accent which affords amusement to all who hear her.

Mr. Underwood nodded a vigorous approval as I turned back to the car.

"That's a good choice," he said. "He'll be right next door to me, where I can keep an eye on him."

"But I can't take Mr. Graham's room——"

"Will you shut up?" Mr. Underwood demanded, and I guessed that the young scion of royalty had never before been thus addressed. I saw that he stiffened slightly for a second. Then he relaxed, with a wan attempt at a smile, and closed his eyes again.

"The Dicky-bird and I won't need two rooms for the next few days," Mr. Underwood said significantly. "We'll be like the men in the lodging houses, where one rents the bed in the daytime and the other at night. We'll be doing sentry-go. Ah! there, Katrina. Dr. Pettit said for you to take a look at young Mr. Jackson here before we took him into the house. He said to tell you he'd had a shot of this—" he handed her a scribbled slip of paper—"just before he left the hospital."

Katherine glanced at the paper, then stepped upon the running board, scanned the young prince's face keenly, and put her practiced fingers upon his pulse.

"No injuries except to his head?" she asked.

"None except a couple of bruises."

"Then we won't need a stretcher, and here's Jim now. You three can manage to carry him upstairs."

"I can carry him myself," Harry Underwood said with natural pride in his magnificent strength which he always has possessed.

"Yes, but you're not going to do it alone," Katherine said calmly. "You haven't been discharged from my care so very long, you know."

What had happened to cause this sudden removal of Prince Georges from the hospital where the surgeons had said he must stay for two or three days?

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

Trying on the High Hat

EVERY now and then, I plan to cultivate the art of being disagreeable. YOU know what I mean—high hat, self-important, critical. Snooty!

* * *

It is far less trouble to be easy-going, good-natured and genial. It gets you more friends. But toplofttiness gets you more front-page advertising. So many people seem to fall for it!

* * *

Sometimes I suspect that most people LIKE to be snubbed and high-hatted. Oh, yes they do! They eat it up!

* * *

Who is the man who always gets the best service, the best portion of the steak, and the window-table in the restaurant? Is it the one who is easy to please, who jollies the waiter and never registers a kick? It is NOT!

HELEN ROWLAND

* * *

It is the cantankerous old gentleman, who glares at the bus-boy, sniffs at the food, and will call for the head-waiter and raise the roof if things don't suit him.

* * *

Who is the woman that a man thinks he cannot LIVE without? Is it the one who can't live without him? The one who is always delighted when he shows up, always waiting for his telephone call, always prompt for an appointment, and always eager to please him? Ga-ga! Don't make me laugh!

* * *

Nay, verily. It is not the woman who looks up to him as the sun of her existence, but the one who treats him like one of the footlights! The one who breaks her dates with him as casually as she would break a muffin; who uses him for a messenger boy or a handy-man, accepts him merely on sufferance, and treats him like the "spare" on the back of her car.

* * *

Who is the woman that all the other women in the club or the clique toady to and cater to and hover around, and elect their leader? Is it the sweet, simple soul who is "nice to everybody?" You know it isn't! It's the woman with the highest hat, the broadest "A," the most patronizing manner, and the biggest capacity for putting on dog. They may not love her; but they "feature" her and star her!

* * *

Who is the husband that treads a chalk line and never wobbles on the straight and narrow path? Is it the one whose wife generously gives him plenty of rope, and likes to see him dancing with all the pretty girls? No, mates! It is the one whose wife starts a police patrol at the altar, and makes him feel like a prisoner on parole, all the way from there to the grave.

* * *

Human nature is not mean and hard and "ornery." It's just soft and impressionable and easily bluffed. It has all the humility of a worm—and the only way to make an impression on a worm is to STEP ON IT! That's how the high-hatters, the snobs, the climbers and the professional cynics get by. They have all the rest of us beautifully bluffed!

* * *

Tell me, how does one manage to look BORED? And superior? I want to try on the High Hat—right after lunch!

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Thursday, September 19

A DAY of rather routine and unimportant affairs is the forecast made from the prevailing lunar transits. The outstanding figure of Venus in adverse relation to Luna may bespeak small anxieties of a domestic, social or affectional nature. It would be wise to have an eye to maintaining harmony and amiability in all personal contacts.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of fairly routine affairs, with things moving along in the accustomed grooves. It would be well to maintain hramony and affability in all relations lest unhappiness mar the domestic, social or affectional affiliations.

A child born on this day may move through life in fairly routine channels, with nothing more serious to combat than trival personal anxietes or inharmonies.

TWENTY-SIX | WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1929 | BEST IN PITTSBURGH

BRAVES LAST, YET FEARED

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

Mack Rates Grove Best | Sheely Equals Record
Faith in Buc Discard | Willoughby Iron Man
Last Flag Step Hardest | Fight Stall Suspected

FOUR A'S ON CONNIE'S ALL-STAR TEAM

THERE has been much discussion as to the relative merits of the leading members of the Athletics' pitching staff and their chances of holding the Cub sluggers in check in the coming world series. Many have expressed the opinion that Rube Walberg has greater speed than Bob Grove, while others take the view that George Earnshaw is better than either of the left-handers and is the real topliner of the Mackmen's staff.

Connie Mack

Now comes an indirect decision on the question by no less an authority than Manager Connie Mack himself. Connie does not openly proclaim any one of his pitchers as being superior to another, but it is significant that when the tall tactician was asked to pick an all-American League team for 1929 and limited himself to a single choice for the pitcher's place, he selected Grove as his slabsman.

IN MAKING what he thinks would be the strongest team that could be formed of this year's material in the American League, Mack awarded four of the nine positions to members of his own club. Aside from Grove as the pitcher, he chose Mickey Cochrane for the catcher's berth, Jimmy Foxx for first base and Al Simmons for left field.

It will be noted that in these selections Mack concurs with Babe Ruth in the latter's nominations for the year's all-star team. Ruth had both major leagues from which to select his "best club," whereas Mack was restricted to the junior girdle, but the Babe nevertheless picked Grove, Cochrane, Foxx and Simmons for their respective positions on his stellar aggregation.

Bob Grove

Asked why he did not select a right-hand pitcher as well as a left-hander, Mack explained: "It's too hard a job to do in a little while, or at short notice, for we have a number of great right-handers in our league this season."

SPEAKING of right-hand hurlers, Mack believes he has picked up another winner for next year in a Pittsburgh discard. That flinger is Lee Roy Mahaffey, whom the Athletics purchased the other day from the Portland (Ore.) club, of the Pacific Coast League, along with George Snider, also a right-hand boxman. The Pirates tried Mahaffey in 1926 and 1927 and looked him over again on the training trip last spring, finally releasing him outright to Portland in part payment for Pitcher Larry French. Mahaffey was a consistent winner during the latter part of the Coast League season, and Mack is confident that he has at last found himself and will be a serviceable man for the A's in 1930.

THE Cubs have been experiencing a tough time clinching the National League pennant, new evidence that the last game needed is the hardest to win. After they beat the Dodgers Sunday, all that they needed to sew up the flag was one more victory for themselves or one more defeat for the Pirates.

But on Monday, while the Bruins were loafing, the Pirates turned in and won two games from the Phils. Yesterday, the Bucs not only downed the Quakers again, but the Cubs were trimmed twice by the Robins, leaving Chicago still a step away from the league championship. In addition to delaying the pennant cinching, the Corsairs also got an even break in the season's series with the Phils by winning yesterday. They have lost only one series so far, that with the Giants.

WHEN Earl Sheely drew a base on balls from Harry Smythe and another from Claude Willoughby during the Pirates' eight-run winning rally in the seventh round against the Phillies yesterday, he equaled an all-time major league record by getting two walks in a single inning.

Earl Sheely

The local first sacker is only the sixth National League player and the thirteenth in any major league credited with two passes in one inning. The others are Piggy Ward, Hugh Duffy, Honus Wagner, Jess Barnes and Ross Youngs in the National, and Burt Shotton, Hugh High, George Orme, Joe Judge, Tris Speaker, Ira Flagstead and Johnny Tavener.

ONLY one other player ever received two bases on balls in one inning while wearing a Pittsburgh uniform. That player was Honus Wagner, and the game in which he became one of the holders of the standing record took place 12 years ago. Flagstead, now a Pirate, was playing for the Boston Americans when he walked twice in an inning on May 8, 1925. Wagner's two passes in one inning were received from Pete Schneider, pitching for Cincinnati, in the fifth inning of the afternoon game of Labor Day, September 3, 1917, at Forbes Field. That was one of the final noteworthy incidents of Wagner's major league career, as he retired at the close of the 1917 season.

CLAUDE WILLOUGHBY, pitcher for the Phils, is one of the workhorses of the major leagues. Yesterday's game here was the forty-fourth in which the tireless toiler has officiated on the mound for his club during the present season.

Only one other pitcher in the big show has worked in a greater number of games than Willoughby this year. Guy Bush, of the Cubs, tops the entire list with a record of having pitched in 47 contests up to date. Fred Marberry, iron man of the Senators, is the leader in the American League. He has pitched in 43 engagements.

FISTIC fans were not surprised to learn that, after an examination yesterday, physicians had pronounced Victorio Campolo fit to enter the ring and the New York Boxing Commission had ordered the Argentine heavyweight to go through with his twice-postponed bout with Phil Scott in Brooklyn next Monday night.

The fight, set for tonight after the first postponement from September 11, was put back again with the announcement that Campolo was suffering from a back ailment, but the "ailment" story had fishy sound and few ring followers placed any credence in it.

IN SHORT, it was suspected that the "lame back" yarn was only a stall for one of three reasons—that the advance sale had been too light to give promise of a profitable attendance, that some of those interested aimed to set the bout so near to the date of the Sharkey-Loughran affair as to interfere with the patronage at the latter, or that Campolo was scheming to run out on Promoter Fugazy and was flirting with the latter's New York promoting rivals. As a matter of fact, Matchmaker Tom McAdle and General Manager Frank Bruen, of the Madison Square Garden forces, have admitted talking with Campolo. They were within their rights in dickering with the Agentine giant for later matches, but evidently the commission suspected that Campolo was planning to break faith with Fugazy, as it ordered him to post a forfeit of $5,000 to assure his going through with the Scott fight,

20,000 VIEW RAILROADERS IN ACTION

With approximately 12,000 visitors in the city for the event, the New York Central Lines Athletic Associations' field meet is being staged in Pittsburgh today before a crowd of upwards of 20,000 at the Stadium. It is one of the most impressive gatherings of employes of one organization to which the city ever has been host.

High officials of the railroad system, from President P. E. Crowley on down the line, are here for the annual event, which marks the culmination of the year's outdoor activities of upwards of 50 district athletic associations making up the whole.

DELEGATIONS ARRIVE

Delegations began arriving yesterday from many points in the system and today more than a dozen special trains appeared on the scene bearing athletes from the scattered cities and other employes and their families. The visitors are from New York, Chicago, Boston, Cleveland, Buffalo, Syracuse, Albany, N. Y., Detroit, Grand Rapids, Elkhart, Ind., Indianapolis, St. Louis, Toledo, Columbus, Cincinnati and many other points. This is the sixth annual system meet of the railroad and the athletes who are competing are the champions of their sections, having been decided in eliminations.

More than 50,000 employes of the system are members of the athletic organization, and this is the first time the representatives of that vast army have held their finals in Pittsburgh.

The competition got under way yesterday with the first events in the trapshooting tournament at the Chartiers Heights Gun Club and was resumed this morning.

PRELIMINARIES IN MORNING

The preliminary heats in the track and field meet at the Stadium got under way at 10 o'clock today, with the finals scheduled to begin at 2:15 in the afternoon. Both men and women athletes are competing. Quoit-pitching also is on the program.

Pittsburgh (Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad) stars will make a determined bid to win the team championship in today's meet. This honor has been swept by Detroit the last four years and was won by Buffalo in the first year of the meet, 1924. One of the stars of the local outfit is H. E. McGinley, who has won the 12-pound shot put the last two years.

The team scoring the most points will be awarded the President's Trophy, donated by President P. E. Crowley.

Eight bands are here for the meet and they will furnish music at the Stadium throughout the day and also at the dinner and dance to follow at the William Penn Hotel in the evening.

U. S. Amateur Soccer Team Ends Tour

KIDDERMINSTER, Worcestershire, England, Sept. 18.—(A.P.)—The amateur soccer team from Worcester, Mass., has just concluded a succesful tour of Worcestershire, representing the Worcester County Sportsmen's Brotherhood. The Americans won three games and tied two.

The Americans were entertained here last night at a public banquet presided over by Mayor Eddy. Lord Cobham, Lord Lieutenant of Worcestershire, was one of those present.

TOMORROW—A MONUMENT TO A FISH

BODY-PUNCHERS DISCOURAGED BY FANS

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Every once in awhile we hear the cry raised that there are very few good body-punchers in the ring these days as compared with the rough-and-ready old school. Perhaps the answer to the shortage was supplied at the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, last Monday night, when the fans kept up a constant line of abuse against little Joey Katkish, of Lawrenceville, during his winning preliminary bout against Bobby Burns, of Swissvale, and finally got the referee on Joey and almost had him disqualified for a blow that landed on Burns' left leg without any force behind it, yet was counted a serious foul.

Burns was fighting a counter battle from the start and it was up to Katkish, who was handicapped in height and reach, to carry the fight to him. This he did in lusty fashion, hooking savagely to the head and body as he came in and pounding away with both fists at close quarters. Almost every time his fists found Bobby's midsection, ringsiders and others yelled at him to "keep 'em up," and also called upon the referee to order him to do so. At length, this official took heed, halted the bout, declared Burns had been fouled and ordered the men to their corners. Burns was not hurt, did not protest and walked to his corner without any limp or sign of pain, took his siesta of a little more than a minute, and, when they resumed, cut loose with his only sustained attack of the bout.

REFEREE HEEDS CROWD

It was an almost ridiculous situation, brought on by the clamoring of the fans and made possible by a referee who listened to the fans instead of using his own judgment.

Let the fans get away from that maudlin cry of "keep 'em up," and perhaps we'll have more good infighters and less foes who will be only too glad to look for a chance to claim foul and take the easy way out. Champions generally are men who have learned to shift their attack from the head to the body and back again, and they usually arrive because they fight clean and hard and do not permit themselves to be upset by the "keep 'em up" chorus.

Mickey Fedor is off the McKeesport boxing card for tomorrow night, having taken a runout on Lee Sala, of Donora, and Promoter Jim McGirr, and, as a result, the double windup aspect of the bill has been lost. Mickey Solmen, of New Castle, takes Fedor's place against Sala, but the bout will be cut from 10 rounds to an eight-round semi-final. Howard Mayberry and Bud Dempsey will meet in the 10-round windup, Young Corsie and Andy Andrucci are in the second bout and Tom Malco and Howard Williams in the opener.

Crawley to Box Phil McGraw At Bowl

Phil McGraw, veteran lightweight, of Detroit, and Tommy Crawley, of the South Side, will box the 10-round windup of the final show of the outdoor season at the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, next Monday night, Matchmaker Jules Beck announced today.

McGraw, who has boxed most of the leaders in his class, is managed by Paddy Mullins, of New York, famous as the handler of Harry Wills, the Negro heavyweight, and also Mike O'Dowd, former middleweight champion.

George Panka, young heavyweight sensation, of Homestead, will box Bob Davis, Negro, of Toledo, in the six-round semi-final; Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, will meet an opponent to be selected in the second bout, and Tom Malco, of Soho, and Tommy Ward, of the South Side, will clash in the opener.

MOOSE CARD COMPLETE

Promoter Francis Flynn has completed his card for the opening show in the Moose Temple, downtown Friday night with the matching of Cowboy De Luca, of Lawrenceville, and Tommy Ward, of the South Side, for the six-round opening bout. Young Rudy and Jackie Murray are in the 10-round main event, Jimmy Belmont and Billy Carter in the semi-final and Harry Spencer and Frank Monroe in the second number.

The amateurs hold forth at the Twenty-seventh Ward A. C., open-air arena on the North Side tonight. Six well-matched three-round bouts and a battle royal make up the program. Sparky Ewalt, of McKees Rocks, and Carl Berg, of Braddock, heavyweights, are in the main bout.

An all-star card of four 10-round bouts will be staged at the Phillies' baseball park, Philadelphia, tonight. Benny Bass meets Armando Santiago, King Tut boxes Bruce Flowers, Pinky Kaufman engages Billy Wallace and Johnny Farr is paired with Pete Nebo.

Johnny Burns, of Chicago, and Jack McKenna, of Canada, middleweights, meet in the 10-round main bout at the Jolly Bowl, New Castle next Monday night, the postponed Fay Kosky-Willie Michel bout, prevented last Monday night, having been set back to September 30. Dandy Allen, of Philadelphia, and Jack DeNeri, of Cleveland, are in the semi-final Monday night.

Harry Ebbets and Izzy Grove meet tonight in their postponed bout at the Queensboro Stadium, New York.

JOE M'CARTHY BRILLIANT LEADER

When Joe McCarthy takes his National League champions into Philadelphia, Marse Joe will not be in altogether hostile territory; for the brillians leader of the Cubs is a native of the City of Brotherly Love. The Fighting Irishman was reared in Germantown, which is a part of the big city.

McCarthy learned the rudiments of the great national pastime on the sandlots of Philadelphia. After finishing his school days there, Joe went to Niagara University, where he starred on the diamond while furthering his education.

Joe was always a good, steady infielder, but when he eventually reached the majors he did not shine as a performer; yet he was noted for his aggressiveness. He was with Cleveland for a short time, but most of his regular play took part in the minors. All the while the leadership qualities were noted in the clean-cut youth.

NATURAL LEADER

It was while McCarthy was playing for the Louisville Colonels that he received his real chance to show his worth as a natural leader of men, Capt. Billy Neal, who was connected with the Pirates for several seasons, was one of the Colonel officials who detected unusual qualities in McCarthy, and, at the proper time, Joe was made the boss of the Colonels. His success in handling the American Association club won him laurels outside that circuit the major league men hearing much about McCarthy.

And so Marse Joe just naturally found his opportunity. When things were in a demoralized condition in Chicago, the directors of the club reached to Louisville and plucked McCarthy.

SURPRISES CRITICS

Joe took over the reins of leadership in the spring of 1926. The Bears were in a rut. In the concensus of predictions given out that year the Cubs were picked for a low second-division berth. McCarthy finished in the money in his first year and throughout his career actually kept the Bears in the flag fight.

Marse Joe is a rigid disciplinarian. He does not allow gambling on his club, for instance, yet his players accept the order and like Joe for it. He is a great mixer. His men feel at home in his presence and he wants to be one of them. But when summary action is necessary—watch McCarthy!

NEW RECRUITS MAY IMPROVE HUB CLUB

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

The Boston Braves, in town for a long series with the Pirates, are almost sure to finish last in the National League this season, yet the Boston entry is feared by every team in the circuit, and its future is beginning to look bright.

Johnny Evers, acting manager of the club, is making some experiments with the Braves which are sure to have beneficial results. Evers is smart enough to realize that one can get a better line on rookies by playing them in championship tilts. John will risk losing a ball game that doesn't mean so much to unearth a potential star—and after all, a club finishing eighth is almost as well off as one in the other second-division berths. This is true when a manager is looking toward the future with an ambition.

TRY OUT YOUNGSTERS

Two or three promising players already are in the Boston lineup and they are likely to stay there through the remaining games of the season.

One of the most impressive of the recruits is Outfielder Ralph Doyle, Cincinnati kid, who already has won the plaudits of the fans and his employers.

Boyle just completed a great season with the Providence club of the International League. A graduate of St. Xavier's College in Cincinnati, the rookie is lefthanded all the way, and, according to Boston veterans, he does everything well.

Evers has so arranged his club that he can use a left or right attack. Back in 1914 the Braves won undying glory on this sort of an offensive.

RALLY BEATS PHILS

The Pirates cleaned up on the Phillies yesterday before they sent them on their way to Cincinnati. The Freebooters came from behind with eight runs in the seventh inning to sew up the contest. The score was 11 to 7.

Burleigh Grimes was shelled off the hill in the first inning. Larry French replaced him and twirled fine ball. Steve Swetonic worked the last two rounds.

C. & I. LEAGUE CHAMPS FETED

The Commercial and Industrial Baseball League season was officially closed last evening when the Reick-McJunkin nine, champion of the loop, was feted at the William Penn Hotel, with officials of the company, officials of the league and 300 employes on hand.

The banquet was a wonderful tribute to the popularity of Manager Bill Stuhlfire and the Reick-McJunkin team. The Milk boys won the title after the keenest competition from the other members of the loop.

Wyn Morris was the toastmaster for the evening, Honus Wagner, who received a great ovation, presented gold baseballs to the team, and Bill Flaherty donated bill folds. Among the speakers were Ed Reick, Joe Potts, Bill Barnett, Henry Goldberg and George Farthing, all officials of the company, Miss Clarissa Burkhart, of Gimbels; Bill Donovan, of Kaufmanns; Cy Hatch of Carnegie Steel; President Dick Mackey, of the Commercial and Industrial League, and Tom Birks, of the sports department of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Bill Barnett and the Oxford Quartet entertained.

KAUFFMANN STARTS CITY TITLE DEFENSE

PUBLIC LINKS STARS BATTLE FOR CROWN

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

Carl F. Kauffmann, National public links champion for the last three years, started play in defense of his city title over the Schenley Park municipal links this morning. The field competing for the championship numbered about 100, but was strong, including the elite of the city's public linksmen.

Bob Graham, brother of Sam, who was medalist in the National title play at Philadelphia two years ago, is one of the outstanding favorites to set down Kaufmann, while other members of this year's National team, which played at St. Louis, Mike Galido, Carl Lunden, Dick Wessell and Red Barr, and Bernie McFarland, Marty Boschert, Joe Platt, Joe Natalie, Pat O'Malley, Frank Petrolia, Jim Ryan and Mike Lipchick, are also expected to make a strong bid for the honors.

PLAY 36 HOLES

The qualifying round today is at 36 holes medal play, the players having started at 8:30 this morning, playing in threesomes. At McBride, professional at Schenley, is directing the tournament, and John Jay Burke, former U. S. G. A. public links champion, is supervising it.

Members of the South Hills Country Club are playing golf this afternoon and will dine at a testimonial banquet this evening, in honor of their chairman of the green committee, John Graham, West Penn amateur champion, and president of the Western Pennsylvania Golf Association. The golf started at 1:30 o'clock, and the dinner will begin at 7:30.

A big dinner match is on the books for today at the Wildwood Country Club, when two teams will play, beginning at 1 o'clock. The losing team will buy "grub" this evening for the losers.

TEAMS IN TIE

The Fox Chapel Golf Club and Stanton Heights Golf Club played to a second deadlock in the playoff of a tie in the annual West Penn Golf Association team championship, over the Oakmont Country Club links, yesterday. The score was 4-all. They will try conclusions a third time on Friday. The winner will play against Highland, Chartiers Heights and Oakmont for the season's championship. The results:

Fox Chapel.		Stanton.
R. A. Lyne	1	R. C. Long	0

Mandell, King Tut Title Bout Planned

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—To help satisfy the craving of Sammy Mandell, world lightweight champion, for more fights and tougher ones, Promoter Paddy Harmon, of the Chicago Stadium, is negotiating for a battle between the titleholder and King Tut, of Minneapolis, at the division limit of 135 pounds.

Tut, who sidetracked Billy Petrolle, the Fargo, N. D., Express, at Detroit last week, is so eager for the shot that he is willing to make any financial concession to the champion, even to giving the Rockford fighter both ends of the purse.

Harmon proposes to hold the fight November 17.

FLAG CLINCHING BY CUBS IS DELAYED

By HENRY M'LEMORE.
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Should Pittsburgh be so thoughtless of the boys and girls along the Boul Mich as to keep on winning it may be three or four more days before Chicago fans can sleep peacefully, knowing that the National flag is safely out of the clutches of mathematics.

For the Giants, those boys whose love for the Cubs is akin to that dear devotion existing between sailors and marines, are in the Windy City for four games, and no doubt determined to make a clean sweep, for in addition to the joy that prolonging the agony of the Cubs would bring, McGraw's men have several other little matters to settle, including Mel Ott's desire to break Hornsby home run record and Bill Terry's ambition to top the Rajah in the batting column.

Ott today has 39 and the current series may see him set a new mark. Terry's mark of .378 today is seven percentage points better than Hornsby's average and a four good days at bat would go a long way in seeing him ahead at the finish.

Yesterday the Robins toppled the Cubs twice, 8 to 7 and 9 to 6. Pittsburgh prevented the Cubs from cinching by tripping Philadelphia again, this time by 11 to 7, a perfectly natural score. An eight-run rally in the seventh aided the Pirates no little.

Other National League clubs were not scheduled.

Rain played havoc in the American, forcing a calling off of the St. Louis-Philadelphia tilt, the second game between Detroit and Washington and the Yankee-Indian affair. Washington managed to slip in a 4-to-1 win over Detroit in the opener. In the only other game Boston rolled the White Sox, 6 to 4.

St. Paul Welcomes Golf Champ Home

ST. PAUL, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Harrison R. (Jimmy) Johnston, of St. Paul, comes home today to receive the plaudits of his fellow townsmen and residents of the northwest for winning the national amateur golf championship, formerly held by Bobby Jones.

Gov. Theodore Christianson, of Minnesota; Mayor L. C. Hodgson, of St. Paul, and Mayor W. F. Kunze, of Minneapolis, headed the welcoming committee to honor Jimmy who won the title at Pebble Beach, Cal., September 7.

Turtle Union Meets Pitcairn Saturday

Turtle Creek Union High School will open its football season at the home stadium on Saturday, meeting the pitcairn eleven. The 1929 schedule is the toughest ever lined up for Foxy Miller's Blue and White outfit.

The schedule:

September 21, Pitcairn at Turtle Creek; September 28, Swissvale at Turtle Creek; October 5, Elizabeth at Turtle Creek; October 12, Norwin at Norwin; October 19, Springdale at Turtle Creek; October 26, Latrobe at Turtle Creek; November 2, Washington at Turtle Creek; November 9, permanently open; November 16, Clairton at Turtle Creek; November 28 (Thanksgiving), Jeannette at Jeannette

Loss of Form Of Guy Bush Worries Cubs

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—The loss of form of Guy Bush, of the Cubs, leading hurler of the National League, is causing real concern around Wrigley Field.

In his last five starts Bush has been batted from the box five times. His record in the won and lost column has not suffered greatly, only one defeat in the five contests having been charged against him, but his inability to regain his effectiveness has even Joe McCarthy, who was not bothered at first seriously, worried now.

Loss of control seems to be Bush's chief trouble.

Chicago Cubs, Who Have Pennant All But Clinched

THEY MEET PHILADELPHIA ATHLETICS IN WORLD SERIES PLAY

The Chicago Cubs owned by William Wrigley and managed by Joe McCarthy, who are within one-half game of the National League pennant. They have been trying since Monday to clinch it and hope to get the agony over today. A victory for them or a defeat by the Pirates will settle the issue. Left to right in the group are: Back row—Schulte, Hartnett, Penner, Blake, Blair, Root, Taylor, Trainer Lotshaw, Grampp, Gonzales, Carlson, Tolson and Malone. Middle row—Coach Jimmy Burke, Coach Grover Land, Secretary Bob Lewis, Groundkeeper Bobby Dorr, Vice President John Seys, President William L. Veeck, Vice President Miss Margaret Donohue, William Wrigley, Jr., Manager Joe McCarthy, Hornsby, Cuyler and Wilson. Front Row—Heathcote, English, Cvengros, Beck, Mascot Langtry, McMillan, Bush, Moore and Stephenson. Grimm, who has been out of the game due to an injured hand, is missing from the picture.

25,000 CHICAGO SEATS OUT

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Although the Cubs lost a doubleheader yesterday and the Pirates won, thus prolonging the crowning of the Cubs as champions of the National League, 25,000 of the 40,000 seats for the games here have been allotted.

A regular fan, Miss Catherine Lynch, won the first set of ducats in the draw. She was informed of her good luck last night.

"Whoopee!" screamed Miss Lynch.

"Who said there is no Santa Claus?"

The Cubs have been on the verge of giving Chicago its twelfth championship National League team in 53 years all week.

Much of the cheer went to drown the heavy gobs of gloom that settled over the thousands of customers and fans who are on edge to get things definitely settled.

Officials of the Cubs have resorted to the old "grab bag" system of allotting the tickets for the Chicago games. And, on the slender fingers of Miss Lucille Blasendorf, secretary to President William Veeck rest the hopes of the 150,000 more or less hopefuls.

Miss Blasendorf, blindfolded, picks 10 requests from each sack of mail, and each sack holds about 5,000 letters. Only 10, no more, no less—and the hopes of 4,990 fans are immediately doomed.

But, as the boys in the back room are saying, "Whatcha gonna do about it?"

ALL PHILLY SEATS SOLD

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18.—(AP.) Any request now for world series tickets for the Athletic-Cubs tussle is just so much fodder for the old sugar barrel. Officials of the Philadelphia club keep announcing loudly that all tickets are gone, but hopeful fans keep on mailing requests for reservations.

"Not a chance now," said Secretary Schroeder as he directed an extra helper to drop another batch of orders into the old sugar barrel at the end of a 20-foot table. "We were overscribed more than twice our capacity a few hours after opening for business Monday."

FIGHT RESULTS

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

Answered By

The average player can benefit very much by watching the scratch player in competition, provided, of course, the latter's style is sound. He can profit not only by watching the good swing, but can pick up a good many pointers as to the ethics of the game and the way in which good players conduct themselves under the strain of competition.

It probably would confuse a beginner to watch first one player and then another. Choose one known for his good style and concentrate on him.

My pupils never miss a chance to gallery my matches, as I have convinced them that they learn a great deal by imitation.

Upsets Mark Golf Tournament Abroad

WENTWORTH, Surrey, England, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Sensations developed thick and fast today in the second round of the Thousand Guineas professional golf match championship. C. A. Whitcombe, the reigning champion, was defeated as was his brother, Ernest. Henry Cotton was another first-ranking pro to fall.

The radical eliminations show only Archie Compson left of the semi-finalists for the last three years. Abe Mitchell, however, scored an easy victory over Tom Dobson, 6 up and 4 to play, to remain in the competition.

C. A. Whitcombe's conqueror was Henry Large, the margin of victory being 5 and 4. Ernest Whitcombe was taken into camp by W. H. Davies at the twentieth hole and Len Holland scored over Cotton 3 and 2. Compston defeated J. E. Morris, 4 and 2.

MINOR LEAGUE STARS 'GO UP'

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 18.—(AP.) — The present season has been a lean one financially for minor league clubs, but there is little room for complaint on the part of the players. By next spring, the indications are that an unusually large number of players who have been working in minor leagues in Pennsylvania during the last few months will be training with major or class AA league clubs.

Already more than a score have been officially notified to report for trial and a few even now are getting their initial tryouts. The New York-Pennsylvania loop has contributed the greater part of the men who are slated for advancement, but the Blue Ridge and the Middle Atlantic circuits are represented.

The list to date includes the following:

Wilkes-Barre, NYP, to New York Nationals—Joe Visotsky, right handed pitcher.

Williamsport, NYP, to Reading Internationals—Novak, shortstop.

These players include only those who were developed by the lower class leagues and then sold at the end of the season. They do not include the men placed on option and then recalled.

To this list, moreover, must be added the group which the various major league clubs owning the bulk of the Blue Ridge League franchises may select at more leisure for 1930 trials as well as the number who may be drawn upward in the draft.

Bowser's Infected Arm Improving

CAMP HAMILTON, Windber, Pa., Sept. 18.—Charles Bowser, first assistant to Coach Jock Sutherland, is resting easier today but still is confined to a bed in the Camp Hospital with a badly infected arm. Bowser will not be able to resume his coaching duties this week, it is believed.

The dangerous infection which has caused Bowser's left arm to swell to twice its normal size is not spreading, Camp Physician Dr. H. A. R. Shanor stated this morning. Bowser must keep his arm suspended at a sharp angle to assist in draining the infected area.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—The public links championship tournament for 1930 has been awarded to Jacksonville, Fla., it was announced yesterday by H. H. Ramsay, chairman of the championship committee of the United States Golf Association. The date for the tournament will be announced later.

Grays to Oppose West's Star Nines

Having tested their strength against the Eastern Negro teams, the Homestead Grays now are going to show how they compare with the Negro teams in the west by playing the St. Louis Stars and the American Giants, of Chicago.

The Grays will meet the St. Louis club at Forbes Field October 2, a second game being scheduled for Dennison, O., October 3. The Grays will go to Chicago for a four-game series with the American Giants, October 5, 6, 7, 8.

Alekhine Defeats Bogoljubow at Chess

WIESBADEN, Germany, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Dr. Alexander Alekhine, of Paris, world's chess champion, defeated E. D. Bogoljubow, his German challenger yesterday in the seventh game of their championship chess match. Bogoljubow resigned at the thirty-fifth move.

The victory placed Alekhine again in the lead in the series. He has won three, lost two and tied two matches.

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 18.—Ben Marshall, England, gained a decision over Jim Mollette, United States, in a fast 15-round boxing bout here tonight. Marshall scaled 147 pounds and Mollette 145.

M'KECHNIE IS BEATEN

Bill McKechnie, Cardinal pilot, is saved for baseball, and yet the popular Wilkinsburg citizen made a fine showing in his home bailiwick as he finished second in a five-men race for tax collector. Bill was too busy to take a very active part in the campaign, and the fact that he was the runner-up was quite a surprise to many who figured he would be beaten by a bigger degree.

The present incumbent, Walter Elder, won over McKechnie. He, too, is extremely popular in Bill's home town. It was an open secret that some of Bill's closest friends were hoping he would lose so that he would remain in baseball.

Wilkinsburg Bill today expressed appreciation of the support given him by his many friends in his political campaign.

ILLNESS DATED FROM WORLD WAR; KONJOLA SCORES

Pittsburgh Veteran, Happy in Newly Found Health, Praises New and Different Medicine.

MR. J. C. WILLIAMS

In these words, Mr. J. C. Williams, of Argone Hotel, Pittsburgh, tells of his remarkable but not unusual experience with Konjola, the new and different medicine that has set the whole nation talking. You can get full information about this modern medicine from the two Konjola Men in this city. One is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, and the other at the Dow Drug Store, Diamond and Smithfield Streets, Pittsburgh. Learn all about this super-compound which contains the juices of 22 roots and herbs, scientifically blended with ten other medicinal ingredients, which has given such wonderful results in troubles of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels; rheumatism, neuritis, and nervousness. Read the complete statement made by Mr. Williams; note his enthusiasm over this master medicine, and, if you suffer as he did, profit by his experience:

"I'll tell the world Konjola is a medicine that works. I know, for it put an end to my stomach and kidney trouble, which began while I was abroad with the army during the World War.

"For ten years I had not known what it was to be in real good health until I tried Konjola. My stomach caused me a great deal of suffering. My meals would be followed by bloating and gas would form in my stomach, making me short of breath and miserable. At times my food would seem to form a heavy lump in my stomach. I had to be very careful what I ate, and, as my appetite had gone bad, I never felt like eating much of anything. My kidneys were in bad order, also. They would get me up several times during the night and I had pains in my back over my kidneys. These troubles caused me to lose strength and energy, and I was getting discouraged.

"I was advised by friends to try this new Konjola, and I surely received wonderful results. These troubles that had bothered me for ten years were all gone after the third bottle of this medicine. Gas on my stomach does not bother me any longer. I have a great appetite and never suffer from indigestion. I hardly ever have to rise in the night and the pains in my back are gone. I feel like a different man, and I tell all my friends that if they ever are bothered with stomach or kidney trouble they can't go wrong by taking Konjola."

Strange as it may appear, Konjola seems to be at the peak of its power when pitted against the most stubborn and obstinate cases—troubles that have held on for years defying everything that was done to relieve them.

There is a Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, and one at the Dow Drug Store, Diamond and Smithfield Streets, Pittsburgh. There also is a Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store, 5939 Penn Avenue, East Liberty. All are introducing and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine.

MICKEY WALKER IS DETHRONED BY N. B. A.

CHARGE JERSEY BULLDOG AS UNWORTHY

BULLETIN.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—The National Boxing Association today elected Stanley Isaacs, of Cincinnati, its president and selected Quebec, Canada, for its 1930 convention city.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Mickey Walker, world middleweight champion since 1926, lost his title yesterday without throwing a punch.

The National Boxing Association, governing the sport in 31 states, declared Walker's title vacated because of his failure to defend it in compliance with the N. B. A.'s ruling requiring a champion to defend his crown at least once every six months. He was charged with repeatedly failing to observe the extensions given him, according to Edward C. Foster, of Rhode Island, chairman of the championship committee.

Foster and other members of the committee were emphatic in their declarations that Walker no longer is a worthy champion. The members of the National body accepted the committee's recommendation that the Jersey Bulldog be no longer recognized as the ruler of the middleweight division.

Sammy Mandell, world lightweight champion, and Andre Routis, king of the featherweights, were relieved of anxiety regarding having their titles removed. Both were approved by the championship committee.

TOURING SLATED

The delegates also decided to recognize the Andre Routis-Bat Battalino bout at Hartford, Conn., Monday, as a championship affair, in as much as Battalino is rated as a terrific puncher. It will be 15 rounds to a decision.

With Walker voted out of his championship, a free-for-all competition will be opened, with the competitors scrambling for championship acclaim. The committee listed a number of challengers, naming Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska Wildcat, as the leading member of the division with Rene Devos, and Harry Ebbetts, of Brooklyn, ranking second and third respectively.

Walker's last defense of the middleweight championship was made in Chicago in June, 1928, when he won a decision from Hudkins. Since that time he has confined his fighting to adventuring in the heavier class except for one victory over Cowboy Jack Willis. He knocked out Armand Emanual, defeated Leo Lomski, and dropped a decision to Tommy Loughran, in his shifts at light heavyweight.

After disposing of Walker's case, the delegates amended the constitution to provide that Canadian boxing commissions may join the N. B. A., with full voting power, and also that Canadians might be elected to office. Heretofore, only Americans could hold office in the organization. The change was brought as the result of pleas by E. W. Ferguson, secretary of the Montreal commission, who headed the Canadian delegation.

BAR UNDESIRABLES

Urged by Chairman Foster, of the championship committee, the association instructed its member states to bar from promotional or oher activity, any individual with a police record.

Foster said he was alarmed at the number of bootleggers, and racketeers who have insinuated themselves into the sport, as managers and promoters, merely as a cloak to hide their other activities.

"We must clean them out," Foster told the delegates. "It will be up to every state commission to do its duty. I do not mean that we should bar men who have been arrested for minor offenses like automobile speeding, but boxing has no place for bootleggers and racketeers."

FIELDS BOUT OFF

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—(INS.)—Because of infection in Fields' left arm, a bout scheduled for Monday night between Jackie Fields and Gorilla Jones here has been indefinitely postponed. Fields' arm started bothering him following his Sunday training. It was lanced today and his physician said he would be unable to box for at least two weeks.

Football Rules

PLAY NO. 15

Speer, of Georgia Tech, breaks through the Notre Dame line and blocks a punt behind the Notre Dame goal line, and Jones, of Georgia Tech, falls on the ball in the end zone. In charging through to block the kick Speer upsets the punter, who is thrown heavily to the ground. The Notre Dame captain claims a penalty for knocking the kicker down.

ANSWER

The referee allows the touchdown made by ones, of Georgia Tech, who fell on the ball, and rules that the kicker was knocked down as an accidental part of a successfully executed defensive play with no penalty. Had a successful punt been made and then Speer had run into the kicker the decision would have been different, and, occurring as it did behind the goal line, Notre Dame would have been allowed a touchback and the ball brought out to the 20-yard line. In the regular field of play the penalty is five yards for running into the kicker, and, in flagrant cases, 15 yards and disqualification of the offending player.

YOUNG SAYLOR FOULED

BUTLER, Pa., Sept. 18.—Jack Britton, former world welterweight champion, disappointed a large crowd of fight fans here last night when he failed to put in an appearance to meet T. N. T. Gibbons. Britton didn't even appear to be weighed in in the afternoon. Young Saylor, of Charleroi, replaced Britton on the card and won on a foul in the first round. Gibbons hit Saylor low with the first punch and the latter was unable to continue.

Boxer Tights Without Thrills Garden Fans

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—(INS.)—Johnny Bonito, Yonkers bantam, may never scale the boxing heights, but he has the satisfaction today of knowing that once in his life he "panicked" the customers at Madison Square Garden.

Johnny's act that "rolled them in the aisles" came last night when he stepped into the ring for a bout in the amateur affairs that are now in swing. He climbed into the ring wrapped in a ponderous bathrobe. He tossed it lightly aside and the Garden went into hysterics. For there stood little Johnny in the nude—having in the excitement of preparing for battle forgotten to don his trunks.

St. Francis Grid Practice Is Cut

LORETTO, Sept. 18.—Two good linesmen made their appearance today on the St. Francis gridiron squad. They are Doyle, from Philadelphia, and O'Hara from Syracuse. Both are likely candidates for the varsity lineup.

Coach Bill Donohoe announced today that with the opening of college classes the practice schedule would be one period a day. Up until now Donohoe has been drilling his men twice daily and last week he conducted some strenuous scrimmage.

Notre Dame Club Resumes Luncheons

The Notre Dame Club of Western Pennsylvania, will resume its weekly luncheons tomorrow at Gimbel's dining room, Attorney John A. Briley, president, has announced.

Plans for the Notre Dame-Carnegie Tech game at the Stadium are being made and will be discussed at the meeting. It has been tentatively decided that the night before the game there will be a joint smoker of alumni of the two schools.

BURKE BEATS MEHLHORN

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Using a No. 3 iron to chip in a putt on the ninth hole for a birdie 2 and a 37, Billy Burke, of Westport, N. Y., shaded Bill Mehlhorn by a stroke in the play-off for the title in the Glens Falls invitation open golf tournament here yesterday. The final and wininng putt was for 20 feet. The imprint Burke's ball left as it struck the green prevented a putt of such distance, so the New York state open champion chose to gamble on the iron.

UPHILL FIGHT

Burke's triumph, coming after he had required four putts on the eighth, climaxed the brilliant fight he had made through the last 36 holes to overhaul John Golden, who finished third, and Mehlorn.

A stroke behind both after covering the first 36 in 144, Burke was two strokes to the rear of Golden after the next 18, which he covered in 71 as Golden got a 70. Mehlhorn took 72, and fell back to even terms with Burke, leaving Golden apparently headed for the title and the $500 prize. The final 18 yesterday, however, saw Burke and Mehlhorn come home in 71 as Golden floundered at 74, and dropped from the race.

PLAY-OFF ORDERED

With Mehlhorn and Burke tied at 285, the officials ordered a nine-hole play-off. Both did poorly on the first two holes. Mehlhorn was a stroke to the bad with a total of 11, but got a birdie 2 on the third even up.

Each took a 4 on the fourth, but Mehlhorn required 5 strokes for the fifth, and Burke again was one stroke to the good.

The sixth saw each man take a 4, but Burke gained another on the seventh where Mehlhorn again took a 5. Burke blew this advantage on the eighth as he took his four putts for a six, but facing further play unless he holed his 20-foot putt on the ninth, came through to victory on his novel iron shot.

PITT SCRUBS POLISH OFF VARSITY

CAMP HAMILTON, Windber, Pa., Sept. 18.—The eleven young men who may have figured they had their positions on Coach Jock Sutherland's Pitt varsity cinched were treated to a rude surprise yesterday afternoon when a team of scrappy second-stringers pushed these 11 young men all over the practice lot here.

Some there are today who think that the impressive performance of the reserves may be credited to the brilliant generalship of Eddie Baker, who is giving Charley Edwards, 1928 quarterback, a grand battle for the signal-calling berth. It is certain that Baker's judgment in choosing plays yesterday kept the varsity on the defensive, and the slim Nanticoke star more often than not caught the first team completely off guard.

Franklin Hood, the Monaca boy with the strong right arm, didn't throw any of his celebrated forward passes, but he did smack the Varsity line in convincing fashion, and gave an all-around exhibition of superior football ability. Hart Morris, guard, and Paul Collins, end, both sophomores of more than ordinary promise, gave good accounts of themselves, too.

With the smart Baker at the helm of the second outfit, Schultz and Collins were the ends; Babic and Quatse tackles; Morris and Milligan, guards; Barnes, center; Walchus and Rooney, halves, and Hood, fullback.

The so-called Varsity boasted Donchess and Loehr, wingmen; MacMurdo and Tully, tackles; Captain Dimeolo and Montgomery, guards, Daugherty, center; Edwards, quarterback; Uansa and Williams, halfbacks; and Pug Parkinson, fullback. These lads played fairly well but the honors for the day went to the scrubs.

EYTH DEVELOPS

It seems that Howdy Eyth, the Mars greyhound, is apparently coming into his own and unless something unforeseen occurs, he promises to be Carnegie Tech's sunning halfback of the 1929 season filling the place of Glen Moorehead, the Bellevue flash, who did a fine job of it last season. If Eyth does as well as Moorehead at the position, part of the Plaid coache's worries will be erased.

Injuries, of course, retarded Eyth's work last season. He flashed signs of form, but it seems he could not get started. Sharing the glory with Eyth yesterday was Harry McCurdy, the signal barker of Monongahela and the Flanagan Brothers, Thayer and Latham, of Buckhannon, W. Va. Thayer at the halfback and Latham at an end showed that they must be reckoned with when Coaches Steffen and Waddell make their final varsity selection.

Andy Yerina, of Claridge, Pa., broke into the game yesterday in place of Leonard Schnupp, at guard. The Tartan coaches were well satisfied with his play.

DUKES SET FOR OPENER

In just a day or so the Duquesne University and Edinboro State College starting line-ups will be announced and the Dukes will be ready to go for the first game of the season, on the Bluff field. Few other colleges in the country will play Saturday and in doing so Duquesne is starting a week earlier than usual.

Head Coach Elmer Layden and his capable assistant, Joe Bach, have not been pushing the boys for several days now, although light scrimmage was to be seen on the Bluff yesterday afternoon. And the 1929 edition of the Dukes are a classy outfit to all appearances. Saturday their ability to perform will be given a trial in earnest and it will be possible then to gauge the prospects of Laydens Red and Blue warriors.

PENNSY MEET DRAWS 1,500

Employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad will hold their ninth annual track and field meet at Altoona, Pa., on Saturday, September 21. More than 1,500 men and women athletes, survivors of the elimination contests recently held in the Eastern, Central and Western operating regions, the New York Zone, the Altoona Works and the Philadelphia General Offices, will compete for System championship, in the various events.

The program will, in addition to track and field events, include swimming, tennis, trap shooting, shooting, quoits, horseshoes, golf and baseball.

The trials in the track and field events will be held on the Altoona Cricket Field in the forenoon and the finals will be started at 1 p. m. T. F. Neff, of the Philadelphia General offices, will be the referee in charge of track and field games. L. Lewis, Altoona High School coach, will be the starter.

The first of the series of three games to determine the baseball champions of the Pennsylvania Railroad also will be played, beginning at 3.30 p. m. between the Altoona Works team, champion of the Eastern Lines, and the Columbus Division team, which recently won the championship of the Western Line of the System.

It is expected that more than 25,000 spectators, chiefly officers and employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad and members of their families, will attend the meet. Special trains will be used to transport the spectators and contestants to and from Altoona from all parts of the System.

W. & J. SPEEDS UP DRILLS

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 18.—Coaches Ray Ride and Bill Amos, of Washington and Jefferson College, are working desparately at the task of whipping their players into shape for the opening game of the season here Saturday, September 28, with the Ohio Northern gridiron aggregation. Little advance information has been obtained concerning the strength of the visiting eleven which will help pry off the collegiate grid lid locally, but the President mentors are overlooking no bets and will have the Red and Black machine as smoothly working a combination as possible at the time the players take the field in their initial showing.

Coaches have been well pleased thus far with the fine balance of the squad and are hopeful that they will be able to develop two elevens of almost equal strength. With the opening of college this week, the undergraduates will return in full strength. Interest in the work of the athletes will mount daily as the season advances.

METHODIST STARS HURT

MEADVILLE, Pa., Sept. 18.—Last Saturday's scrimmage took its toll in the Allegheny College football squad, when Bernard McaMnis, stellar guard, who was selected by one of the Boston sport scribes last year on his all-Eastern team, received a leg injury which will keep him out of practice for several days. More serious injury was received by Walter Jones, the big candidate for center, from Duquesne High School, who was forced from the scrimmage because of an injury to his arm. The extent of the injury is still uncertain, but it is feared that the X-ray will reveal a splintered bone. Jones will undoubtedly be kept out of practice for several weeks, and maybe for even a longer time.

VOLOMITE VICTOR

SOCCER SEASON TO OPEN ON SATURDAY

By TOM BIRKS

Soccer officially will open its 1929-30 season Saturday in Western Pennsylvania when the Pittsburgh District League, composed of six clubs, plays three well-balanced games.

Much interest is being manifest in the Pierpont Motors team. This club, built around the former Pittsburgh Club, is touted as being a real outfit and a logical contender for championship honors.

The Pierponts will open Saturday at the Homewood Playgrounds, opposing the Clan Douglas eleven. The Black and White team of Douglas is a good club to test any new outfit, and, when the final whistle blows, fandom will be able to get a good line on the makeup of the successor to the Pittsburgh Club.

Marshall will be in goal, and, when in shape, he is one of the greatest defenders in the district. Jimmy Moreman will play center, giving the auto boys a punch in the front line.

Out Swissvale way, Jack Campbell and Thomas are working hard trying to get a winner for the Switch. There is reason to feel Swissvale should have a winning club. Thomas has much material in its lineup, as last season's defeat of the Heidelberg eleven will testify. Fontela will be back in goal, and the Cuban should be far better after a good season on the baseball diamond. Brown and Clark will be the fullbacks. Stallard, Hynds, Stark and Dunn will perform in the middle line. The forward line will flash some new comers; Milligan, from Chicago, is expected to show the boys something in the way of footwork, while Young, who has been playing around Akron, comes well recommended. Clelland, from last season's Westinghouse Club, will wear the Red and White of the Switch. Lang, Marray, Armit, Angus McNair and Thompson being holdovers from last year's team.

The Pittsburgh Celtics will be played at Swissvale and should make a splendid opening-day attraction. The other game will find the veteran team of Pittsburgh, the Rovers, opening another season against the Twin Boro eleven. Last season Twin Boro was a newcomer in the loop, and were naturally weak. It is understood the club has been strengthened considerably, and that the Rovers might get a surprise.

It is to this loop that soccerites must look for their afternoon's sport. For while both the District and American loops are scheduled to meet, there does not appear any news on the horizon. After the first week's games, it will be possible to dwell on the championship prospects of all the clubs in the District loop.

SERIES OPENS TOMORROW

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Sept. 17.—(AP.)—A play-off series between the Huntington Boosters and the Charleston Senators, to determine the championship of the Tri-State Baseball League, will open here tomorrow, officials of the clubs decided at a conference.

Attack on U. S. Gold — Latest Financial News

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—Sage financiers on Threadneedle and Lombard streets, with whom I have discussed money matters, contend that misuse of gold hoards in the United States and France is tending to starve the rest of the world for credit.

America today is overwhelmingly the largest holder of gold and France by steady accumulation now holds twice as much gold as England. Besides, the Bank of France has deposits—calls on gold—in London and New York, aggregating a billion dollars, which amount almost equals the total earning assets of the Federal Reserve system of the United States. Accordingly, France, sitting in the driver's seat, is in position to manipulate the principal foreign money markets, and there is a recognition of the fact that the Bank of England continues the gold standard by courtesy of the Bank of France.

ENGLAND HEAVIEST LOSER

Although the aggregate annual output of new gold for monetary purposes amounts to only $209,000,000, France has added $250,000,000 of gold to its holdings in the last year, and America $300,000,000. England has been the heaviest loser. The experience of keeping a lower discount rate in London than in New York for many weeks has resulted in a further depletion of the gold holdings of the Bank of England.

For a time, it was assumed that the Bank of England had to have a minimum of 150,000,000 pounds sterling in gold (roughly $750,000,000), as provided in the Cunliffe report. It has already dropped to 139,000,000 pounds. The amount that the bank really needs depends on the opinion of the governor of the Bank of England—Sir Montagu Norman. One of the best informed outside economists in England told me that intrinsically there is no reason why the Bank of England could not afford to let the gold reserves fall to 100,000,000 pounds sterling.

VAULT GOLD DEAD ASSET

England traditionally has shown a willingness to get along on less gold than outside countries. Gold in the valuts of a central bank is a non-earning dead asset. Numerous British economists think that France and Germany too have piled up far more gold in their bank vaults than they legitimately require.

The British financiers, long experienced in international banking, feel that the United States and France are not permitting their gold hoards to render their proper banking function. With the bond market in New York pathetic, America has been virtually closed to the rest of the world for months as a long term capital market. Moreover, with time money rates for brokers at abnormally high levels, New York has been acting as a magnet for current funds available in all foreign centers. Amercia's gold has not been used in recent months for foreign credits, because heavy speculation has made brokers' loans more attractive to lenders than bonds. Moreover, the investor has turned his attention from bonds to stocks. It is felt here that the direct cause of high interest rates in New York and by reflex here and elsewhere in Federal Reserve policy, which for more than a year has repressed credits in order to discourage speculation. The Federal Reserve has sterilized the new gold. It has not permitted it to be used as the basis of a further credit expansion.

"U. S. STARVING WORLD"

When the Federal Reserve pursued a similar policy of gold sterilization five years ago, the international consequences were relatively unimportant, for at that time the rest of the world had not yet actively returned to the gold standard. Today the principal countries are making an effort to function on a gold basis. Therefore, the Federal Reserve sterilization policy prevents a compensating ease in interest rates in the American money market which has exported gold to offset tightness in London and other centers which have lost gold. By pursuing its policy of credit restriction, the Federal Reserve, in the opinion of London observers, is starving the outside world for credit, and, if the condition continues indefinitely, it may result in a serious depression in outside business and ultimately in American exports.

Some British financial experts, including Hartley Withers, say openly that as long as there is no commodity inflation in the United States the Federal Reserve should permit the huge gold imports and accumulations to bring cheap money rates, in accordance with the natural working out of the gold standard philosophy. Mr. Withers thinks that if non-British gold hoarding countries fail to allow gold to serve its usual purpose as a credit base the whole idea of the gold standard will become discredited.

BLAME U. S., FRANCE

France, which as a huge gold holder and a country with an investable surplus, it is felt, should be carrying part of the brunt in financing world trade. The Bank of France has kept the discount rate down to 3½ per cent but the Parisian money market is a nominal one. Taxes and intermediate banking commissions offset the advantages of the low rate prevailing in Paris. Moreover, high taxes on new capital issues abroad shut off Paris as an important source of foreign capital. This situation is partly a parliamentary one. There is reluctance to start tax reductions in the realm of securities, instead of in commodities which are closer to the ordinary run of men. The Parisian capital blockade is ascribable to a delayed readjustment to the new conditions of stabilization. The imposts are a survival of the period of inflation, when France wanted to discourage the flight of capital from France.

Many private observers here contend that, in piling up gold, France has been actuated by political motives. It is believed that France thought that large piles of gold would add to French prestige, and stamp France as a first-rate financial power. Some believe that France has considered gold a weapon for matching its power against Great Britain's.

England's present financial troubles, as reflected in the weakness of the pound sterling, are ascribed to the fact that with the United States and France failing to carry out their international obligations as gold holders, England has been called upon to do more than its share.

Weirton Steel Plans Detroit Combine

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

A NEW steel company with plants in the Detroit district and on the Ohio River will be formed by the consolidation of the Weirton Steel Company with the Great Lakes Steel Corporation and the M. A. Hanna Company if negotiations understood to be underway are successful.

The Great Lakes Steel Corporation is working on an extensive construction program which will give it strategically located facilities for the production of steel sheets for the automobile trade. A total of six open hearth furnaces are being built. The company is affiliated with the Michigan Steel Corporation which has a plant at Ecorse, Mich.

Due to proximity to Detroit, an exceptionally high rate of operations has been maintained and the company has had a distinct advantage over its competitors in the sheet steel trade.

Affiliation With Hanna.

A CLOSE relationship has already been established with the M. A. Hanna Company. A railroad is being constructed from the Hanna blast furnace near Detroit to the new plant of Great Lakes Steel. Molten pig iron will be supplied to the open hearth furnaces insuring a low steel cost.

The Hanna Company has extensive bituminous and anthracite coal producing properties. Blast furnaces are located at Buffalo, N. Y., Leetonia, O., and Dover, O.

Value to Weirton.

OPERATIONS of the Weirton Steel Company are confined to Weirton, W. Va., Steubenville, O., and nearby river points. It attains one of the lowest costs of any steel producer in the United States. The fact that the company has its own coal properties on the Monongahela River and makes extensive use of river transportation is an important factor keeping down expenses.

The proposed merger will place Weirton in an excellent position to compete for Detroit business. It will also have the advantage of affording Weirton production in two different districts.

Ore Reserves.

THE large ore holdings of the M. A. Hanna Company are a big inducement for Weirton to enter the consolidation. One of the reasons behind most of the merger efforts in the steel industry is the desire of the smaller producers to insure their source of raw materials for years to come.

The Hanna Company has an annual production of 2,500,000 to 3,000,000 tons of ore. It operates on all of the ranges in Michigan and Minnesota. The reserves amount to 50,000,000 tons.

Eight lake vessels are owned and are used to move ore from Minnesota and Michigan to the lower lake ports and to haul coal in the opposite direction. Four freighters are also operated under contract.

Pittsburgh District.

SOME of the Hanna coal mines are located in the Pittsburgh district and these may be valuable to Weirton. The coal properties are in Allegheny County, Pa., and Jefferson, Belmont and Harrison Counties in Ohio.

The Hanna sources of raw materials and blast furnace properties, together with the established operations of Weirton and the plants under construction at Detroit, will lay a foundation for a steel company which will hold an exceptionally important place in the industry.

It has been frequently reported that the Eaton interests are anxious to get Weirton into their proposed steel consolidation to be built around Republic Iron and Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Inland Steel. It is not known at present whether the Weirton-Hanna-Great Lakes combination will definitely remove Weirton from the Eaton plans or whether there is still a possibility of the new organization being included. It is certain that the new group would constitute a valuable acquisition.

LOREE MERGER PLAN FILED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—(INS.)—L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad, has filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission his much-talked-of railroad merger plan which he described as the Northeastern Terminal Belt System.

The plan contemplates the acquisition by lease or by purchase of capital stock of these roads:

Bangor and Aroostook, Boston and Maine, Buffalo and Susquehanna, Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh, Central of New Jersey, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, Lehigh and Hudson River, Lehigh and New England, Maine Central, New Haven, New York, Ontario and Western, Pittsburgh and West Virginia, Reading, Rutland, Virginia, and the Western Maryland.

NEW OFFERINGS

S. W. Straus Investing Corporation, 100,000 unit certificates, representing one sc of cumulative preferred stock and one share of common stock. Priced at $58 a unit. Offered by S. W. Straus & Company, and Love, Macomber and Company.

Federal Public Service Corporation, $4,000,000 three-year convertible 6 per cent gold notes. Dated July 1, 1929, due July 1, 1932. Priced at 97¼ and interest, yielding more than 7 per cent offered by H. M. Byllesby and Company, E. H. Rolling and Sons and Bartlett and Gordon, Inc.

Burco, Inc., 75,000 units, consisting of one share of 6 per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock, series of 1929 (par value $50 a share), one share of no par common stock and a stock purchase warrant entitling the holder to purchase one share of no par value common stock. Priced at $64 a unit, offered by George H. Burr & Company.

Associated Telephone and Telegraph Company, 50,000 shares class "A" stock. Priced at $50 a share. Offered by a syndicate headed by Dawes & Company.

PROPOSES BIG RAIL MERGER

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Delaware and Hudson Company filed plans with Interstate Commerce Commission for merging with it 17 of the shorter eastern railroads into a belt system connecting all important cities on North Atlantic seaboard. Roads named in plan are: Bangor and Aroostook, Boston and Maine, Buffalo and Susquehanna, Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh, Central Railroad of New Jersey, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, Lehigh and Hudson River, Lehigh and New England, Maine Central, New York, New Haven and Hartford, New York, Ontario and Eastern, Pittsburgh and West Virginia, Reading Company, Rutland Railroad, Virginia Railroad and Western Maryland.

Plan includes trackage rights over New York Central from Albany to Cornwall, N. Y. The company would acquire other trackage rights and construct short connecting links.

Delaware and Hudson Company net income of $3,594,803 for seven months to July 31 is equal to $7.35 a share on 515,735 capital stock versus $1,747,840 or $3.39 a share on same share basis in 1928 period.

Tobacco Financing In Porto Rico Difficult

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Reports received at the Department of Commerce indicate that financing and planting and growing of the forthcoming tobacco crop in Porto Rico may be difficult for the farmer this year. This is the season in which plants are usually started, but little is being said so far about planting intentions. An agency in the Arecibo district usually financing crops on a large scale has made the announcement it will not finance any tobacco planting this year.

In China, tobacco prospects are reported very good. The largest foreign concern there is cutting more leaf tobacco than ever in its history. Holders of low grade tobacco tips, however, are reported to be experiencing difficulty in selling their stocks.

Commission Denies I. R. T. Fare Raise

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The Transit Commission has denied the application of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company for an increase in fare to 10 cents on the Manhattan Railway.

The commission dismissed the complaint and petition on the ground that it was improperly brought during pendency of state court litigation and in violation of the restraining order therein.

The Transit Commission reserved to the company the right to revive proceedings if the restraining order now in force is finally dissolved.

THE UNION NATIONAL BANK OF PITTSBURGH
Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 13, 1929.
The Board of Directors of this Bank has declared the regular quarterly dividend of four (4) per cent on the capital stock, payable Sept. 30, 1929, to stockholders of record at the close of business, Sept. 28, 1929.
Checks will be mailed.
R. H. BEATTY, Cashier.

MONONGAHELA NATIONAL BANK
Pittsburgh, Pa., Sep. 16, 1929.
DIVIDEND—The Board of Directors of this Bank has this day declared a quarterly dividend of 4% on the capital stock, payable October 1st, 1929, to stockholders of record at the close of business on September 30th, 1929. Checks will be mailed.
M. S. VANDEVORT, Cashier.

P. R. R. OPPOSES B. & O. PLAN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The Pennsylvania Railroad asserts that the Commerce Commission should reject the proposal of the Baltimore and Ohio to acquire control of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh by purchase of a majority of stock in a brief filed today.

The assertion is based upon the argument that the commission should not permanently allocate the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh to any system previous to consideration of other trunk line interests incident to the promulgation of a railroad consolidation plan which the commission has announced it soon will publish.

London Bank Rate To Remain Same

LONDON, Sept. 18.—No rise in the English bank rate is expected tomorrow, although London banking opinion is generally agreed that a higher rate must be inaugurated next month.

The gold situation of the Bank of England remains practically unchanged from last week.

MARKET SOARS DESPITE CALL MONEY RISE

Early Declines Wiped Out As Stocks Gain 1 to 15 Points—Solvents Up 51¼

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Nervous trading again characterized today's stock market, but indications of easing credit conditions strengthened bullish confidence, and the market headed upward in brisk fashion in the early afternoon.

Many of the early declines of 1 to 3 points were cut down, or wiped out, and a long list of issues were marked up 1 to 6 points, with a few high priced specialties whirled up 7 to nearly 15 points. Commercial Solvents soared 51¼ points to a new high record at 601.

Call money renewed at 9 per cent, as against a renewal rate of 7½ and a closing rate of 10 yesterday, with indications that the rate would be maintained all day. Money brokers reported an easier undertone in the market, and expect the rate to work lower later in the week. There were no changes in other monetary accommodations.

STEEL OUTPUT LOWER

Trade news was mixed in character. Weekly steel trade reviews reported a further recession in output, bringing it about in line with the rate at this period last year, but pointed out that there had been a marked increase in railroad buying. Car loadings in the first week of September fell below the previous week, due to the observance of the Labor Day holiday, but were nearly 3 per cent above the corresponding week last year.

While the bulk of the day's activity was on the side of rising prices, the market was highly selective in character. American Telephone, which was under pressure last week, rallied 12¼ points to a new high at 306¾, which compares with the year's low of 193¼, on buying influenced by expectations of materially expanding earnings through royalties and sales on sound picture devices. U. S. Industrial Alcohol was again heavily bought, soaring about 12 points to 215, a new high record. Foster Wheeler common and preferred advanced 6 and 14¾ points, respectively, to new top prices for the year.

MAKE WIDE GAINS

Allied Chemical, Auburn Auto, Western Union, Pacific Telephone, American Can, Westinghouse Electric and Columbian Carbon all sold 5 to 8 points higher, while among the most of 3 to 4 points gains were Atchison, International Telephone, Simmons, U. S. Steel, American and Foreign Power, Union Tank Car and Continental Can.

Motors experienced a sinking spell around mid-day. General motors sank from 76¼ to 74, one block of 8,100 shares changing hands at the lower figure. Chrysler dropped 2 points. J. I. Case dropped 10 points.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Reported need of more rain in Argentina, together with continued unfavorable crop advices from Australia, tended to make wheat prices here average higher early today. There were indications also of a good domestic milling demand for wheat. Opening unchanged to ½c higher, Chicago wheat afterward reacted somewhat at times. With frost reports numerous, corn and oats showed relative firmness, corn starting at ⅜ to ⅞c advance, but subsequently sagging. Provisions likewise scored gains.

Argentine advices today reporting weather clear and that there had been no rain in Pampas, North Cordoba, North Santa Fe and Enterios districts did much to renew fears of drought damage. Moisture for the territory specified was said to be needed urgently. Largely as a result, the wheat market here showed an irregular upward trend much of the time today, especially as domestic wheat appeared to be in request for milling. Meanwhile, Liverpool said wheat offerings there were smaller than they had been.

Helping to strengthen wheat values today was a comprehensive summary indicating that sub-soil conditions throughout the United States winter wheat belt were unsatisfactory, and that soaking rains were a widespread want. As a consequence, some curtailment of intended planting of winter wheat seemed likely. Lateness of planting, however, means lessened danger from hessian fly.

At noon wheat was ½c to ⅞c net lower and corn unchanged to ½c down.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The raw sugar market was unchanged early today. No sales were reported, but uncontrolled sugars were available at .02 duty paid, with refiners showing no interest.

The raw sugar futures market opened at declines of 1 to 4 points under liquidation and selling of new crop deliveries by houses with Cuban and European connections. The liquidation was promoted by the circulation of 75 September notices, while private reports of heavy rains in France and expectations of showers on the continent were responsible for the other selling. The market held steady after the call on covering, but the demand was not aggressive and at the late forenoon prices showed little change from initial figures.

The refined market was unchanged at 5.40 for fine granulated. Business was comprised wholly of withdrawals on old contracts.

Rubber Market.

Grigsby Grunow Sales.

The Grigsby Grunow Company's sales for three months ended August 31 were approximately $19,400,000, and sales for October and November are expected to bring the total for the first half of the fiscal year up to about $52,000,000, which would compare with sales of $45,531,130 for the full year ended May 31, 1929. The company is shipping 6,500 sets a day and the tube department is making 35,000 tubes a day and expects to increase tube production to 50,000 a day in the near future.

Fourth Quarter Steel Outlook.

A survey made by a leading producer of steel in the Chicago district indicated that business will be good in the final quarter of the year. Railroads, it was said, will be in the market for equipment on a large scale. Automobile and farm implement manufacturers were reported showing more interest in the market.

Evans-Wallower.

Evans-Wallower Lead Company is planning construction of a new electrolytic smelting plant, with a daily capacity of 50 tons, at East St. Louis. It is expected that work on a white lead plant at Charleston, W. Va., will be started as soon as the smelting mill has been completed.

South Penn Oil.

Pennzoil Company, controlled by South Penn Oil Company, is establishing new divisional headquarters in New York and Chicago. The New York office will be in charge of A. S. Matthews, vice president, and the Chicago office in charge of E. R. Preble, assistant general sales manager.

Consolidated Aircraft.

Consolidated Aircraft Corporation has received an order from the United States Army for 70 all-metal corps observation planes of Thomas Morse type, involving $1,000,000 including spare parts.

Hard Coal Shipments.

August shipments of anthracite totaled 4,564,426 gross tons against 5,376,543 in August, 1928, and 3,687,586 in July, 1929, the Philadelphia Anthracite Bureau reports.

Expands Plant 50 Per Cent.

Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Company has completed an addition to its main plant at Minneapolis increasing its size almost 50 per cent.

DEMAND LIFTS BLAW KNOX SHARES

Buying Movement Advances Stock in Local Trading; Rustless Iron Moves Up

Blaw Knox shares were in strong demand on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today, with sales totaling several thousand by early afternoon.

The price movement was not particularly wide, but the issue displayed a steady upward tendency throughout the session. Buying was in anticipation of favorable news from a meeting scheduled for this afternoon.

Several thousand shares of the newly listed International Rustless Iron were wanted at the start and the demand raised the price sharply in the first hour. The opening was at 6¼, as compared with last night's close at 5⅞, and the initial gain was quickly extended. This company owns the Rustless Iron Corporation of America and is rapidly expanding. There is a heavy demand for the product and it is understood the company will shortly announce arrangements for acquisition of a large plant in this district. International Rustless Iron capital consists of $500,000 of 7 per cent preferred and 5,000,000 authorized shares of $1 par common, the exact outstanding amount of which has not been stated.

Western Public Service and Lone Star Gas both sold within fractions of the previous closings, as did Arkansas Gas. Miscellaneous industrials were narrow and quiet. Fireproofings were also active on a narrow range.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The cotton market opened steady today at an advance of 2 to 8 points on buying promoted by relatively steady cables reports of rains in the South and expectations of bullish features in the weekly report of the weather bureau.

There were some overnight selling orders which supplied the early demand and caused some irregularity right after the call, but they appeared to be quite readily absorbed and by the end of the first half hour, prices were 8 to 11 points net higher with December selling at 18.91 and March at 19.20.

Liverpool cables said that there had been a very good buying, covering and trade calling with a comparative scarcity of contracts in the market there.

Active months sold 8 to 10 points above yesterday's closing figures before the end of the morning, with December advancing to 18.92c and March to 19.21c. There was enough southern selling and realizing to check the upturn at these figures, however, and the market eased after the publication of the weekly weather report, which was evidently less bullish than anticipated. December sold off to 18.76c and March to 19.06c, or 4 to 7 points net lower, but the offerings soon tapered off and the market was quiet at midday with prices holding fairly steady at about yesterday's closing quotations.

Why Have We Investment Trusts Now?

By B. C. FORBES

THE most extraordinary financial development since the war, apart from the phenomenal rise in American stocks, has been the bewildering multiplication in this country of investment trusts, a movement going on today at a faster pace than ever.

Already close to two billion dollars has been subscribed for such flotations this year and the total for 1929 promises to exceed two-and-a-half billions.

What will be the outcome?

LIFE has become so complex that we try wherever possible to pass on responsibilities to others. President Coolidge cordially agreed with Democrats that the American people were casting upon the Federal Government duties and obligations which should be handled either by individuals or by the states. The Government itself, in turn, has resorted to transferring responsibilities to commissions and such-like bodies.

The responsibility of running individual homes is being shirked on all sides. Housewives have flocked to apartment houses and to hotels, where domestic duties are taken over by others.

REFLECT and perhaps you will reach the conclusion that the hurry and scurry of modern existence and the desire to get rid of every avoidable responsibility explain very largely the amazing growth of investment trusts. We think we have so much to occupy our days that we have little time for anything.

Now, investing one's savings, one's money, is a serious responsibility. It is a problem which many do not feel capable of solving efficiently. In the old days it was simpler because there then were relatively few bonds and investment stocks publicly quoted. But today their number is legion. On the New York Stock Exchange alone the value of issues bought and sold there has increased more than fifty billion dollars in the last four years.

ALONG comes the originators of investment trusts with the tidings:

"Why spend sleepless days and then suffer sleepless nights over selecting investments for your funds? You may pick one or two or more securities which prove bad and half your money may be lost. The risk is too great.

"Let us, out of our abundant experience, solve your problem. Instead of buying for you a few securities, we will invest your funds in scores or even hundreds of well-chosen securities. We will give you a measure of diversity of holdings such as not even J. P. Morgan or Andrew W. Mellon could individually enjoy. Obviously. It is in your interest to put your money into a capably-managed investment trust, thus eliminating your risk to the lowest possible minimum by making you a part-owner of a large number of attractive enterprises."

CRITICS of investment trusts allege, among other things:

"The motive underlying the forming of investment trusts is profit for those floating them. Many so-called 'investment trusts' are nothing but blind pools, bent on making a lot of money through gambling in stocks—with money put up by the public. Everything has been fine and everybody has been satisfied because the stock market has been going up and up. But when the market tumbles from its unparalleled heights, then many who bought investment trust shares will discover they put their money into, not a conservative investment, but a rank speculation."

AS IN other divisions of the market irregularity has prevailed in investment trusts, with, however, the advances easily exceeding the declines. These tables tell the tale:

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Operations for the advance were pressed forward aggressively on the Curb Exchange today, but the mid-month tightening credit, coming rather sooner than had been expected, impeded the advance. Some of the utilities and investment trusts were pushed up into new high ground in heavy trading, but most gains were moderate, and a few issues sagged.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

STEEL MARKET LACKING IN BUOYANCY

Rail and Building Orders Hold Up; Industry Awaits Test of Price Structure

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade tomorrow will say:

Railroad buying and construction work are auspicious factors in a steel market still characterized by uncertainty. The expected upswing in railroad equipment demand is materializing and the customary fall rail buying movement is gathering momentum.

Steel demand, although getting support from two important consuming industries, lacks the widespread buoyancy of previous months. The possibility that the unusually active summer months reflected an overreaching of industrial operations is still taken into account.

Of interest in this connection is a downturn in automobile production, following a short-lived recovery. The change in trend is attributable to curtailed output of low-priced cars, which is more than offsetting increases by companies bringing out new models. Ford output in September, according to present estimates, will decline to 170,000 cars, compared with 205,000 in August.

Plans of farm machinery makers to expand output in October, as they swing into production of spring equipment, are tempered by the unfavorable turn of agriculture.

Steel mill backlogs are still shrinking and steel production has undergone further reduction. Operations in terms of steel ingot output now range from 80 to 90 per cent. The Steel Corporation's average is 85 per cent, which is also a liberal estimate for the industry as a whole.

Further announcements of the opening of fourth quarter books, usually at unchanged quotations, have resulted in little contracting. Mills are not pushing sales lest the stability of prices might suffer.

Pending a real test of prices, few significant changes have occurred. Concessions on shapes, bars and plates, although by no means general, are reported more frequently. On the other hand, sellers of galvanized sheets are taking a firmer stand at 3.60c a pound, an advance of $2 a ton over the recent market.

The Iron Age composite price for pig iron has advanced from $18.25 to $18.29 a gross ton and is 66c higher than a year ago. Finished steel remains for the sixth week at 2.398c a pound, which is $1 a net ton above the figure of 12 months ago.

Railroad Traffic to Set New High Mark

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Though Labor Day interrupted business during the latest week of railroad car loadings compiled, the American Railway Association's traffic report issued today indicated that the country's rail traffic volume is continuing its march towards setting a new high record. The total exceeded materially that of the corresponding week both for last year and for 1927, though less than the loadings of the preceding week. Figures for the periods follow: Week ending September 7, 1,017,072 cars; preceding week, 1,160,216 cars; same week last year, 991,385 cars; same week 1927, 989,799 cars.

Pacific Western Gets Big Producer

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 18.—Pacific Western completed well on Tide No. 92-1. Official reports from company state that daily rate is 4,500 barrels of 38 gracity oil.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—American Telephone convertible 4½s ran away from the rest of the bond market today, rising more than 8½ points on a turnover which in the first two hours of trading exceeded $2,200,000, par value. The debentures, which can be exchanged for stock after January 1 at $180 a share, made their sharp advance on the buoyancy of the shares, and were near their high.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

EXPECT SPURT IN HARDWARE

The hardware trade, according to reports from important market centers, appears to be marking time in anticipation of the real start of the fall consumer demand, Hardware Age says in its weekly summary. While some considerable activity in fall and winter merchandise is noted, snappier temperatures will be welcomed as stimulating to general resumption of trade. Some sections report jobbers receiving a few orders for spring goods.

In general, hardware firms, jobbers and dealers alike, look for fall trade that will be normally active if not better than usual. Some sections are very optimistic.

The steel industry is at present slackening up in its long run of capacity business, but employment generally is still at a high and satisfactory level. Prices are notably steady, and collections show improvement.

INSURANCE CO. INCOME UP

HARTFORD, Sept. 18.—Revenues of 35 insurance companies, most of whose stocks are quoted in the unlisted securities market, amounted to $238,446,311 in the first six months of the current year, compared with $226,754,626 in the first half of 1928. Figures in both instances include new capital paid in and dividends from holdings, so the increase was not necessarily due to increase in premium volume. Leading insurance executives say the premium volume is less, old established companies feeling the effect of competition of new companies started during the year.

Disbursements for the first half of 1929 by the same companies amounted to $205,286,045, compared with $202,976,804 in the first six months of 1928, increase of 1.1 per cent.

International Air Merger Under Way

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Negotiations for the proposed merger of a number of aircraft manufacturing and aviation concerns of international repute, which will involve one British, one American and two French companies with combined assets of more than $7,000,000, are now being carried on by banking interests in this country, according to reports in Wall Street.

Davenport Hosiery Doubles Income

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Davenport Hosiery Mills reports for eight months ended August 31 net profit as $262,375 after taxes, equal after preferred dividend to $2.88 a share on 75.000 no par common shares, compared to $132,288 profit in the corresponding period in 1928, or $1.75 a share.

Stock Exchange Topics

Commission Houses Get Many Requests for Market Tips.

COMMISSION houses, especially those doing a large wire business with the interior, are moved to remark the manner in which trading originating in that direction holds up. More surprising, however, is the persistence with which the middle western trading element seeks their tips. From the moment the wires open in the morning the call is strong for tips, and seldom is there any question relative to the basis of such information. On the contrary, as one observer of this particular phase of the situation declared today, most such traders are merely seeking a stock which it is hoped is scheduled for a quick move. No interest is shown in the respective merits of the issues involved beyond the hope of getting aboard for a quick turn.

Since the market ran into its recent reaction, which forced the outstanding shares back for losses of 10 to around 40 points from the August tops, there has been a growing urge to turn traders' attention to some of the lower priced stocks, which it is contended have been overlooked in the rush for the "blue ribbon" shares. This trend has caused much thumbing of the records in search of what might prove neglected opportunities. But one well-known market statistician was convinced today that the result of such study merely went to prove the reason for the amazing degree of discrimination that has been manifest in the market for many months past.

AMERICAN TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH stood as the pinnacle of strength in the New York market as speculative interest shifted back into the high priced shares after an interval in which stocks of that description had been rather neglected.

Large scale buying, aggressive in the extreme lifted that premier utility to new record high levels with the advance running close to 15 points, adding immensely to the market value of the company's capital stock. Strength here was ascribed largely to buying for big interests, presumably investment trusts, but the rise naturally served to revive reports that have been current from time to time of important developments pending in the company's affairs.

Demand for the Steel shares led by Steel common was a feature of the afternoon, tending, as it did, to restore confidence in the market's position generally. The rise in this group coincided with the publication of the mid-weekly steel trade journals, which, while finding this generally favorable, were not quite so optimistic as they had been some weeks ago. Mill backlogs are still tapering off, and the same is true of production. Railroads are reported buying more heavily and construction demand is keeping up, but motor and farm machinery makers are inclined to go slowly. Weakness in scrap steel is apparently one of the disturbing developments because of the recognized barometric importance of that particular item to the trade.

SUBSTANTIAL improvement has occurred in the affairs of General Cables, the company participating actively in the demand for electrical equipment this year with the prospects of excellent earnings in the future. The company may earn around $4.00 a share this year after setting up enormous reserves against copper inventories, etc. The company is one of the leading manufacturers of wire and cable in this country and Wall Street is confident a good offer to minority stockholders will be made in the not distant future by American Smelting and Refining.

A story regarding merger for Electric Bond and Share is receiving credence in trading circles. It names Electric Investors as the company for which an exchange of shares will be made, and terms are said to be two shares Electric Bond and Share for each share of Electric Investors. At the opening prices of 180 for Electric Bond and Share and 293 for Electric Investors the latter would be selling 70 points below its parity value in such an exchange. As an investment trust with large holdings of important utility stocks the acquisition of Electric Investors would have considerable intrinsic value to Electric Bond and Share.

Crown Zellerbach Expands Facilities

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—J. D. Zellerbach, executive vice president of the Crown Zellerbach Corporation, announces the purchase of a paper mill with an appraised value of more than $1,000,000 located in Carthage, N. Y. The mill was purchased from the West End Paper Company, of New York, and will be operated by the Carthage division of National Paper Products, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Crown Zellerbach Corporation, in connection with the former company's plant in the same city.

GLIDDEN TITLE IS CHANGED

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Glidden Company has changed the name of its wholly owned food subsidiary to Durkee Famous Foods, Inc., from Glidden Food Products Company.

Glidden's expansion into the food industry is the result of company's large consumption of vegetable oils. This has resulted in the erection of plants for the manufacture and refining of these oils, which led to the volume production of edible oils to be used in the manufacture of food.

An important development of Glidden's food division was the acquisition of E. R. Durkee and Company, manufacturers of Durkee salad dressing, condiments and spices. Another important step was the purchase of the Voco Nut Oil Products Company, of Berkeley, Cal., large producers of crude cocoanut oil. This gave Glidden its own source of the raw material, stations being operated in the Philippine Islands and the Dutch East Indies where the product is purchased from the native producers.

More Miles From Tires.
Make your old tires help you pay for the new! It may be economy for you to buy new tires when the old ones show wear, but it's needless waste to throw the old ones away.
There are many hundreds, even thousands, of miles of service still in them—and many auto owners who have the time and mechanical ability are seeking just such as you have been throwing away.
So advertise your used tires in the Classified Ads—it's economy for you, and economy for those who come to buy.

NO. 590.
AN ORDINANCE — Authorizing and directing the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works, for and in behalf of the City of Pittsburgh, to enter into an agreement with The Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad Company, a corporation of the State of Pennsylvania relating to the recolation, vacation, widening, and otherwise improving of Carson street West, in the City of Pittsburgh between Smithfield street and the city line at McKees Rocks.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same. That the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works be, and they are hereby authorized and directed to execute, in behalf of the City of Pittsburgh, an agreement with The Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad Company, a corporation of the State of Pennsylvania, relating to the relocation, vacation, widening, and otherwise improving of Carson street West in the City of Pittsburgh between Smithfield street and the city line at McKees Rocks, in the following form:

THIS AGREEMENT,
MADE AND ENTERED INTO this .... day of .... 192..., between the CITY OF PITTSBURGH, hereinafter called the "CITY," party of the first part, and THE PITTSBURGH AND LAKE ERIE RAILROAD COMPANY, hereinafter called the "RAILROAD COMPANY," party of the second part, WITNESSETH:

FIRST—In consideration of the covenants to be kept and performed by the Railroad Company, the City agrees to and with the Railroad Company, as follows:

(1) The City agrees to pass the necessary legislation for the relocation of the northerly line of Carson street West from Smithfield street to the Point Bridge, according to the following description:

BEGINNING at a point of curve on the westerly line of Smithfield street at a distance of 45.53 feet measured northwardly along the westerly line of Smithfield street from its intersection with the present northerly line of Carson street, west; said point of curve to be known as Station 0+00; thence extending in a southerly and westerly direction by the arc of a circle deflecting to the right with a radius of 50.0 feet and a central angle of 101° 05' 50" for an arc distance of 88.22 feet to a point of tangent to an angle point at Station 0 + 88.22; thence extending westwardly by the tangent to an angle point at Station 6 + 01.98, said angle point being at a perpendicular distance of 8.15 feet south of the present northerly line of Carson Street West; thence deflecting 0° 45' 30" to the right and extending westwardly to a point of curve at Station 11 + 72.88, said point of curve being at a perpendicular distance of 4.74 feet south of the present northerly line of Carson Street West; thence extending westwardly by the arc of a circle deflecting to the left with a radius of 1570.0 feet and a central angle of 9° 48' 00" to a point of tangent at Station 14+41.42; thence extending westwardly by the tangent to a point of curve at Station 15 + 42.22; thence extending westwardly by the arc of a circle deflecting to the right with a radius of 1500.0 feet and a central angle of 14° 07' to a point of tangent at Station 19 + 11.80; thence extending westwardly by the tangent to a point of curve at Station 27 + 58.47; thence extending westwardly by the arc of a circle deflecting to the left with a radius of 1270.0 feet and a central angle of 7° 00' to a point of tangent at Station 29 + 13.63; thence extending westwardly by the tangent parallel to and at a perpendicular distance of 20.0 feet north of the present northerly line of Carson Street West to an angle point at Station 33 + 84.78 said angle point being perpendicularly opposite the first angle point in the present northerly line of Carson Street west, east of the Point Bridge; thence deflecting 0° 31' 55" to the right and extending westwardly to an angle point at Station 36 + 80.44, said angle point being at a perpendicular distance of 30.0 feet north of the present northerly line of Carson Street West; thence deflecting 1° 56' 25" to the left and extending westwardly parallel to the present northerly line of Carson Street West to the easterly line of the Point Bridge at Station 40 + 63.0, more or less.

(2) The City further agrees to relocate the southerly line of Carson Street West, from a point approximately 1172 feet west of Smithfield Street to a point approximately 2914 feet west of Smithfield Street, according to the following description:

BEGINNING at a point of curve perpendicularly opposite and 66.0 feet south of the point of curve in the above described northerly line at Station 11 + 72.88; thence extending westwardly by the arc of a circle deflecting to the left with a radius of 1229.88 feet and a central angle of 9° 48' 00" having an arc distance of 210.36 feet to a point of tangent; thence extending westwardly by the tangent for the distance of 46.66 feet to a point 70.0 feet southwardly from the point of tangent in the above described northerly line at Station 14 + 41.42; thence parallel to and 70.0 feet southwardly from the above described northerly line to a point on the present southerly line perpendicularly opposite to and 70 feet southwardly from Station 29 + 13.63 of the above described northerly line.

The above described lines in paragraphs (1) and (2) are shown on Exhibit "D" Plan No. 2255, on file in the Department of Public Works, Bureau of Engineering, Division of Surveys of the City of Pittsburgh, dated August 15, 1929, approved by the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh and the Assistant Vice President and Chief Engineer of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad Company, which plan is hereby made part of this agreement.

(3) The City further agrees to vacate that portion of Carson street West lying between the present northerly line of Carson street West and the relocated northerly line of the said street, from Smithfield street to Station 11 + 72.88 described in sub-paragraph (1) hereof, at such time in the future as the City may by Ordinance widen Carson street West on the southerly side thereof, as herein agreed.

(4) The City further agrees to vacate all that portion of Carson street West, between Station 11+72.88, described in sub-paragraph (1) hereof, and the Point Bridge, which lies outside of the said Carson street West as relocated and widened, in conformity with this Agreement.

(5) The City further agrees to use all diligence to enact the necessary legislation and to physically widen and reconstruct said Carson street West within the lines provided in this Agreement, between Station 11 + 72.88, as described in sub-paragraph (1) hereof, and Station 28 + 12, as described in said sub-paragraph (1) hereof.

The matters contained in paragraphs (1), (2), (3), (4,) and (5) of this section shall be performed without expense to the Railroad and without any claim by it against the City for damage on account thereof.

(6) The City further agrees to acquire by purchase or condemnation, without cost to the Railroad Company, any and all property not now owned by the said Railroad Company or hereafter dedicated by the same for street purposes necessary for the widening and relocation of Carson street West, from a point at Station 11 + 72.88, as described in sub-paragraph (1) hereof, to the Point Bridge in the City of Pittsburgh.

(7) The City further agrees, at its own cost, to construct, repair, reconstruct and maintain in a safe manner, all the structures authorized under the easements granted by the Railroad Company; and also to indemnify and save harmless the Railroad Company against all loss and damage occasioned by reason of the construction, maintenance and operation of the same. As parts of the proposed structures to be built by the City upon the easements granted will be very close to the clearance lines of one of the P. & L. E. R. R. Company's high speed tracks—the City hereby agrees that during construction, repairs or replacement (false work, etc.) to make no encroachments on the property of the P. & L. E. R. R. Company greater than are provided for in this agreement without the written approval, by the Chief Engineer of the P. & L. E. R. R. Company of plans defining the temporary additional encroachments desired for the construction, repair or replacement; and the assumption by the city or its Contractor of any necessary expense incident to the flagging and protection of trains.

SECOND—In consideration of the covenants to be kept and performed by the City, the Railroad Company agrees to and with the City, as follows:

(a) The Railroad Company agrees that it will make no further use of the land or lands between the present northerly line of Carson street West and the relocated line of said street, between Smithfield street and Station 11 + 72.88, as described in sub-paragraph (1) hereof, pending the actual widening of said street.

(b) The Railroad Company agrees to dedicate to the City all land required for the widening, relocating and opening of Carson street West now owned by said Railroad Company, between the present west line of Smithfield street and the Point Bridge, without cost to the City, said relocation, widening and opening of Carson street West and the dedication of the land by the Railroad Company for street purposes to be in conformity with the descriptions contained in sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of Section "FIRST" hereof.

(c) The Railroad Company further agrees to dedicate to the City of Pittsburgh, for public purposes, at such time as the City may need the same, the land now owned by said Railroad Company located on the Southerly side of Carson Street West, as relocated from a point about 1700 feet west of Smithfield Street to a point about 1400 feet east of the Point Bridge, without cost to the City.

(d) The Railroad Company further agrees to dedicate to the City of Pittsburgh, for public purposes, certain property lying between Musk Way and the Point Bridge, abutting on the present northerly line of Carson Street West. The north line of the land so dedicated is more definitely described as follows:

BEGINNING at a point on the northerly line of Carson Street West, distant 10.57 feet eastwardly from the westerly terminus of the first curve west of the Point Bridge; thence westwardly and tangent to said curve for the distance of 1490.6 feet, more or less, to a point of curve, distant 9.07 feet northwardly from the northerly line of Carson Street West; thence in a westerly direction by the arc of a circle deflecting to the right having a radius of 2000.0 feet for the distance of 144.22 feet, more or less, to a point on the line dividing the property now or late of Amelia P. Roberts and the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad Company, said point being distant 15.39 feet, measured along said dividing line, from the northerly line of Carson Street West and 24.5 feet, more or less, eastwardly from the easterly line of Musk Way.

Said northerly line is shown on drawing marked "Exhibit "C," being Drawing No. 2254 of the Division of Surveys, Bureau of Engineering, Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh, dated August 15, 1929, approved by the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh and the Assistant Vice President and Chief Engineer of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad Company, which plan is hereby made part of this agreement.

(e) The Railroad Company further agrees to grant to the City an easement permitting the widening of the roadway of Carson Street West, from a point about 2500 feet east of Steuben Street to the City Line at McKees Rocks, said easement to be granted in conformity with the following detailed descriptions:

Station 0 + 0 hereinafter referred to in this description is a point about 2300 feet east of Corliss Street and is at the line dividing the old Thirty-sixth and Fortieth Wards, City of Pittsburgh, and this Station 0 + 0 and the 5-foot southerly line hereinafter referred to is described in the Agreement between the City of Pittsburgh and the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad Company authorized by Ordinance No. 388, approved November 30, 1910, and established by Ordinance No. 512, approved February 16, 1911.

BEGINNING at a point in the line dividing lands now or formerly of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad Company and the West Side Belt Railroad Company, said point being distant 43.0 feet from and measured normal to the southerly 5-foot line at Station 4 + 76.14; thence extending in a northwesterly direction and parallel to the southerly 5-foot line 419.41 feet to a point of curve which is 43 feet from the southerly 5-foot line measured normal thereto; thence deflecting to the left by the arc of a circle with a radius of 1422.53 feet and a central angle of 2° 25' 00" a distance of 60.0 feet to a point of tangent which is 42.5 feet from the southerly 5-foot line measured normal thereto; thence in a northwesterly direction and tangent to the last described curve and parallel to the southerly 5-foot line 540 feet to a point of curve; thence deflecting to the right by the arc of a circle with a radius of 2029.86 feet and a central angle of 4° 4' 50" a distance of 144.57 feet, to a point of tangent which is 52.5 feet from the southerly 5-foot line measured normal thereto; thence in a northwesterly direction parallel to the southerly 5-foot line and tangent to the last described curve 510 feet to a point of curve; thence deflecting to the right by the arc of a circle with a radius of 4477.57 feet and a central angle of 6° 02' 30" a distance of 472.15 feet to a point of tangent which is 4.75 feet from the southerly 5-foot line measured normal thereto at Station 26 + 25.85; thence in a southwesterly direction deflecting to the left 90° from a tangent to the last described curve 4.96 feet to the existing northerly building line, as shown on Plan No. 2252, marked Exhibit "A."

BEGINNING at a point in the existing north building line of Carson Street West, which is 37.75 feet northwestwardly from the southerly 5-foot line at Station 53 + 06.55 and measured normal thereto; thence in a westerly direction by a curve deflecting to the right with a radius of 2402.45 feet and a central angle of 2° 32' 35" a distance of 106.64 feet to a point of reverse curve; thence by a curve deflecting to the left with a radius of 3002.0 feet and a central angle of 1° 54' 35" a distance of 100.06 feet to a point of tangent; thence in a westerly direction tangent to the last described curve and parallel to the southerly 5-foot line 147.6 feet to a point of curve which is 43.0 feet from the southerly 5-foot line measured normal thereto; thence by a curve deflecting to the left with a radius of 840.0 feet and a central angle of 6° 43' 05" a distance of 98.49 feet to a point of tangent; thence in a westerly direction tangent to the last described curve 74.55 feet to a point in the existing north building line, which is 37.75 feet from the southerly 5-foot line at Station 58 + 28.38 and measured normal thereto, as shown on Plan No. 2253, marked Exhibit "B."

(f) The Railroad Company further grants to the City the right to use and occupy said easement, with the walls, supports and overhead construction, as set forth in detail in Exhibit "A" and "B," being Plans Nos. 2252 and 2253, respectively, of the Division of Surveys, Bureau of Engineering, Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh, dated June, 1929, approved by the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh and the Assistant Vice President and Chief Engineer of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad Company, which plans are hereby made part of this agreement.

THIRD—It is hereby mutually understood and agreed that neither the purpose nor intent nor obligation of this Agreement, if and when approved by the Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, is such as to impair or in anywise affect the exercise by said Commission of any of the powers vested in it by the Public Service Company Law, approved July 26, 1913.

THIS AGREEMENT is executed by and on behalf of said City pursuant to an Ordinance of the City of Pittsburgh, approved the....day of......... 192.., and by and on behalf of the Railroad Company pursuant to a Resolution of its Board of Directors passed on the ....day of........192...

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, This Agreement is signed and executed in the name of and for the City of Pittsburgh, by Charles H. Kline, Mayor, and Edward G. Lang, Director of the Department of Public Works, and the seal of said City is by the Mayor hereto affixed, and by The Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad Company, its common and corporate seal being hereto affixed, duly attested by the proper officers thereof, this....day of.... BUGS BAER Says

HARK, HARK, THE DOGS DO BARK

Big business has swallowed up its midget competition. Big business is now engaged in the personal cannabalistic pastime of eating itself up from all angles.

International Evaporated Oil Wells and Peruvian Biscuit.

Perforated Awnings and Interurban Horse Collars.

Probably the merger that will twitch your imagination is that between Standard Oil and Laughing Frankfurters.

The John Dees noticed that every time a tourist stopped at a pump for gasoline, he had a mustache made of mustard and was chewing courageously at a fricaseed and barbecued hot dog.

The backseat drivers were also chinning themselves on horizontal bars made of hamburgered spaniels.

So the John Dees decided to capture the frankfurter trade and merge it with the gas stations.

They have not yet selected a slogan for this merger.

And, in place of mustard, you will be able to spread non-freezing grease on your rolls.

You will have to carry a spare frankfurter on the rear of your tonneau.

Dear Doctor Koerth:

I am writing to thank you and all the hospital staff for what you have done for me during my stay. It has been a pleasure to me. I am leaving on account of stomach trouble.

I wish you and all the staff and patients good luck.

Yours truly,
M. W. KENNEDY.

Dear Doctor Koerth:

I am leaving the hospital after being advised by the house doctor that I had received all the benefit that I would likely receive and that a change might do me some good.

Fraternally,
JOE GRACE.

Primary Vote Indicates Need to Amend Laws

Charles H. Kline has been nominated as the Republican candidate for the office of mayor, conceded to indicate re-election of Mr. Kline. The decision of the people is conclusive and is an indication to the practical-minded person that it is time to buckle down to our regular work and forget about politics.

There are many implications in the result of the balloting from which political prophets may extract instruction that is valuable. One of these that should concern the people in general is that election laws need changing to permit more time to elapse between the last day of registration and the date of the primary. Many things that are alleged to have been irregular were uncovered in the few days preceding the primary, but there was not time to apply a remedy. Even the legal phases of the case did not appear to be absolutely clear.

Another matter, one which the grand jury likely will look into, is that of "additional assessments," whereby, it is charged, the way was made easy for "phantoms" and repeaters to vote. Additional assessment ostensibly is to permit a bona fide citizen who may have been overlooked by the assessor to get his name on the taxable list. There were thousands of "additional assessments" for the primary.

The result of the voting also clearly showed that the trend illustrated by the Sun-Telegraph straw vote could have been taken as a fairly reliable guide. Although only a small percentage of those who received cards returned them with their preference marked, that trend was sufficient to show the state of the public mind.

An Old Conductor

What He Sees of Prohibition.

An old conductor on a branch road of the Pennsylvania Railroad, running from a quiet coast town in New Jersey, to a big city in Pennsylvania, and going all the way through rural districts, was asked, as a drunken man dropped into his seat, "I suppose you see that sort of thing rarely out here?"

The conductor replied "that kind of thing was VERY rare, BEFORE PROHIBITION CAME.

"Before prohibition I did not carry one drunkard a month on this branch. But since prohibition I see 30 of them in a day."

That was said by an old man nearing the age of enforced retirement, a man that had never taken a drink of alcoholic liquor in his life.

It would have enlightened the fanatical prohibitionist to hear him tell of young girls and boys getting on the train, bringing a bottle of bootleg whisky, or more often a bottle of pure alcohol, drinking the poison, and losing their moral sense as they drank it.

We need temperance laws, in place of the present law that makes criminals rich and school children DRUNK.

Anything but Thought

That's TOO Tiresome.

The tastes and pleasures of human beings change little from century to century. Romans gave parties exhibiting fights of strange beasts from Africa and Asia, and fierce blond men from the North killing each other.

We have stopped killing for amusement and gate receipts, unless it happens accidentally, in a "legal" prize fight.

But in some ways our parties are as nearly like the old ones as the law will allow.

You read of one party that included for the guests' amusement Hindu musicians with native instruments, an Egyptian snake dance, several professional wrestlers, a clown act, etc.

Anything that will take the place of thinking and intelligent conversation is appreciated.

"Anything but water," said the German comedian, asked what he would drink. "My weak stomach can't endure."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

EVERY now and then some one tells me how dull modern life is. And I grin to myself and think—"Stranger, if you'd hoist yourself off that cushioned seat and take a look around you'd certainly be surprised."

Last night, for instance—

I think I've told you how I've cut loose from cities and have been living up in the Sierra Nevada. Well—

Last night I was certainly tired. I'd been back in the brush about eight miles. Eight miles isn't anything if you're on the road on a nice, cool day, but when you're breaking trail with the sun hanging like a hot slug of lead in a white sky and the earth so dry that it spurts under your feet like smoke. . . . yes, I surely was tired. But, in spite of that, along about three I woke.

I don't know what woke me. Perhaps the sudden stillness. Mountain nights aren't naturally still. Noons are far stiller, with that awful heat clamping down like a lid. But with the coolness of the night you can hear things stirring, peering out, getting busy. There are tiny squeaks—a secret whispering and scuttling going on all about you—the blurry whoosh of a big owl making off above the chapparal—

You can feel the breathing of the trees—spreading out their leaves and gummy needles to the coolness—moving their great bodies slowly, like lazy swimmers, in a clear pool of air. Even the earth turns—relaxes—sprawls at ease, opening its mysterious pores.

Mountain night throbs like a gypsy camp, if you have the ear to hear it. But all that sense of night living had stopped when I awoke. Something had cut across it. Everything was as hushed as though a great string had just ceased twanging—everything held its breath—

I'm no searcher for trouble, but something drew me out of my tent into the clearing. Starlight—a powdery brilliance that caught in filaments upon the trees and lay in a gleaming dust in the bushes. The ground had lost its substance. Light ran like mercury through the black ruts. Plainly, in a heavy zig-zag that ran from the higher ridge down to the spring, I saw the track of a rattler. But there was something more vicious than the br-r-r-r of a rattler in that warning silence.

I sniffed. An acrid tang in the air—a faint, coppery glare to the west—fire at Moccasin Creek for the last three days—they were working shifts, fighting it. But that wasn't it. There was something nearer than fire—something as deadly but more deliberate—something that had put the whole forest acrouch—

Suddenly a coyote broke out yammering—

Not just the silly yap--yap-yammer of a summer night—but shrill, hiccupy, like a hysterical woman. That coyote had more than pullet in its gullet. It had Fear. Wolf though it was, it was bleating with fear.

As suddenly as it had started the yapping was cut off—choked back—

A gulping moment—

A scream that writhed and crawled and bellied in the dust . . . that leaped and clawed and twisted in the trees . . . that snarled and spit and died in gurgling moans . . . and rose again in awful, laughing yelps . . . and whimpered, wailed and broke out into sobs . . . and crashed to silence on one hideous yell!

When I began to take notice again it was considerably lighter. I was in another place. I had left that first place. I had left it very fast. I had no desire to return to it again.

Very faintly, far across the hills, I heard the five o'clock whistles at the lumber mills. Men were going to work there, members of the Californian unions, in good and regular standing. They would be discussing a number of things relating to our dull modern world of 1929. But what they discussed meant nothing to me—nothing at all. My thoughts were elsewhere.

So THAT was a mountain lion!

Bible Passages

Daniel Refuses King's Meat

(Daniel 1: 3-15)

AND the king spake unto Ashpenaz the master of his eunuchs, that he should bring certain of the children of Israel, and of the king's seed, and of the princes;

Children in whom was no blemish, but well favoured, and skillful in all wisdom, and cunning in knowledge, and understanding science, and such as had ability in them to stand in the king's palace, and whom they might teach the learning and the tongue of the Chaldeans.

And the king appointed them a daily provision of the king's meat, and of the wine which he drank: so nourishing them three years, that at the end thereof they might stand before the king.

Now among these were of the children of Judah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah.

Unto whom the prince of the eunuchs gave names: for he gave unto Daniel the name of Belteshazzar; and to Hananiah, of Shadrach; and unto Mishael, of Meshach; and to Azariah, of Abed-nego.

But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king's meat, nor with the wine which he drank: therefore he requested of the prince of the eunuchs that he might not defile himself.

And the prince of the eunuchs said unto Daniel, I fear my lord the king, who hath appointed your meat and your drink: for why should he see your faces worse liking than the children which are of your sort? then shall ye make me endanger my head to the king.

Then said Daniel to Melzar, whom the prince of the eunuchs had set over Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah, Prove thy servants, I beseech thee, ten days; and let them give us pulse to eat, and water to drink.

Then let our countenances be looked upon before thee, and the countenance of the children that eat of the portion of the king's meat: and as thou seest, deal with thy servants.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

YOU can't always tell when you're misplacing sympathy. Now, there was a preacher that was a friend of a kind of an aristocratic family, and one day he got to marry off the last daughter of the family. He got his fee and everything, and the last one he saw outside of the church was the bride's dad. He walked up to the old man and patted him on the shoulder.

"Well, well," says the preacher, "I've no doubt this has all been very difficult for you."

"Me?" say the old man. "Why, no, you'd be surprised how good that girl is. She managed the whole thing. Picked her man, without ever bothering me about it, and landed him all by herself. Now she's off my hands, and I can get some little reading done."

SKYSCRAPER POKER

Time and contrast destroy all wonders. Even the Washington Monument has begun to shrivel.

And when Congress appropriated the funds for its erection, America was cock-sure there'd NEVER be another such pile of masonry on earth.

But contrast has already robbed it of distinction and stature, and in a little while, the impressive shaft, that ONCE amazed civilization, won't attract any more attention that a FLAG POLE.

Around the corner, the Chanins are contenting THEIR modest ambitions with a 56-story rookery; and Lefcourt, over at Forty-first and Madison, is only THREE floors below them.

LEST you forget, Chrysler was a roundhouse mechanic, wore overalls and carried a lunch basket; the Chanin boys weren't COLLECTIVELY worth $5,000 in 1920; and Lefcourt is the little immigrant boy who used to sell papers around Newark.

SCIENCE AND EMOTION

By Archibald Henderson

SCIENCE is generally regarded much as we regard cold illumination. It is light without heat. We are accustomed to think of science as a product of the pure intellect, diverced of all emotion. If we wish to solve a problem from a scientific point of view, we accumulate data, sift and test the data, and formulate some theory, principle or law as a working hypothesis. If we allowed our feelings to enter into our judgments and chose certain substances because they had a nice smell, others because they were elastic, others still because they were beautiful in color, our findings would give us chaos—confusion worse confounded.

A brillian tyoung physicist of today deplores the use of pure mathematics for solving essentially physical problems. He deplores the tendency towards solving physical problems outside the laboratory solely by means of mathematical symbols. He insists that the next step in modern physics must be put to some "background" into the equations. In a word, the symbols must in some way partake of the nature of their environment. Science must utilize art or emotion as an ally. Equations in the future must be something more than elucidative, they must be descriptive.

Caldwell, in a somewhat different way, is demanding that scientific data must be "socialized." This is saying that the data must partake of the nature of their social background. But this is a very specific way.

Science, according to this view, must be popularized. But what does this mean but that science must be sentimentalized and emotionalized? Caldwell says that science means little to most persons, because it is lacking in the life and color of human emotion. Thus:

Whenever scientific information is properly subjected to the alchemy of human emotion, it is transformed from a sterile, useless thing into a great source of energy to combat the ills from which we suffer, broaden the horizon of human thought, and increase human happiness. . . . Socializing science means liberating powerful forces and creating new and tremendous activities. Emotionalized human knowledge requires a special kind of knowledge and is a science in itself.

The fields to which such emotionalization of science is immediately applicable are, for example, medicine and social science. Certain ailments common years ago, which people used to discuss freely in public, are gradually being eliminated by science fortified by social taboo. The public frowns down on these ailments; so science eliminates them.

A human brain, weighing but a few ounces, is constantly called upon to understand the principles, the laws, and the complex phenomena of the world about us. Caldwell maintains that "this human intellect, activated by emotion, gathers data, gains in self-control, and seeks to apply its past experience to direct it toward an ideal.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

Tonight

TONIGHT each star is but a smile
From out the velvet deeps;
The moon a promise; for a while
All sorrow sleeps.

Forgotten is the day just past,
And thoughts of days to be
Have ebbed away before heaven's vast Tranquility.

Tonight the soul can thrust aside
The vexing cares it knew,
And taste the rapture, long denied,
Of dreams come true.

For this is crown of all desire,
This hour of perfect peace,
When from life's over-fervent fire
There comes release.

Tonight the sea and sky are kind
To every wistful prayer;
Each man his fondest hopes can find
Reflected there.

A Great Sportsman

But What Did He Really Amount To?

SIR TATTON SYKES AND HIS BEST HORSE.

This old gentleman is held up to admiration in English books on "sports" as the IDEAL British squire.

You see him here with a fine racehorse with which he won the St. Leger, important British race.

Why was he the ideal squire? Was it because he took care of the people attached to land that he owned? No.

He felt that the Lord had made the beautiful British land that many might work on it, while HE might spend the greater part of what they earned.

Sykes was called the ideal British squire because, inheriting his brother's land, title and foxhounds in 1823, when he was 46 years old, he continued to "hunt," which means to direct and follow his own pack of hounds, until he died at the age of 91.

It is a fine thing to live to 91 and a pleasant thing to hunt hounds all the time, if that is what you enjoy.

Sykes was much interested in his hounds and the horses on which he followed them.

When one of his female hounds had puppies he liked to be told about it, and woe to the servant that failed to look after the mother or the puppies.

Woe also to the poacher that ventured to shoot a fox, even to keep it from eating his chickens.

About other "puppies," the human puppies born on his land, Sykes worried less, although he wished them all possible luck as long as they didn't bother him.

There are living in America today many like Sir Tatton Sykes, although some of them don't hunt hounds. They hunt dollars.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Still another celebrated old district on the upper west side in the Sixties is about blotted out. San Juan Hill is now given over chiefly to manufacturing establishments and garages. For years it was a tenement hive for colored folk.

It was here many of New York's color prejudices flared up in bloody race riots. The battles were between husky young gangs from the gas house neighborhoods and dark skinned neighbors. The dornick and the razor were implements of warfare.

There is still a Negro settlement there, but most denizens trekked northward to Harlem. Those who remain are mostly hard working men and women who have lost the lust for street fighting. A few dingy pool parlors and cat fish lunch stands recall the old epoch.

Fifteen years ago San Juan Hill bristled with blacks. Cops roamed the district in pairs. Gambling halls, wide open saloons and brothels cluttered up every block. The intrusion of the white man after dark was a most dangerous experiment.

When cotton pickers from the southland amassed a stake they lit out for San Juan Hill instead of Lenox avenue. In those days the section specialized in 5 cent jolts of fiery gin. After a few of them many went berserker and raced through the streets waving knives.

Time after time newspaper front pages told of their capture by use of lassoes in the manner of wild steers. The "Hill" was also a nest of heroin and cocaine dives. Peddlers were in almost every doorway and white addicts flocked there for surreptitious supplies.

Eventually San Juan Hill became New York's Barbary Coast, and Committees of Fourteen and other civic investigators wrestled with the problem. It was the blooming of the Harlem Black Belt that eventually desolated it. The hovels were supplanted with big buildings. And San Juan joins the memories.

It was admitted when Helen Kane, the leading exponent of the baby-talk school of bel-canto, quit a musical hit on tour the company had to disband. Equity called her on the carpet, but her managers stated airily and with much cuff shooting they were not disturbed. Miss Kane had a quarter of a million movie contracts in the offing. And thus has the movies saved many of the stage from oblivion.

George S. Kaufman, the bushily pompadoured playwright, has no middle initial. He stuck in the "S" as a touch of swank. Mr. Kaufman came out of Pittsburgh and is hailed as the ace of wits, although his dour expression often sours the cream around the Algonquin.

H. T. Webster finds the fly in the cartoonist's ointment is the pest who delivers a back whack and chortles: "Well, I see you are still drawing cartoons. I'm shoving off on a vacation next week myself."

* * *

The cartoonist "stews in his own juice" more than any other creative worker. I have labored with many and lived in the same house with others—including Webster. Innumerable mornings I have seen the angular gentleman from Tomahawk, Wis., sit at a drawing board at 9, tightly gripping a fat cigar and after dusk was still there without having drawn a stroke. Briggs, too, goes through the Turkish bath process, as do Ding, McKay, McManus and several others. But once the idea is born, the rest is easy. Most cartoonists are pipe or cigar smokers. Few smoke cigarets.

* * *

A cartoonist, unlike a writer, seems not a whit annoyed by brash peekers, peering over his shoulder as he does his daily chore. Indeed, I know several who prefer an audience, claiming it spurs them to best endeavor.

Upon one occasion I tried shame an over-the-shoulder spectator by pecking out an insulting message to him on the typewriter as he watched. He not only laughed heartily, but gave me a playful push that upset a bottle of ink on the desk. It may be incriminating evidence, but shortly after that he mysteriously disappeared.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

HAVE you ever noticed how much better friends certain persons seem to be in an early friendship?

Neither is demanding anything of the other. Each is putting the best foot forward. Or possibly there is a spirit of give and take which admits of witty exchanges in which one touches up the other rather sharply, but no offense is given or intended.

But later when a great friendship is established the partners at friendship begin to be touchy, there seems to be a fear of giving or taking—that it might offend. This is a reason given by certain ones for not having many good friends— intimate friends.

Acquaintances are more to be desired, because the spirit of indifference prevails rather than desire for favor, it is argued.

Don't be misled about friendship. The true, real friend, the perfect friendship never is unsettled by trifles, even though not understanding. Enjoy many pleasant acquaintances, and have a few real friends, but the ones who are demanding and touchy are not so well worth keeping.
